SUMMARY.

Mr. Winston Churchill, speaking in the Commons on the naval question, said the situation in every sea was unchanged.

The command of the sea had enabled us to carry safely a million men throughout the world.

He characterised the German submarine attacks on merchantmen as a system of open piracy and murder.

The full force, he added, of naval pressure was promptly to be applied upon the enemy.

Mr. Lloyd George outlined the recent agreement between the Finance Ministers of Britain, France, and Russia.

He said the expenditure of the Allies to the end of the present year would amount to £2,000,000,000.

Britain's gold reserves were the largest in her history, while those of France and Russia had been barely touched.

He added that the Allies at present had only a third of their strength in the field.

A German column was hurled at the British trenches at Guinchy on Sunday, but never reached them.

The British launched a counter-attack, and captured a trench. Six thousand British troops were engaged.

Between Bethune and La Bassee the French have carried 250 metres of trenches.

Hot fighting from trench to trench continues in the Bagatelle and Marie Therese regions.

A Russian communique describes the capture of 1000 Austrians, five machine guns, and a gun on the Upper San, Galicia.

The Germans were repulsed with great loss on the heights between Beskid and Wyszkow passes.

Two Austrian aeroplanes flew over the summer palace of the King of Montenegro at Antivari on Sunday.

They opened fire with quick-firers on the royal family, who narrowly escaped being hit.

According to a cable from Amsterdam, the German Emperor is to arrive at Cuxhaven on February 18.

Count Bernstorff declares that Germany will not attack British merchantmen if Britain permits the passage of foodstuffs for civilians.

Otherwise Germany will sow mines round the British Isles by the agency of submarines.

A British steamer struck a mine near Deal, and was beached. Twelve of the crew were drowned.

A Danish journal, the "Politiken," says that Germany's food and grain statistics have been falsely compiled.

It may be necessary for the whole population to get their food from public eating-houses.

A meeting of German Socialists decided not to support the peace movement till Germany was victorious on one front.

Government circles in Germany recently inquired whether the Social Democratic party was in favour of peace.

The leaders replied that the workers would rather start a revolution than not receive compensation for their losses by the war.

A large copper shipment, valued at £80,000, has been seized on a vessel at Copenhagen.

The vessel was supposed to be laden with ... The copper was intended for Germany.

Lord Hardinge, Viceroy of India, has returned to Delhi from a successful visit to the Persian Gulf.

He personally congratulated the troops at Shatt-el-Arab and Muskat on their gallantry and efficiency.

All railways, except the Scottish, have agreed to the increase of wages demanded by the railway men.

The Commonwealth Ministry has made an important decision regarding the financial control of the Defence Department.

Mr. Robert McC. Anderson, of Sydney, has been appointed as financial and commercial adviser to the department.

Senator Pearce said the department would spend £11,000,000 by the end of June.

A meeting of the representatives of the frozen meat export trade was held yesterday in Sydney.

An association was formed under the name of the Frozen Meat Exporters' Association of New South Wales.

Only one vessel, containing 160 sick and convalescent soldiers, from German New Guinea will arrive in Sydney this morning.

The remaining 870 men, under Colonel Paton and Major Heritage, will arrive later, possibly in the afternoon.

A ceremonial march, with two bands, has been arranged between the wharf and Victoria Barracks.

Evidence before the Public Works Committee shows the scarcity of water has produced a serious state of affairs at Portland.

The water in the present reservation would be out in two days, and the town sanitation is very bad.

Alderman Clarke yesterday said that, while Sydney was not a dirty city, it was a very untidy one.

The city bylaws should be administered to the fullest severity. Lack of efficient administration was chiefly to blame.

Railway employees want the Labour party to introduce a bill for the establishment of an eight hours' day.

A resealed of probate has been granted in New South Wales estate of the late Mr. ... Darling, of Adelaide.

The South Australian estate was sworn not to exceed £1,694,620, and the New South Wales estate at £234,597 7s 2d net.

Melbourne advertisers have been prosecuted for issuing advertisements resembling Australian bank notes and urgent telegrams.

The price of flour in New Zealand has been raised to £16 10s a ton.

The Prime Minister of New Zealand convened a conference of freezing and shipping companies with the Agricultural Board.

It will discuss the shortage of refrigerated shipping space, and the Imperial Government's suggestion regarding New Zealand meat.

The widening of the lower end of Macquarie-street, by including a strip of Government House grounds, is to begin at once.

Alderman M'Elhone yesterday said the plans were ready, and the works would be put in hand in a few days.

Prices reached a record at the third wool sale at Dunedin, operations being confined to a few buyers.

The highest was 15½d for a lot of super half-bred ewes. One clip of 194 bales averaged 13½d for all sorts.

An Italian resident of Katoomba is missing. Search parties, including a native tracker, have been organised.

The Supreme Court, New Zealand, has refused an application for a writ of habeas corpus in the Gaudin case.

A motor accident occurred near Molong, and resulted in the total wreck of the car.

It became unmanageable descending a steep incline, and finally collided with a stump. Six occupants narrowly escaped death.

The Very Rev. P. J. M'Curtin, principal of St. Aloysius College, has been appointed to the Bursary Endowment Board.

A fair volume of business was transacted on the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday at slightly easier rates.

Extreme dulness ruled the mining market yesterday, business being practically at a standstill.

At the wool sales yesterday 6081 bales were offered and, including private transactions, 5600 were sold.

The market ruled very firm for all good free wools. Japanese buying was active.

Marked activity prevailed in oil yesterday, linseed, turpentine, and fish oil selling freely in parcels.

Pearl barley was advanced to the extent of £1 a ton.

The dairy produce market was featureless. All lines met with a brisk demand, and prices were practically unchanged.

In the forage and grain section there was a strong demand for potatoes, and prices were firmer.

At the City Yards 1367 pigs were offered at auction. Competition was keen. Values for porkers were firmer.

Forecast.—Hot and sultry generally, with some scattered thunderstorms; a cool and squally southerly change over southern districts to-day.

COTTON VOILE STILL REIGNS SUPREME AS THE IDEAL WASHING FABRIC.

WE EXHIBIT MANY VARIETIES TO-DAY

ON THE FIRST FLOOR, PITT-STREET.

Cotton Voile is still the favourite amongst washing fabrics, and is likely to remain so. The following varieties are as attractive in appearance as they are in price. They will be specially displayed to-day in the Dress Goods Section, and we invite your inspection and comparison.

PRINTED WASHING VOILES are still in great demand for summer frocks. We have now opened a late shipment of charming, well-covered designs in a variety of dark grounds with coloured effects. Write for patterns.

BLACK AND WHITE STRIPED COTTON VOILE, in the popular block stripe, ⅛ of an inch wide. These goods are very scarce, and our stock is limited.
37 inches wide. PRICE 1/3 YARD.

WHITE COTTON VOILES.—Our Values in this section are unrivalled. The fine sheer makes we stock make particularly dainty garments.
40 inches wide. PRICE, 1/6 YARD, 17/ DOZEN YARDS.
45 inches wide. PRICE, 1/9 YARD, 19/6 DOZEN YARDS.
FIRST FLOOR, PITT-STREET.

SPECIAL VALUES IN CREPE DE CHENES, IVORY SHADE.

Every yard sold of these Crepe de Chenes is guaranteed. They are all silk, in ivory shade only, and in each instance the value is exceptionally keen.

Crepe de Chene is so popular that it is consequently scarce, therefore this opportunity to purchase so favourably should not be allowed to pass.

Double width, at prices 4/11, 5/11, 6/11, 7/11, 8/11, 9/11, 11/6 yard.
FIRST FLOOR, PITT-STREET.

WHITE OSTRICH RUFFLES AND BOAS.
SPECIAL VALUES.

These Ruffles and Boas are of superior appearance and finish, and are full and long in fibre. We advise your early inspection of these values in our Fur Section on the First Floor.

WHITE FEATHER BOAS, 62 to 72 inches long, Pure White, full, and light weight.
SPECIAL PRICES, 32/6, 45/, 55/, 68/, 78/6 each.

These Ruffles may also be had in Black at the same prices.
FIRST FLOOR, PITT-STREET.

"TARANTULLE."
AN IDEAL MATERIAL FOR DAINTY LINGERIE AND BABY WEAR.

The new fabric "Tarantulle" is the daintiest and softest material for Lingerie and Baby Wear. It is specially woven from selected cotton yarns, and thus has exceptional wearing qualities. It is pure and free from dressing, a boon to all with sensitive skin, and a delight to needle-workers. "Tarantulle" is sound wearing, and washes well. It is 40 inches wide, and may be had in three weights and prices to meet every requirement for dainty lingerie.

STANDARD WEIGHT, 10½d yard, 10/ per doz. yards.
FINE WEIGHT, 1/3 yard, 14/6 per doz. yards.
SUPERFINE WEIGHT, 1/6 yard, 17/6 per doz. yards.
MANCHESTER SHOWROOM, GROUND FLOOR.

HOW TO HELP THE POOR OF BELGIUM AND BRITAIN.

The movement inaugurated by Farmer's Provident Society to help clothe the Belgian and British Poor is one which should have the earnest support of every Australian citizen.

Many have helped nobly in this matter, but the need is still an urgent one. Both new and second-hand clothing are acceptable, and now that the European Spring is approaching a lighter class of Clothing would prove most useful.

Parcels should be addressed, Farmer and Company, Limited, Bulk Stores, 363 Kent-street, Sydney, and if clearly endorsed "Clothing for Belgian and British Poor," the Railway Commissioners will allow packages to be sent Freight Free.

ODDMENTS EVERY DAY THIS WEEK AT MURDOCH'S.

When the practised Gardener takes his pruning knife and snips an odd piece here and there from the plant its strength is braced up and it will go ahead more hardily.

Keeping Store is something like gardening. We must be ready with the knife to snip off odds and ends that would keep back the store's growth. A monster Bargain feast of "after Sale" odds and ends has been provided at Murdoch's—this invitation is personal. R.S.V.P. before 1 p.m. Saturday.

BEST SUITING ODDMENTS
AT 42/9 TO MEASURE,

are perhaps the "plum" dish of the feast, considering that ordinarily these same cloths are worth a sovereign more on each length. "Oddments" explain the reason of their price drop.

A big variety of colours is provided, the very best of tailor work will be put into the garments—as to style—"as you like it"—under a guarantee of cash refund if any faults. Some Tweed Serge and Worsted Trousering Oddments at 13/9. Wire Desk K for patterns of both now.

THE IDEAL UNDERWEAR FOR HOT, MOIST DAYS.

Think how comfortable you would be with openwork underwear next your skin on oppressively hot days.

You can obtain such underwear at Peapes'—a very light make of Lace Cotton undergarments, the lightest and most porous ever produced.

It is hygienic, cool, very absorbent, and thoroughly comfortable.

It will withstand laundering, retaining its shape and size.

Being inexpensive, it would be indeed a good investment for these latter months of summer, when the humidity is always so great.

LACE COTTON SHIRTS,
½ Sleeves, 34 to 44, 5/6.

£6224 7 6

The Stock at both places has been taken by Mr. Wisbey in the usual manner, and is described as being clean, saleable, and perfectly free of bad stock in both places.

The late Mr. Parkhouse carried on both businesses in conjunction, but they readily lend themselves to be conducted as separate concerns. As regards Camden, it may be said that the district has had, and is having, exceptionally good seasons, and anyone understanding his business could readily make a permanent success in this old and solid town. The business has hitherto been conducted practically as a cash business, the Book debts being exceptionally small. The enlargement of the business is, therefore, purely a matter of policy. As regards Yerranderie, this being the centre of a well-known mining field, I understand that the expected early revival of the mining industry will give an impetus to this business, of which the purchaser must necessarily reap the benefit.

The usual 10 per cent. conditions—the highest or any tender not necessarily accepted. Stock-sheets may be seen and all information obtained on the premises or at my office.

BUILDING MATERIALS.

A BAD EXPERIENCE MAY BE AVOIDED BY USING ONLY

HARDIE'S GENUINE "FIBRO-CEMENT."

British Made. Beware of Imitations.
"Fibro-Cement" Sheets for Interior and Exterior Walls, Ceilings, and Partitions. Unaffected by climatic conditions. Proof against ants, rot, and fire. Reduce insurance 25 per cent. against wood. Used by British Military Authorities for housing troops at Aldershot, Murrumbidgee Irrigation Commission for Settlers' Homes, etc.

ERECTED COST SAME AS WEATHERBOARD.

Sizes:—
8ft x 4ft, 10ft x 4ft, 4ft x 4ft, 5ft x 4ft.
6ft x 3ft, 12ft x 4ft, 4ft x 3ft, 4ft x 3ft.

"Fibro-Cement" SLATES MAKE THE PERFECT watertight roof—no rendering or heavy roof timbers required. Fixed diagonally, and riveted together with copper crampons.

A FEW OF THE LARGE ROOFS JUST COMPLETED, and in course of completion:—

	sq. ft.
Conservatorium of Music, Botanic Gardens	10,600
Tooth's Malthouse, Mittagong	25,900
Grafton Engine Sheds	16,300
Factory (Chamberlain's), Surry Hills	12,000
Sydney Railway Yards (new building)	40,000
Railway Running Shed	70,000
Homesteads, Dubbo, Gilgandra, and Gunnedah, each	6,000

And many public and private buildings, too numerous to mention.

Our staff of specially trained experts ensure a roof proof against all weathers.

CRANE CEILINGS
ARE BEAUTIFUL AND ECONOMICAL.
Discriminating people invariably select "Crane" Art Metal Ceilings for their homes, because of their rich beauty, great durability, and utility.
"Crane" Ceilings are easy to affix, will not warp, crack, chip, or fall, and are permanently beautiful. Being made from British Annealed Steel, they resist fire, white ants, and vermin. They are unaffected by extremes in temperature, and prices are within reach of the most limited purse.

Communication should be addressed to "The Editor, 'A Page for Women,' 'Herald' Office."

LOOKING AHEAD.

Now approaches the time of the year when it is customary to make great preparations for our special season, for Easter and the subsequent months which distinguish Sydney as the gayest social centre in Australia. Our calendar has always been full to the brim of its days and nights with all kinds of entertainment and gaiety. But with what different anticipations are we preparing for the autumn of 1915! Although hopeful, yet our hearts are very heavy, and we feel as though dancing and other frivolous pastimes could never occupy us again. We Sydney women have been told several times that we are not sufficiently impressed by the magnitude of the great calamity which has fallen on the world. "You are all taking it far to light-mindedly," was the comment quite lately of an Englishman, as he looked at the gay throng in a fashionable tea-room, all chattering and laughing, and talking their hardest through the string band, which was playing sentimental waltzes and tuneful operatic airs. Yet, in spite of this surface cheeriness, there dwells heavily a feeling of depression, though it was extremely difficult to convince the visitor aforesaid that the "beam on the face of the waters" was flowing over a tide of sorrow running in darkness and coldness below. During Lent, many will feel this tide rising very high, and yet one wonders, on thinking the whole thing over, whether it is not much the better plan to be as bright and cheerful as possible. Everybody prophesies that there are some stiff times ahead of us, and we must be prepared for all contingencies. To meet these with courage and as much cheerfulness as we can pick up will help us much more than to sit down in despair and positively find a dreary kind of enjoyment in being not only miserable ourselves, but in making everybody around us wretched also. People are sick and tired of war—as a topic of conversation. While fully conscious that the war is really the only thing that matters, they become restive under the constant reiteration of the jargon, the wondering whether "this latest rumour" can possibly be true, and the "Have you heard this?" and "Did you know that?" and the shocking revelation of sinister accidents to Red Cross pyjamas or knitted socks, which were turned aside from their appointed mission, and put to some base use. There always have been tales of the kind with which one class of croakers loves to regale us ever since the cave men. No doubt, in the tribal fights of prehistoric days, the gossip ran swiftly from cave to cave that the leathern thongs which the working party had made for the use of wounded warriors, to bind round their legs, had been used instead to tie down the legs of the dinosaurs in the army division. This tale would probably be capped by the story of how the beautifully furred pelts, which had been sent as a gift to infantry, were actually at that moment being bartered for many flint knives at the prehistoric equivalent for the canteen. "It's a scandal; the thing should not be hushed up in the way it is," would be the cry of the cave ladies as they gravely shook their heads. Their descendants are doing the same to-day. Gossip and tittle-tattle aside, it is a fact that the men who have been to the front when they return like their friends to greet them cheerfully. We know our own men from New Guinea feel like this, and we also read that the English officers who get a few days' leave occasionally have been asking the womenfolk to wear pretty clothes and talk about outside subjects, and never to mention the trenches or the shells. The consequence is that women are reviving their interest in evening gowns, and are trying to keep up the home atmosphere, with a difference, as it used to be. Last, but not least, the King and Queen have expressed their wish that the London season should go on its course. The Courts are to begin soon, and the stately round of functions will be set going. Princess Mary will "come out," but no ball will be given. It will, of course, be a quiet and a subdued season. Our own season will be a reflection of its spirit. In fact, turn which way we will, we see the same reflection, the thought that cheerfulness and sunniness have an immense—because unknown—value in putting a heart into the downcast and keeping one there in the strenuous workers or fighters.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Cooling Chamber.—A cooling chamber and small store-room in one, a boon beyond price in an ant and fly infested country district, is described by "Chloe": Into a large strong wooden framework, standing upon a raised and somewhat heavier wooden base, are fitted six drawers, cleverly contrived from kerosene cans, cut down from top to bottom, so as to make an oblong drawer, the little handle, which, when the tin was full, lay on the top side, now occupies the centre of the front, and forms the handle, which moves the drawer from its compartment—the outer framework or shell having been divided into six compartments, into each of which the cut-down can is fitted. A packing-case makes an excellent frame-work, if a little ingenuity is exercised in doing the fitting. A neat finish is given the whole by a coat of enamel paint. Now comes the task of covering the frame either with a coarse, heavy canvas, such as water-bags are made of, or with a fairly thin Turkish towelling, which retains moisture even better than the canvas. The completed structure is then placed in a bath of zinc, or in a wooden watertight receptacle, which should be about five inches deep, and about four or five inches longer and broader than the safe. The tank must be kept filled with water, the canvas cover thoroughly wetted at night, and during the day a bowl or a seventh cut-down kerosene tin, filled with water, should be placed on top of the improvised cooler, and a continuous drip provided by means of some dozen long strips of woollen material, or by threads or strands of woollen twist. With such a cooler, the bush housewife can keep butter, milk, and sweets in excellent condition; she will have room also for one or two bottles, either of ale or of wine, or cool drinks as her tastes and the habits of the family decide, and she will be saved endless worry and annoyance from marauding ants, and dirty presuming flies.

A Country Icechest.—K.A. writes: "During a visit to the country one summer I saw a very good idea for 'a cool store' or country icechest. Following are the directions for making it. Take four posts about five feet high (or smaller if desired). To these nail a piece of board about 2ft x 4ft, making what looks like a very high table. Below this add two or three more shelves, and round three sides of this framework nail hessian or sacking. For the fourth side, make two frame-work doors also covered with hessian and the "store" is complete. Now for cooling it. Place the store in some position where there is a good draught, either under the house or in the garden. Get four kerosene tins, and cut them off about three inches from the bottom. Take these bottom tins, and fill them with water, placing them on top of the store. Next take four flannel cloths, put one end in each tin, allowing the other end to drip down on the hessian. This completes the cool store, and the only attention it needs is to keep the tins filled.

FROM NEAR AND FAR.

Miss Lilian Shirley Baker, who is visiting Sydney, is a daughter of the late Rev. W. Shirley Baker, for many years a missionary in Tonga, and ultimately the Premier of that island group. Miss Baker, who still lives in Tonga with her sister, is an acknowledged authority on Tongan customs and history. Her sister has published a Tongan grammar and devised a system of Tongan shorthand. She leaves by the Maheno to-day for Auckland on her return to her home at Haapai.

A niece of Mr. John Redmond, who was formerly a nun in a Benedictine convent at Ypres, gives a most vivid description of the bombardment of the city, in the "Queen" of January 9. She tells of the inmates' terror, and of their longing for the British to arrive, a longing which turned into rapturous joy, when, in voices with a rich brogue, they heard an Irish regiment singing "Tipperary." It recalls the tale of Jessie Brown at Lucknow. The old Abbey washerwoman grew very fond of the tune, and firmly believed it to be a hymn! She would exclaim with her face wreathed in smiles: "Listen to them singing that queer hymn to St. Tipperary."

The war is likely to put a stop to another war, one that is constantly waged against helpless feathered creatures. Most of the hat plumage, it is now discovered, has been "made in Germany" for years, although most of the millinery feathers bear no relation to cruelty whatever, because the "birds" are obviously artificial, and the "ospreys" are cunningly manipulated from the barn door roosters' and the turkey cock's tail feathers; yet the trade in Paradise Birds, which has hitherto been in German hands, threatens to exterminate that beautiful species, and if all such practice as wearing either Paradise plumes or real ospreys come to end, the war will have at least one good result.

Three German Redcross nurses at Carlsruhe, where French prisoners were in hospital, became engaged to three of the patients, and three marriages followed, much to the wrath of the commander, who issued a fierce proclamation, demanding the immediate dismissal of the nurses, because they had "trailed the Red Cross organisation in the dust," or words to that effect. The "Nursing Mirror," which is a most trustworthy journal, not at all given to romance, tells this story, and adds that the proclamation was evidently intended as an awful warning to other nurses not to follow the example of their three colleagues.

The Commonwealth Patriotic Association has so far advanced in its organisation that it is arranging a public meeting for next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at St. James's Hall, Phillip-street. Lady Helen Munro Ferguson, in a letter to the acting secretary, Miss Fourdrinier, says: "I congratulate you on the prospectus you have drawn out, which is excellent." She has also promised to take a very personal interest in the association. The above meeting is called in order that a strong committee may be formed.

Mrs. Haigh, Jamieson-street, Granville, has given her drawing-room for this afternoon for a meeting of the Association for Relief of Travelling Stock, which is quite a woman's movement. It is claimed that the association is a patriotic movement, as the wastage in sheep and cattle in transit must help to create higher prices for food and clothing. Every woman who can become a member, and by her personal representations induce others to protest at the present inhumane handling of live stock, will be doing a good work.

THE UMBRELLA CRECHE.

In many seaside resorts in England a plan has been carried out whereby babies may be cared for on the beaches. This has been accomplished by the establishment of umbrella creches, in some cases run by private management, in others by the town creche committee, working hand in hand with the free kindergartens. "Umbrella creches" on the sands are conducted precisely on the lines of an ordinary creche kindergarten, save that instead of being in a building, sun shelter is afforded by a gigantic umbrella, six feet across, made of striped awning, with sides that can be further stretched out at will to form a half tent, giving shelter from the sun, but letting the breeze have full play. The umbrella creches are light, and easily erected; the centre pole is of pointed iron, and rope stays as in tents are pegged down to firm the "brolly." If the creche is managed by individuals, there may be only a single "umbrella." If by a committee, then there may be up to half a dozen "umbrella" tents all in a row or group. In the shelter of these tents mothers may leave their babies up to 4 years old (or upwards). Payment is charged at the rate of 1d an hour or part of an hour. The creche does not undertake the feeding of babies. A safety numbered register clip is fastened to every child brought in, and a similar one given to the mother. No furniture other than the big umbrella is necessary. Bigger children are stripped of boots and socks and dresses, then on with bathing suit or "crawler," and off the children go to the water's edge, where they troop paddling, dabbling, sand castle-making, and joining with glee in all the other sand joys in which children delight. Think of the added pleasure a weary mother would have in the beach holiday if she knew of a safe haven where Bobby and Janey might romp at will, and Sue suck her thumb away while mother took a health-giving dip and an equally health-giving sleep.

In the old land these creches serve the further purpose of giving tired inland teachers and nurses beach holidays they would not get otherwise. The creche helpers are constantly changing—though the creche is open from 6 to 6, the hours for each helper are only six hours on duty, and many inland workers are only too glad to give six hours a day of work to win the means to pay for a beach fortnight. Conditions vary according to the council regulations. On some beaches private "umbrella creches" are not permitted, though creches in connection with the municipal free kindergarten are readily allowed. Council regulations re the control of the beaches must be inquired into, but practice has proved that two girls working together can easily manage a creche for babies under 4, and make a good living, while a free kindergarten can thus materially add to its funds.

MELBOURNE NOTES.

An art exhibition of lithographs of unusual interest has been opened at the Fine Art Society's rooms, Centreway, by members of the Senefelder Club. Mr. Joseph Pennell, president of the club (who is also well known as an illustrator in pen and ink, and as an etcher), is the most prominent exhibitor. Mr. John Copley and his wife (Ethel Gabain), Mary Creighton, W. A. Wehrschmidt are represented. A number of the plates have been purchased by the British Museum, and one by the Municipality of Venice. The exhibition closes on February 27.

The recently-formed Victorian Sericulture Association has requested the Government to help on the work by obtaining a necessary supply of mulberry trees, seed, and silkworm eggs. Lady Hennessy (Lady Mayoress) introduced the deputation, which had the support of Mr. Cronin, director of the Botanic Gardens, and Mr. Pescott, of the Burnley Horticultural Gardens. The Minister of Agriculture said the Government was quite prepared to accede to the request by making arrangements for purchasing the necessary eggs and plants at an early date, also probably spinning machine.

A collecting campaign has been started by members of the Commonwealth Ladies' Rifle Club, led by their patron, Lady Hood, to provide a motor ambulance for the use of the Army Medical Corps on active service. All the markswomen in Australia will be asked to contribute. It is said that when this club was formed about 14 years ago there was not another similar club in the British Empire. A markswoman who recently returned from England declares that she had some difficulty in making English women believe that we had women's rifle clubs. The presentation of a Red Cross ambulance should offer practical demonstration of its activity.

VERONICA.

BURNING UP THE RUBBISH.

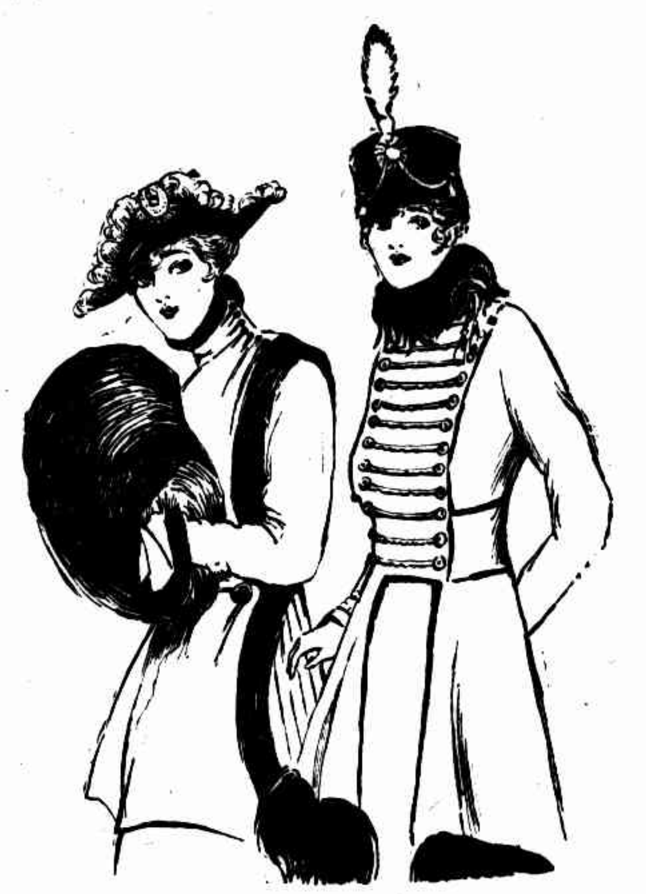
Without wishing to perpetrate a feeble joke, one may truly aver that the disposal of house refuse is a "burning" question just now. Wherever we go we are greeted only too plainly with signs and symptoms that neither as a whole nor singly can the people of Sydney grapple successfully with the problem of getting rid of the rubbish which collects, unaccountably it often seems, in the course of the day's work. This matter would have become almost too general a question to be dealt with as a women's topic, were it not for the fact that it is so intimately a domestic question. It is one that faces the housewife all day long. There has never yet been found a perfect way of getting rid of household garbage; and many a woman as she angrily notices the careless way in which the municipal carts solve the problem, seriously ponders whether she will not herself try to devise some plan that will at any rate enable her to compete for the prize now offering for the effective disposal of city refuse.

Some enterprising householders are now actually trying the plan of burning up their own rubbish. This new idea is to be seen in working order in some of the huge piles of flats and mansions and high class boarding-houses which are springing up in all the more favoured residential suburbs. To view a large building recently erected at Cremorne invitations were sent out for last Saturday, and many guests were most interested in observing the domestic arrangements. It is quite a common occurrence in these days when good taste and artistic skill are applied so freely to house-furnishing, to see and admire pretty rooms brightly and richly furnished. But it is not so ordinary to be invited to the back regions behind the living rooms. But where kitchen and scullery will bear inspection, we may be sure the rest of the house will stand the test also. In the case in point, the heating and cooking arrangements were modern, and several "wrinkles" were observed for using everything up without waste. For instance, over the gas stove there was a set of iron shelves about 3ft long and 2ft high, for holding plates and dishes and keeping them warm, the necessary heat being conveyed by the pipe at the back (which all gas stoves should have). The pipe runs along the back of the fixture, and together with the heat rising from the top of the stove itself, when alight, allows of enough heat to keep the dishes warm till wanted. The cost of fixing these shelves is the final one, and the saving will be obvious to all.

An incinerator for rubbish is installed in the scullery, and in this business-like black iron furnace is consumed all the refuse from house and kitchen. It is properly built in and constructed so that no unpleasant smells will arise; connected with it is a large boiler, which gives a hot water service for several baths; also for washing dishes or any other kitchen use. In running this, not only is there absolutely no expense at all, but all the household refuse is actually made to earn money for the establishment by boiling water. The opening is made large, with the special object of making it easy to thrust in waste paper. It is much more difficult to post a newspaper in the slit of a pillar-box than in the slit of an up-to-date household incinerator.

Small houses with less rubbish to dispose of would hardly need a large incinerator, but it ought surely to be within the bounds of possibilities that a furnace of some kind—these incinerators are of local make—could be fixed in connection with the laundry copper. The rubbish would then be exactly the opposite of a well-known soap, for "it would" wash clothes. For that matter, the copper and its apparatus could be made the bath-heater. In some houses this plan is already in work in a simple form. The bathroom is next the laundry, and a pipe runs from the copper through the wall to the bath. But this is planned for heating the copper in the usual way.

Practical folk will look at the expense of these new notions. It must be seen at a glance that, except for big establishments, at present the expense would be too great. The incinerator described above, cost £14 without the plumbing, and the cost of installing one would add very considerably to the size of the plumber's bill. Then again, the cost of the disposal of household refuse is covered by the municipal rate. By installing an incinerator, the householder pays twice over for this service. It is probably this difficulty which delays the good work of having an incinerator in every house. But by setting our minds strongly in that direction, perhaps it will be possible to make the achievement of the household incinerator a feat of the near future. Even if the municipalities erected small incinerators, not in every house, but, say, in every street, it might come cheaper than the present system. The point to be remembered is that an incinerator, once installed, can be put to profitable use in any house by supplying a fuel at absolutely no cost at all.



MILITARY MODES WHICH WILL BE FASHIONABLE NEXT WINTER.

PENELOPE'S WEEKLY NOTES.

CRUSTS AND CRUMBS.

Last week reference was made in this column to the usefulness, from the thrifty cook's point of view, of left-over or surplus pieces of bread, and this subject of spare crusts and crumbs is so intimately connected with economy that one is tempted to dilate upon it rather than pass it slightingly by, at a time when the cost of living is so very high.

Many people regard puddings—sometimes just "plum duff"—bread and milk, or toast, as the inevitable end of pieces, and when these delicacies pall, as they so soon do, the crusts and crumbs in the bread crock increase to an alarming extent.

As far as puddings go, with left-over pieces of bread as the invariable foundation, one may concoct an almost endless variety of them. No matter how hard the bread, it may swiftly be softened by pouring a little boiling milk over it, covering it, and leaving it to stand for a few moments, and then beating it well with a fork. When soft, the method of procedure is the same, with simply the difference of an ingredient or two. Sugar, butter, and well-whipped eggs are added, and then the feature that makes all the difference between pudding and pudding. Thus—marmalade if golden pudding be desired: the grated rind and the juice of a lemon or two if canary; currants, sultanas, and peel if plum; raspberry or strawberry jam if raspberry or strawberry; and figs or dates if a pudding named after either of these very favourite ingredients. The mixture is then turned into a well-buttered mould, and steamed for two or three hours. Besides the steamed puddings, the baked offer us great variety—with still the same foundation, left-over pieces of stale bread. There is the well-known bread and butter custard, either plain or with a stratum or two of dried fruits, minced dates or figs, and a sprinkling of suet. Or one may sandwich the slices of bread and butter with jam; separate whites from the yolks of the eggs, and evolve "Queen's pudding." One may turn the lemon pudding into a pie dish and bake it, instead of placing it in a steamer; or one may turn it into cake cups, and obtain dainty cup puddings, with a slice of citron peel surmounting each. Apple or pear charlottes are extremely popular "sweets," and the foundation of each is bread-crumbs, mixed with sugar.

One seems to achieve a greater change with pieces in the making of savouries and small dishes suitable for either luncheons or teas. Thus one may make tomato charlotte, very much as one makes apple charlotte; or one may line a piedish well with bread-crumbs and fill up with a stratum of well-chopped onions, pepper, salt, and a little butter; a stratum of bread-crumbs, another of onions, and a covering of breadcrumbs, and poured over, last of all, a cup of milk. This mixture requires to be baked for nearly two hours, and is good eaten either hot or cold.

A mixture of stale bread (softened with boiling milk) salt, pepper, butter, egg, and chopped cooked meat may be either turned into a mould and steamed, or into a piedish and baked, and served with good gravy.

If a loaf is required to fulfil its destiny as "sandwiches," as so many loaves are, it is a good plan to cut off the crusts in fairly large pieces before slicing the loaf; then to trim them into neat shapes, to slowly dry and lightly brown them in a very moderate oven, and then serve them as biscuits, or rusks to be eaten with cheese.

The croutons, so continually required for various entrees, are made from slices of stale bread. These should be about two inches in thickness, and should be cut into fancy shapes, then fried in butter, and lastly baked on a greased tin in a moderate oven.

Enough has now been said to show that pieces of stale bread may quite easily be excused from appearing at the table in what one may call their "raw" condition. When a cook can find so many uses for them, it seems tyrannical to insist upon the family spoiling its appetite by finishing up the stale pieces before commencing upon a fresh loaf, in order to save waste.

Soon now will housekeepers be glad to fall back upon their supplies of eggs in water-glass. The best suburban eggs are this week 1s 9d, in some cases 1s 10d, a dozen. Butter is 1s 4d a lb.

* * * * *

Fruit is still an indispensable. One needs, however, to buy certain classes of summer fruits very warily. Pears, for instance. It is difficult to become the possessor of a dozen really good pears, buying from one tradesman. More difficult still to buy either pears or peaches that will be fit for eating after being kept two days. Pears run from 1s to 2s a dozen, and peaches from 6d to 1s. Apples are still good, though often only windfalls. Their price runs from 6d to 1s 6d a dozen. Plums of all sorts are plentiful at 3d and 4d a pint; grapes are 4d, 6d, and 8d a lb.; tomatoes 3d a dozen for the very small variety, 1s for the larger. Rockmelons are extremely plentiful, and their price starts at 3d and 4d, and runs to 1s 6d each. Paw-paws are not yet plentiful.

In the vegetable world there is little difference since last week. Cabbages are abundant, and 3d to 6d each. Peas, 2s 6d a peck, and beans is 9d, and both rather scarce.

ART IN THE HOME.

It is not so much lack of money, as lack of taste which accounts for the presence of the worthless gim-cracks that serve to make so many of the middle-class homes overcrowded and unsatisfactory.

Vases and daubs that are neither useful nor beautiful, are gathered for years from bazaars, second-hand sales and shops, and these are put to adorn the rooms that are lived in most.

Is it any wonder that the people living in them are unsatisfied.

We know that the Japanese go to the other extreme—rather than overcrowd. They sit round on the thick, padded matting and drink their tea, squatting on the floor, whilst about them are the sliding paper partitions of the next rooms, and before them, perhaps, one exquisitely embroidered screen, with cranes or wistaria, or else an enormous vase, standing on the floor decorated with a dragon, maybe, or else that mysterious crackled china effect of lace work, porcelain covered with glaze.

There are many homes in Australia which strike a happy medium—they are neither overcrowded with useless rubbish, nor yet bare. And when we enter these homes, our artistic nerves are rested, and we experience a feeling of repose, both in body and mind.

On an artistic carpet are a few really good pieces of furniture and several tall palms, and a low bookshelf of the owners' favourite books in good bindings; these give a personal touch to the room.

The pictures on the walls in plain gold frames are copies of the masters, and there is, perhaps, a plaster cast of the "Winged Victory" or a bust of "Hermes," while on the mantlepiece are several silver vases full of long stemmed roses. More than light upon our intellects, we need beauty upon our hearts, for beautiful things possess a mysterious power to cleanse and sweeten one's life. After the mind has been once trained to perceive its loveliness, few other things will serve to rouse the esthetic feelings more powerfully than a good Oriental rug, even if one has to go for years with stained boards in order to purchase it. A love of beauty is the source of all art, and however inaccessible the temple of beauty is through other portals, the door of music is always open, and a musical instrument which one knows how to play will always admit one to these sacred enchantments.

Beauty should be kept permanent in our eyes, by steeping our souls in the loveliness of Nature and of art. We skim over Ruskin's pleas for good furniture, delicate drapery, and exquisite pictures, while we continue to spend our hardly-earned coins upon fashion, which, being vanity, passeth away.

CORDEX.

SOLDIERS AT THE PANTOMIME.

LONDON, Jan. 1.

Happening to be in Drury Lane one day last week I saw a strange and touching sight. There were dozens of ambulances all down the "Lane;" and on inquiring the wherefore I was told a special preliminary performance of the "Sleeping Beauty," the pantomime, was being held for the wounded, so as it was about 4 o'clock I thought I'd wait to see them come out. There wasn't a soul about except the commissionaire, and he let me go into the vestibule. Then they came out, in hundreds, all in hospital kit, with felt slippers—those who had feet to put them on—supported by the nurses. It was a terrible and yet a wonderful sight. I just howled. A stone would have wept, I think. There were men without fingers, some without hands, and a great many had lost one leg; and nearly all were hideously bandaged somewhere or other, and yet they were all gay, even brilliant, I thought, all singing or trying to sing—and all getting terribly mixed up over "Sister Susie," (Geo. Graves' amusing song in the pantomime). It goes like this:—

"Sister Susie's sewing shirts for soldiers;
Such skill in sewing soldiers' shirts
Our shy young sister shows.
The soldiers send epistles,
Say, they'd rather sleep on thistles
Than the saucy, soft, short shirts for soldiers
Sister Susie sews."

Then they were so gay and jolly about their "cars," as they called them; each man had a ticket with the number of his ambulance on it, and there was the very least bit of waiting and calling out. The Boy Scouts well to the fore, and being very useful in finding cars and helping the lame. I'm proud to say I held a vestibule door; it was a heavy glass door, and swung back each time a man went out, and many had only one arm, or wore one in a sling, so that it was hard for them to manage; they all said, "Thank you, lady." Then, afterwards, they made the Strand gay as their cars went along, singing "Tipperary" or "Sister Susie," the gayest, jolliest set of heroes the old Strand had ever seen. They who had so recently been through the horrors of the trenches, and looked on death and worse, absolutely seemed in the highest spirits. I suppose it is the knowledge that they have done their "little bit" for the beloved land that gives them that true happiness.

HOME AFFAIRS.

BREAKFAST DISHES.

To-day is Ash Wednesday, which in many households means the beginning of a season of restricted diet. The usual menu is suspended, and to achieve variety is one of the difficulties to be grappled with for 40 days from now on. A correspondent writes asking for ideas for some new breakfast dishes. Some of the family of eight, for whom she provides, are meat-eaters, others are not. Porridge is "barred" as not being sustaining enough. Below are given some recipes for cooking fish in Jewish style, any one of which would be most suitable for the morning meal. Tomatoes were very fully exploited in this column a few weeks ago. Tomatoes form a palatable substitute for heavier dishes, and are therefore deserving of more than passing attention. Then, what remains? For those who like recooked meat, there are dozens of "rechauffes." Lent is not a time of fasting with all of us. Omelets are of many kinds, but, as the proverb warns us, they necessitate the breaking of many eggs. But a well-made omelet is one of the most tempting of dishes. Fruit should be placed on the table at breakfast, in order to induce people to get into the habit of eating it first thing in the morning, which is acknowledged to be the best time to eat any fruit, either cooked or uncooked.

To use up cold meat, a plain omelet is most useful. Chop the meat up finely with a pinch of parsley, pepper, and salt, and prepare a batter of egg, milk, and flour (one egg will serve for a pint of batter); make the batter just thick enough to run off the spoon. Stir in the chopped-up meat and fry lightly. For a true omelet, not less than two eggs should be used, nor more than four (to make one omelet). The eggs should be beaten light, and poured into a pan with butter, which is properly melted, in it; the omelet should not be stirred at all, but the pan should be moved to let it all get equal heat. The edges of the omelet should be kept from sticking by passing a thin knife-blade around the pan. Then, when done, the omelet should be deftly rolled up and lifted off the pan with an egg-slice. Arnold Bennett, in one of his "Five Towns" novels, gives a most graphic account of the heroine's omelet-making, which he calls a heaven-sent gift; and it certainly seems as though some cooks have it instinctively, while to others, although competent, "omelet touch" is denied.

It is quite easy to prophesy that a much improved style of cooking will result from this strange mix-up which the war is bringing on the world. The Belgians in England are bound to teach some of the secrets of their exquisite cooking, which they combine with strict economy, to English housewives, and so in time we shall also be the richer for knowing how to use a "casserole" and a "cafetiere," and a "pot au feu," and cabbage soup, cream cheese; and every variety of omelet will become part of the British nation's bill of fare. But with all this attention to detail, the French and Belgians neglect breakfast—that is, breakfast as we British know the meal. A French chef of repute once informed me that in Australia, although he had been practising his "art" here for some years, he had never once cooked breakfast. That he left to his underlings. "Breakfast?" he queried, in scorn, "what is it here but a matter of bacon and eggs?" Dejeuner, of course, is a totally different kind of meal, and needs discernment. But the fact remains that for us Australians bacon and eggs remains the favourite breakfast dish, and a very excellent dish it is!

MARTHA.

Lemon Stewed Fish.—To make lemon stew it is necessary to use large fish, which should be cut into slices, keeping the heads of the fish to make stock, in which the fish must be boiled. To make the stock, cut up an onion into about four pieces, then cut a nutmeg into several pieces (this is afterwards removed), add pepper, salt, and heads of fish. Cover all with water and gently boil until the onion is cooked. Then take out heads, squeeze to get good from them, and drain into the stock.

The Lemon Stew.—Place fish in stock, and add more pepper, salt, and boil. Have three eggs well beaten and the juice of three lemons. When the fish is cooked ready for dishing add lemon and eggs—which must be well beaten—by shaking well through fish. Then just allow the whole to be well heated, almost to boiling point. If it is allowed to boil it will curdle. Take off the fire, and shake well.

Fried Fish in Oil.—First clean the fish thoroughly. Scale, scrape, and fillet. Different fish must be filleted in different ways. For instance, the garfish is filleted by removing the backbone. Bigger fish are cut into pieces of suitable size for frying. Wash fish and dry thoroughly, then dip first in flour, and secondly in well-beaten egg; then fry in oil. It is most important that the oil should be boiling. When the fish is nicely brown on both sides, lift out on to a piece of white paper to absorb superfluous oil. It is important that only the very good quality oil should be used for frying.

Stuffed Fish.—For stuffed fish it is necessary to use a big fish. A large pike or trevally is good. The fish is then stuffed with bread crumbs, pepper, salt, parsley, portion of a small fish (finely chopped up), and ginger. Mix this together for binding and make into balls, as in rissoles. Place some of these balls inside the fish, and others in the stew. When stuffed the fish is to be cooked as in the parsley and milk stew. Stuffed fish can also be baked whole instead of stewed.

Parsley and Milk Stew.—First make a stock of onion, pepper, salt, and the heads of the fish, following the directions for the stock of the lemon stew. Take out the heads of the fish and place cut-up fish in stock. Add one teaspoonful of cinnamon, a pinch of ground ginger, half a teaspoonful of sugar, a few sprigs of parsley chopped up finely, salt and pepper, also a piece of butter about the size of a walnut. Cover all with water, and cook fish. When the fish is cooked add milk, about the same quantity as water, and then allow it to come to the boil just before serving.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION.

In October last a letter was received by the hon. secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association of New South Wales from Lord Ranfurley asking for the co-operation of the association in providing help for the wounded at the front. A letter from the St. John Ambulance Association, St. John's Gate, Clerkenwell, which has just been received by Lady Edeline Strickland, and forwarded to Mr. Hanbury Davies, the chairman of the St. John Ambulance Association, shows how promptly the association responded to the call.

"Colonel Sir Herbert Perrott writes with compliments to Lady Edeline Strickland, and begs to inform her that the cheque for £50 was duly received on the 11th instant, and that a formal acknowledgment was forwarded to Mr. B. R. Rainsford, the honorary secretary of the New South Wales Centre of the St. John Ambulance Association. Adeline Duchess of Bedford and the ladies' committee very much appreciate this gift to the European War Fund from New South Wales, and will be greatly indebted to Lady Edeline Strickland if she will be so kind as to cause this expression of gratitude to be promulgated. It is very gratifying to her Grace that such excellent work is being done in New South Wales, which is one of the oldest centres of the St. John Ambulance Association in Australia, and is looked upon as one of the best."

Since war was declared over six thousand certificates have been issued to students of first aid and home nursing classes in New South Wales, and this year promises to be equally successful.

CORROBOREES AS TRAVELLING SHOWS.

Mrs. Daisy M. Bates, honorary protector of the Eucla aborigines under the Western Australian Government, who, as the guest of Miss Georgina King, of Darlinghurst, paid a visit to Sydney recently to attend the Science Congress, is once more camping among the natives on the borders of South and Western Australia. This cultured lady is spending the best years of her life in order to endeavour to ameliorate the condition of the blacks. Writing to a member of the staff of the "Herald" from Mr. G. W. Murray's Yalata Station, Mrs. Bates describes some of the curious customs of the tribes. "Many of their customs resemble those of some nor'-west Australian tribes, and their relationship system and some dialectic words, also show their affinity to those tribes in the far nor'-west. The corroboree that the Pentumba natives are now performing has been 'travelling' for some years. It has come down from some place in Central Western Australia either the Murchison, Gascoyne, or further north. Just think of it, the corroboree is the beginning of the 'travelling shows!' Dr. Roth mentioned one that had been travelling from North Queensland. It had reached the Diamantina when he left the Queensland Government service, but I find that it has come across to the Koogurda mob since then, and their country is along part of the line of the Transcontinental railway. The wanji-wanji corroboree now being performed by my dusky friends has also been years and years travelling down. It is seen here for the first time, as it had only reached Eucla while I was there. In the ordinary native course, it would not have come here so quickly, but the white man's main roads and water facilities have helped in its quick conveyance from tribe to tribe. I attended it in its completeness in Eucla, where two performances were given to two mobs that had arrived at different periods. It lasted a fortnight each time, and there were three 'acts' or periods. We began at 4 p.m., ending the first part at about 6 or 7; then a hurried meal, and we began again at 7.30, or 8, going on till 11. Then a few hours 'rest' (orgies in the camps), and we resumed at 2 a.m., and left off at pale dawn, beginning again next day at 4, and so on for a fortnight. I never went to bed during the whole time, as I wanted to chronicle the whole thing, and learn the songs, of which there were over 20 different ones. Spencer and Gillen have 'interpreted' the ceremonies of the Arunta, but unless they saw these ceremonies at the fountain head of their being, I doubt the interpretation, for as song and dance are passed on, the words of the song get somewhat distorted, and the meaning also. I told you about this corroboree when I was in Sydney, I believe. Since I told you it has travelled the 240 miles between Eucla and Pentumba, but it wouldn't have done that distance in such a short time were it not for the white man's teams travelling to and fro. I hope to see the Molongoo—that is the one Dr. Roth described—but it will be some time before they will summon enough courage to perform it, as it is even a greater 'poison' (killing) one than the wanji-wanji, which killed three people; that is, their deaths were attributed to the poison of the wanji-wanji, which had come to them from so far away. They have vague ideas of its being an 'ennui' dance, but to get the absolutely true and full meaning I must see it danced at the place where it first started. Even now there are little changes in the wanji-wanji as danced here."

"WAR AND THE PUBLIC HOUSE."

Among the venerable institutions doomed to disappear in the present struggle will almost certainly be the English public-house, which in no way appears to meet modern requirements or fit in with modern standards. Although the English licensing law and our own do not run on all fours, there is enough similarity in the social aspect of the drink question to make worthy of public attention an article with the above heading, which appears in the "Englishwoman" for January, as one of the problems of the day. The writer, who looks on the problem from the standpoint of how it affects women, puts her views in a sensible, clear-headed way, without any recrimination or high-flown nonsense. Like most women who have thought about the recent regulations that women are not to be served in public-houses before 11.30 a.m., the writer feels that such a regulation is an insult to the sex, because it places women on a different footing from men. There is a regulation which makes it an offence to be drunk in charge of children, and this would cover most of the cases which shocked the authorities, and few women would be ingenious enough to put up the defence which a man in Huntingdonshire advanced, that the child was actually in charge of him.

A public-house in which the only entertainment is drinking, and which is so far from public that a man is forbidden by law to take his children, and by Mrs. Grundy to take his wife, inside its doors, certainly does not meet the wishes of anybody. To combat the attractions of the drinking shops, the Y.M.C.A. and other bodies, since the war started, have raised by public subscription, and, therefore, semi-charitably, very pleasant kiosks of temperance character, but these are for men; they will disappear when things are normal again, "and all these semi-charitable clubs are, in the first place, semi-charitable, which is a bad fault." "It is our fault, and the fault of the temperance reformer that there is so little to do in a public-house, except drink."

Russia and France have done things on a grand scale. By prohibiting the sale of vodka Russia is sacrificing £93,000,000 of revenue. France will make nearly as great a reduction by stopping absinthe drinking. English legislators made their special effort to show that Britain, too, could be teetotal and closed public houses an hour or so earlier. The beer tax which was grateful to the teetotal party has increased the consumption of whisky and rum. "The Russians began by discouraging spirit drinking; we, disastrously short-sighted, began by encouraging it, and already our deplorable public houses are descending still further down the slope paved with good intentions."

The Belgian refugees are filled with blank dismay when they find that, by going to the public house to meet in friendly concourse, they lose caste with their English hosts, and are supposed to be longing for a disreputable life. The great shaking up of old ideas in this time of transition, when we see the apparently immutable things of life change while we wait, as if we were watching them unrolled on a film at a moving picture show, will inevitably reverse the whole great drink question which in every way so intimately concerns women. When the reform comes, it must come on a big scale, and the old despised and disreputable public house, which is a potent bar to social reform, will disappear for ever.

The writer of "A Woman's Letter," under date of December 24, says:—I was talking this morning to Miss Bensusan, who is well known to Australia. She tells me that she is Australian born. She is a very active member of the theatrical profession here. She does not think any of the theatres will do any really good business until the war is over, but she and some of her friends in the profession are very busy with theatricals for the troops at various centres in this country. They send companies to Aldershot, Colchester, and other garrison towns, and play for two and three weeks at a stretch. This is also extended to Territorial camps, so as to while away the long dark winter evenings. There is no light after 4 p.m. The men find their evenings intolerable when working, as they do, all day, with only hut accommodation, or billeting in small houses.

THE TURF.

The Ascot Racing Club holds a pony and galloway race meeting this afternoon on the racecourse near Botany Bay, and the programme for the occasion promises interesting sport. The track is reported good going, and the customary facilities for the enjoyment of the outing are of the regular standard. The transit service includes special trams, landing visitors at the racecourse gates, while the ordinary traffic to Botany will also be available. The first race is timed to start at 2 p.m., and the results may be anticipated as under:—Encourage Stakes: First division, Advancing or Blacklock; second division, Not Famous or Hollette. Fourteen-two Handicap: All There, Morpeth, White Wings. Flying Handicap: Troon, Gratis, Larras. Fourteen Hands Handicap.—Malena, Deloraine, Green Rose. Fourteen-three Handicap: Wee Bob, Malt Minnie, Thelma C. Fourteen-one Handicap: Mahster, Rumet, Miss Carbeau. Ascot Handicap: Telegram, Patrovader, Alfana.

In accordance with its policy to restrict the spread of proprietary racing, the committee of the Queensland Turf Club, at a meeting on Monday last, decided by a majority of two against granting an application from the Nagomben Park Racing Club for the registration of its racecourse.

The steamship Manuka, which arrived yesterday from New Zealand, brought across Mr. E. J. Watts' br h Sea Pink, by Seaton Delaval from Rose Madder, 6 years, consigned to the Randwick trainer Harry Rayner. Last season Sea Pink won the Auckland Racing Club Handicap, 1½m, with 7st 7lb in the saddle, beating 11 others, in 2m 34s.

The hurdles were placed out nearly 20 yards on the course proper yesterday morning at Randwick, where Miss Collar started the work by sprinting over half a mile in 55s, and she was followed by Leta, who covered a mile in 1m 48s. Laurier and a companion traversed seven furlongs in 1m 38s, and Beck's Lager left five furlongs behind in 1m 9s. Flamboyant was sent over a strong mile, as were Tartanus and Ukuwela. King Mostyn bowled over seven furlongs in 1m 38⅛s, while the watch recorded 55s for the four furlongs accomplished by Elystan. The Fortune Hunter beat Emden (who was ridden by a very light lad) over six furlongs in 1m 23¾s. Valerio and Hardy Norseman sped over the six furlongs' course in 1m 21½s, which was good time for the track. Fordell, Simon Frisco, Arrowform, Frasca, Crosska, Taunter, Golden Hop, Miss Bob, and Ninfia all performed easy tasks. Moonbria managed seven furlongs in 1m 36s on the tan: while Beau Soult, Royal Rufus, St. Spasa, Secret Service, Matouree, Narivo, Alured, Sir Vive, Ulva's Isle, Highland Band, Imshi, Toast, Herringbone, and Grail all were treated to slow work on the bruised bark.

VICTORIAN TRAINING NOTES.

CAULFIELD.

BRILLIANT GALLOP BY FLASH OF STEEL.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

There was a very hot, disagreeable wind blowing this morning; the dust was bad at times, and it was hard to see the horses down the railway side. The grass was open for special gallops, but it was sparingly used. The first to go on it were Royal Alice and Boo Sprightly, and they spurted a few furlongs in the bad light. Land of Song could not go slow enough for Eubulus for a mile in 1m 46s. Red Signal was going easily alongside of Boongarry for five furlongs in 1m 5⅜s. Alloe, who had a pull in the weights, was just in front of Bonville at the conclusion of five furlongs in 1m 4⅜s. On the sand, which was in splendid order, De Gama moved nicely for a mile in 1m 46½s, Sir Solo giving him a lead all the way, the last six furlongs occupying 1m 21s. Meritus and Onazer half paced. Leucops and Tadanga spurted five furlongs in 1m 6s. Tofua gave Danum a good beating over five furlongs in 1m 6s, and the winner also had the worst of the weights. The Bachelor hit out for seven furlongs in 1m 34s; Pankhurst spurted four furlongs in 52¼s, and Brattle went steadily. Flash of Steel again went in brilliant style for six furlongs in 1m 17¾s, giving Clash of Arms a good start, and holding him safely at the finish. Baverstock did an even time five furlongs, which distance Jolly Beggar did in dashing style, in 1m 3¾s, and his race has done him a lot of good. Amata stretched out for six furlongs in 1m 19s, with something in hand at the end. Pinkerton made light of six furlongs in 1m 20⅜s. The Tuck spurted three furlongs in 39¼s, and Oweenee did a furlong more in 51s, and El Bro in 56s. Weleria did strong exercise. Child had no trouble in getting a mile in 1m 51⅛s. Alcconner went at an improving pace for six furlongs in 1m 21s. Wallaria cut out four furlongs in 58s, and Silver Lad was 57⅞s over a like distance. Pistol King went strongly. Dumfries sprinted five furlongs in 1m 9s. Lord Walla ran four furlongs, up the side, in 53s. Golden Wire never once got his head for five furlongs in 1m 6½s, and Petrilliot sprinted four furlongs in 53s. Allansford was striding along. Defence made light of a mile and a quarter in 2m 25s, and Gigandra was not out to make time for seven furlongs in 1m 37½s.

FLEMINGTON.

PHILIO IN GOOD FORM.

The weather was hot, dusty, and unpleasant, with a strong northerly wind, this morning, when the big sand track was good going, but there was not a very great amount of galloping, for a number of the horses were extended on Monday, and others were let off lightly on account of the trying weather. Mint Sauce went along for five furlongs in 1m 12s, and Rosanna (J. Killorn) looked to be going better than Cock of the North for the same distance in 1m 7s. Lesbos (J. Killorn) and One were 1½ seconds longer, while Achernar (J. Killorn) cut the time down to 1m 6⅜s. Hush Money was going comfortably for five furlongs on the tan in 1m 8s; Nari went strongly for a furlong less, and Philio was striding along, with a big hold of his head, but, even so, did the last furlong in 12s. Remuneration (A. Kenny) did well to gallop a mile and a quarter on the tan in 2m 16⅜s. Dhuldul (P. Kelly), with the wind at his back, spurted half a mile in 50⅜s; while Duel (P. Kelly), going the other way, did a similar distance, in 52s. Naxbery (W. P. Burn) hit out for half a mile on the tan in [illegible] Sylvanmore, who looks to have done [illegible] during his spell, was down for an easy [illegible] Dollar Dictator went five furlongs on [illegible] at an even time pace. Carlita, who [illegible] good, seasoned condition, had the help of Chiffonette whilst running a mile and a half on the outside of the course proper, in 2m 48⅜s, and she was going comfortably throughout. Diabolo galloped a mile and a half on the tan in 2m 51⅛s. Sanctity, with the wind to help her, spurted half a mile in 50⅜s. Newberry and Phylactery were associated for a mile in 1m 50⅜s, and The Lintle was going comfortably for half that distance in 53s. Traquette (G. Lambert) strode over five furlongs in even time. Abdicator did an even-time half-mile on the tan, while First Principle was not going quite so fast. Mountain Knight and Athenic were let off with easy work. Woorak (J. Killorn) ran six furlongs in 1m 20⅜s, and Colugo (J. Killorn) was going very smartly in the early part of half a mile, run in 54s. Wishing Cap and Marcullus wound up some striding work by running three furlongs in 40s. Coronatus strode along on the tan, and Winnipeg was going better than Bob Ottawa for half a mile in 54s.

KEMBLA GRANGE RACING CLUB.

DRAMA KING WINS NEWTON MILE.

KEMBLA GRANGE, Tuesday.

The Kembla Grange races were held to-day, when the weather was perfect, and the attendance large. Results:—

Maiden Handicap, 6f.—J. W. Cook's br m Centone, by Earlston (imp.)—Contort, 8st 5lb (Taylor), 1; T. Brown's Queen Lale, 9st (Foley), 2; E. Lacey's Brassa, 8st 10lb (Whitehall), 3. Other starters: Circe Lad, 8st 5lb; Silverbella, 8st 5lb; Deep Sleep, 8st 5lb; Prejudice, 8st; Royal Athlea, 8st; Matador, 7st 12lb. BOWLING.

THE COMPETITIONS.

Round eight was responsible for an important item in No. 1 division of the pennant, viz., the defeat of Ashfield by Woonona. The advantage which Ashfield gained by their victory over Randwick on the preceding Saturday has thus been lost, and these two clubs share once more the leadership in their section. Woonona's success on their own green has been a remarkable feature of the season, and those clubs who have yet to visit the South Coast will have to be well equipped. Five clubs have gone down to Woonona, four of them in a double sense, and it is a feather in the cap of Marrickville to have alone survived the ordeal. Victoria Park by 9 points, St. George by 35, Redfern by 35, and Ashfield by 24, are the victims so far. Ashfield were unfortunate in the absence of Moses, although Noakes handled the reins successfully in his stead, and won by 25-18. The transfer had a dire effect on Pettigrew's reconstructed rink, with the result that the single-handed champion suffered his first defeat in the pennant by 33-12, President Kirton being the conqueror. Pryor also won for Woonona 31-20, and it is reported that nothing finer was seen on the green than the magnificent leading of John Spence.

Victoria Park inflicted on Redfern its seventh defeat in succession, and the principal feature was Thorne's majority of 51 to 10, the first occasion this season when the half-century has been topped. Victoria Park's victory followed five consecutive losses.

Marrickville, on its own green, beat St. George by a single point. The previous meeting at Rockdale resulted in a win for St. George by 50. Of Marrickville's four victories to date, two have been won by one point. Woolford's rink had lost every match previously, six in succession, but on this occasion it won where all comrades fell, and its fine majority of 28-16 was just sufficient to atone for all disasters. There is a peculiar satisfaction in pulling a side through unaided.

Results in section 2 left matters unchanged, for the clubs most interested, Chatswood, Mosman, and Waverley, all won. The leaders, Chatswood, had some trouble with Drummoyne, and had W. H. Gartrell's 37-18 to thank for victory. Waverley's success over Manly was stubbornly contested in every rink, the difference being 8, with Hind the only Manly winner. Cox was beaten for the fourth time in succession, but Barkell added another win to an already fine record. Mosman beat Burwood comfortably in all four rinks, 127-72, but at their first meeting Mosman won by 3 only. Bullot has been a great success as skip, while Colquhoun and Barnes scored solid majorities. Balmain did not long permit Waverley to hold the honour of heaviest win, for the difference of 81 over Hunter's Hill the previous week was beaten on Saturday. Crane 44-12, McLaren 38-19, Crump 32-12, and Reeder 34-16 all contributed liberally to the overwhelming surplus of 89.

Of the 23 clubs engaged in the metropolitan premiership, City alone are now unbeaten. Their defeat of Warringah, 115-79, was not so heavy as in the opening match, when 64 points separated the teams. T. Anderson's rink, 38-16, was once again the largest scorer. Kuring-gai scored an excellent victory over Petersham on the latter's home green, Alderson 37-17 and Black 23-21 being primarily responsible. Morgan, 28-20, continues his career of success, and is evidently in excellent form this season. Ryde made a great effort to score their first win, and three rinks won; but Love's quartet, with 33-14, was able to carry the other Strathfield deficiencies and show 5 points to the good. North Sydney won in all rinks, and beat Parramatta easily. Walker, with 34-15, returned the best figures.

Of the skippers who have played in three or more matches there remain only four undefeated at the present stage, viz.:—

Name.	Won.	Tied.	Points. For.	Points. Agst.	S'plus.
Morgan (Pet.)	6	—	203	148	55
H. Thorpe (City)	5	1	174	144	30
Bullot (Mos.)	5	—	162	115	47
Fitzgerald (Wav.)	3	—	100	57	43

Mr. W. M. Gordon has spared no effort in promoting the interests of bowling. He has occupied many positions of responsibility on the association, as well as being a capable player and club supporter. Of late years he has been identified chiefly with the Warringah Club, an off-shoot of Mosman, and prior to that with North Sydney. His profession as a surveyor naturally induced him to take a deep interest in the construction of greens, and many of the clubs in the State availed themselves of his services, which were always cheerfully and gratuitously given. There are not many players unacquainted with Mr. Gordon's cheery and generous personality, and the very serious condition of his health will cause regret. The president of the association, Mr. John Spence, thinks the time opportune for marking the general appreciation of a good friend in order that by some tangible memento he may be cheered by the knowledge of remembrance on the part of his old associates. With this end in view Mr. Spence has addressed a personal letter to the presidents of the various clubs, which will doubtless respond with fitting enthusiasm.

The Waverley Club will be glad to send four rinks away next Saturday to any club having a vacancy.

ROWING.

THE SCULLING WORLD.

Although there are a good many professional oarsmen in the field, there is not a match of any kind in sight, notwithstanding that a good deal of talk is being indulged in as to the men amongst whom good matches could be made. Some of the scullers are fortunate enough to have backing, but are apparently not very anxious to row, whilst there are others keen on a match who cannot find supporters. However, of all the races talked about, there is no reason why Charles Towns and A. D. Felton should not come to terms for another race, as both have the money behind them, and neither has a likely opponent amongst all our scullers. They would draw a good gate, and from what they have shown in their recent races there would be quite a problem on hand for the aquatic patrons to pick the winner.

In the meantime, Paddon is idle, and a race for him until Felton and Towns have met again appears a long way off. About the end of this month Arnst, who has been training hard on the Parramatta River for about three months, is to show his supporters to what extent he has progressed towards recovering his old form, and if the outlook is promising he will have backing for another big race.

On Saturday next the Parramatta River Sculling Club will hold a sculling handicap and a mixed double-sculls race in pleasure skiffs on the Parramatta. Good entries have been received for each event, and there will be no caps will be issued early. There will be no steamer to follow the racing, but the best part of it can be witnessed from Towns' boat-house at Gladesville.

So far, A. Wilson, the Englishman who recently through the "Herald" challenged any of our oarsmen to a long-distance match in ordinary skiffs on Sydney Harbour, has not been accepted. It would probably be the first time on record if an unknown in Sydney could issue a challenge without his being accepted. What of Thoroughgood?

Amongst supporters of sculling it is thought that R. Ford and S. Kemp would make an equal match, and the sum of £50 a side has been named as a suitable stake for a race between the men. Ford should not be allowed to drift out of the racing because defeated by such a good oarsman as Felton. Frederick Ford, an elder brother, gave great promise of becoming a good man at one time, but lack of matches caused him to forsake the sport. It was he, however, who defeated Sydney Kemp on the Hunter River several years ago after one of the finest races possible. A contest between R. Ford and Kemp would not only provide a good race, but would give the latter a chance of avenging that defeat.

GOLF.

PROSPECTS OF THE SEASON.

CLUB COMPETITIONS.

As far as can be gathered, the coming golf season will be devoid of much interest. The Suburban and Country Golf Association, the ruling body of most of the golf in the State, held a meeting last week, when it was decided not to sanction any official fixtures during the season, and accordingly the usual interclub competitions, country week, and the districts championships will not be held, and matches with the two metropolitan clubs will not be arranged. The decision was arrived at unanimously, and there will be few who will argue that it was not a wise one.

There is a general slackness about golf at present, and it is likely to continue. For one thing, many players are drilling and shooting at the butts. Many who can have gone to the front, others are drilling with the idea of getting there later, and others again, whose home obligations prevent them volunteering, have joined rifle clubs. They thus qualify to take a share in home defence, and, if needs be, to relieve better men, who can go to the front, but it is at least a question whether many men with few obligations have not joined rifle clubs thinking that thereby they are doing their duty, when duty lies in volunteering for the front.

This does not apply to golfers alone, but to them as much as others. The able-bodied right-thinking young man with no obligations can scarcely offer an excuse for not volunteering for the front. The golfers here are little better than cricketers and footballers, and they should be. The decision of the association will be generally welcomed, and will at least give club members an opportunity of drilling and practising rifle shooting, at which they will be much better employed than in playing golf. As a corollary, not perhaps altogether necessary, the association decided to remit club subscriptions for the ensuing season, which must be regarded as a wise and generous decision. The meeting also directed its delegates to the New South Wales golf council to vote against holding the New South Wales amateur championship meeting this season, and it is exceedingly unlikely that any serious golf will be played during the coming winter, though there is nothing to prevent clubs arranging friendly matches amongst themselves.

The rifle shooting match between the Royal Sydney G.C. Rifle Club and the Killara Rifle Club, originally set down for last Saturday, was not "played," as the "course" was not available, but will take place next Saturday at Hornsby, when 12 men a side will shoot over 200 and 400 yards, five shots at each range.

At Killara on Saturday there were not any cards returned in A grade, but in B grade E. Griffiths had a very good round of 87—15=72. Griffiths is a steady young player, who has not been at the game very long. He keeps very straight, and is not often at fault with the short game. He was out in 44 and home in 43. S. Brooks (14) was second with a good card of 74 net, and should at least have equalled the winner, but a poor 7 at the sixteenth spoilt his chances. Both scores were good, as the course has recently been considerably top-dressed. For inconsistent scoring, results at Dobroyde will be hard to beat. F. S. Shenstone (5) divided with J. M. Edwards (10). Shenstone was out in 46, nine worse than bogey, and returned in 39, one under the colonel; while Edwards, who was out reasonably well in 40, required 50 to come home. The course is in fair condition, the greens being really good.

J. E. Emblem, a long-mark player, had a creditable win at Manly, returning a card of 94—24=70, four strokes better than A. R. Marks, who had a good round of 83—9=74. Both men, doubtless, qualified for a reduction in handicap. R. R. MacKinnon had the best return at Cammeray, has card of 83—13=70 winning by two strokes from L. J. Cunningham, on the same handicap, with W. O'Gorman Hughes one stroke further away.

W. T. Smith, always a steady, solid player, excelled himself at Drummoyne, and, completing the round with very few mistakes, handed in a card of 3 up from the 5 mark, this being one of his best performances. It was a day of good rounds, as J. B. O'Neill, H. D. McLelland, G. Solomon, and F. Cox each returned cards of 1 up. E. Hewitt won the stroke handicap at Bonnie Doon with a good card of 94—20=74, followed by S. W. Harvey, with 101—24=77.

LAWN TENNIS.

DAVIS CUP FINANCE.

The report of the international committee dealing with the financial side of the Davis Cup matches last year, which is published in "American Lawn Tennis," shows very clearly and comprehensively the transactions in each of the matches. The figures are given in dollars, but it appears that the total receipts in round numbers were approximately £16,900, of which £11,470 came from the challenge tie between United States and Australasia, £2670 from Australasia v British Isles, £1580 from Australasia v Canada, and £1180 from Australasia v Germany. The disbursements were naturally heavy, the construction of grandstands being essential for each tie. For United States v Australasia the expenses ran to £4300, while Australasia v British Isles cost £950, Australasia v Germany £530, and Australasia v Canada £460. These expenses do not include the amounts paid to the clubs on whose grounds the matches were contested, for the United States National L.T.A. very generously defrayed this item, which might reasonably have been charged as expenditure on the matches out of its own share of profits. As this sum amounted to about £1200, it will be seen that the visiting nations derived considerable benefit from this action of the United States National L.T.A.

The annual Hamilton (Vic.) tournament, inaugurated on modest lines a few years ago, has flourished so vigorously that at this year's meeting 299 entries were received for six events, competitors coming from many other towns in the western district, in addition to a contingent from Melbourne. Eleven grass courts in excellent condition were employed on the Melville Oval, play commencing at so early an hour as 8 a.m. S. P. England won the open singles, defeating C. N. Barnard in the semi-final, and J. Hawkes, the all schools champion, in the final. Hawkes, who comes from Geelong, is regarded as the best player of his age produced by that town since A. D. Kearney, who astounded the Melbourne players when he competed in the Victorian championships as a diminutive schoolboy in the late "eighties" of last century. The Hamilton tournament was well controlled by the managing officials, who also saw to it that the visitors were hospitably entertained during such periods of their visit as the tournament was not in progress.

The A grade competition has assumed a more interesting appearance by the victory of Western Suburbs over Eastern Suburbs at Pratten Park last Saturday, for the latter were regarded by many as almost certain to go through unbeaten. Two factors assisted to bring about the somewhat unexpected happening—the sustained excellence of the brothers Peach, and the fact that Marsh and Sayers have not yet got into their top form. Both these teams seem assured of places in the semi-final with University Graduates, Hunter's Hill, and Balmoral, from which two must be taken for the other positions. Of course, Sydney may yet qualify if supported by its full strength, but this is improbable.

Nothing definite has been heard from South Australia or Queensland as to those States accepting the invitation of New South Wales to play interstate matches when the Victorians are here in April, but private letters from Adelaide encourage the hope that a team of four will come from South Australia.

After a lapse of many years the New South Wales Lawn Tennis Association has resumed publication of a handbook that, in addition to giving the full programme of the interclub competitions, supplies much information in the form of the laws of the game, schedule of charges for membership, and use of the courts at the Double Bay ground, regulations for interstate matches, the Mars Buckley competition, etc. A large amount of space is devoted to records of winners of championships and minor events, and of interclub competitions. A table appears giving the names of representatives of New South Wales in matches against Victoria, with the years in which they competed. It has been found difficult to compile a complete list of records, but it is expected that some, now omitted, will be available when next year's handbook is produced.

NINTH ROUND COMMENTS.

INTERESTING POSITION.

The competition for premiership honours in the first grade at present—the conclusion of the ninth round—bears a very open aspect. To some extent this is due to the downfall on Saturday of North Sydney and Waverley, the leaders of the previous round. North Sydney still leads, but by only a very small percentage, from Western Suburbs, and these two clubs are followed very closely by Waverley, Gordon, and University. Any one of these five clubs may win the premiership, and, in a sense, it is a pity that the interstate match with Queensland, which will commence on Friday, by weakening some of the clubs, may influence the result. The round commencing on Saturday will conclude the qualifying part of the competition. Thereafter for three rounds the first grade teams will be divided into three sections, two of four teams and one of five teams, and the opponents of each will be determined by their relative positions in the table; the team occupying No. 1 position in each group meeting the team occupying No. 4, whilst No. 2 plays No. 3 for the first of these concluding rounds; in the second round No. 1 plays No. 3, and No. 2 plays No. 4, whilst in the last round No. 1 plays No. 2, and No. 3 plays No. 4.

PROSPECTIVE PREMIERS.

The relative positions, of course, in each section are likely to change each round, and it is quite possible for two teams to meet each other more than once in the three concluding rounds. Again, it is provided that if one or more teams in a lower division gain greater percentages than teams in the division immediately above them, places shall accordingly be changed for the next round. It is therefore possible for a team not originally in the top section to work its way up, and, indeed, ultimately win the premiership. The first eight teams in the competition, as it at present stands, are all within striking distance of the premiership goal, Glebe, which stands eighth on the list, being only 3½ points (out of 24) behind the leaders, North Sydney. Everything points, therefore, to an interesting series of contests from the competition viewpoint.

AN EXCEPTIONAL DEBUT.

Some very decisive match results were recorded in the round concluded on Saturday no fewer than three of the contests being won by an innings. The victory of Sydney, perhaps, was the most astonishing; it is almost incredible that a first innings total of 168 for six wickets (declared) should be good enough to win by an innings and 20 runs under fine weather conditions. Redfern made a double failure with the bat in this match, scoring 76 in the first innings and 72 in the second (two men short), and the bowler (Grimmett) mainly responsible for this debacle was making his debut as a first-grader. A right-hand medium-paced bowler promoted from the second-grade, his success was sensational. In the first innings he captured seven wickets for 32 runs, and in the second on the second day he practically repeated the performance with five of the seven wickets which fell to the bowlers for 33 runs. These are exceptional figures, even when substantial discount is levied for the feeble batting of Redfern, and must necessarily invest his future performances with special interest.

SENSATIONAL BOWLING SUCCESS.

The signal defeat of Paddington by Glebe was also associated with a sensational bowling achievement, viz., eight wickets for seven runs by C. Kelleway. The wicket was a good one, and it was confidently expected when Paddington took the creases that a respectable reply would be made to Glebe's total of 316. In 17 overs, however, Paddington was dismissed for the meagre total of 47 runs (11 sundries). Kelleway was irresistible. He received no assistance from the pitch, so that his success was based on sheer merit. Six of his victims were clean bowled. Never before has he bowled the "in-swerve" so successfully nor demonstrated its value when properly controlled. The ability to bowl this particular ball is somewhat rare amongst right-handers. "Bart" King, the great American bowler of a decade ago, was a leading exponent of this device, and in his hands it proved a tremendous wicket-getting asset on the fields of old England. R. T. Crawford, a brother of "J. N.," picked it up from King and with it as a foundation secured many notable successes in county cricket. Kelleway bowls the ball at a fine pace; well controlled, it should be made the instrument of great success in every class of cricket. One of the two remaining Paddington wickets on Saturday fell to a catch by Kelleway, so that, having made 138 with the bat, his was the lion's share in the victory. In the second innings (follow on) the Paddington batsmen gathered to themselves some little consolation by holding Kelleway safely. The full right-hander sent down twice as many overs as in the first innings for two wickets and 42 runs. Paddington made a fair effort, in consequence, to escape outright defeat, Trenerry 75, Noble 34, and Winning 24, batting very ably, but the collapse which followed their dismissal continued to the end, the last seven wickets adding only 50 runs.

BRILLIANT CENTURIES.

Brilliant batting characterised the matches between Balmain-Middle Harbour and Gordon-Waverley. In the latter match 481 runs were made in the afternoon at the fast rate throughout of 6.1 runs per over, whilst in the other match the rate of scoring exceeded 5 runs per over. This was in direct contrast to the play in other matches, which ranged from 2.4 per over to 3.6 runs per over. Two individual centuries were recorded, and both were brilliant efforts. C. G. Macartney in an hour and 50 minutes hit up 159 runs, his first competition century this season, and the character of his batting can be well gauged by the fact that he hit twenty-five fours and five sixes. This should put the little champion, who is to captain the New South Wales team, in fine fettle for the Queensland match, which will begin on Friday, and a big innings from his bat will be a most acceptable stimulus to the game. It is worthy of note that he failed to score in the first innings of the grade match under notice; so also did Trenerry, who scored 75 in his second innings for Paddington. Thus is the uncertainty of the game exemplified.

NEW HONOURS.

F. A. Merchant, who scored 123 not out for Balmain, is a young player new to first grade this season. This was his first century in the competition. He is a batsman of very busy and enterprising methods, and his displays in previous matches, though of minor dimensions numerically, have given pleasure and entertainment in virtue of their aggression. On Saturday he merely completed the good work begun on the first day, carrying his score from 68 not out to 123, and remaining undefeated. Included amongst his hits were fourteen fours and five sixes, results which emphasise both the vigour and the power of his play. Other features of this match were the good batting of G. Lowe, 58 not out, for Middle Harbour, and the successful bowling of L. Wall, who supplemented the good work achieved in the first innings by an analysis of five for 52 in the second. The left-hander has been consistently successful in grade matches this season, and thoroughly deserves his promotion to the State team wherein his performances will be watched with special interest.

NORTH SYDNEY BEATEN.

The match which carried more interest, perhaps, than any other on Saturday was that between North Sydney and Western Suburbs. It was interesting mainly on account of the finish of the first innings, which robbed the "Shoremen" of their unbeaten certificate, rather than anything worthy of mention in the play. With 83 runs to win and five wickets to fall on a perfect pitch, the task of the batsmen appeared an easy one. This number was reduced to 56 without further loss, and victory appeared in sight. At this point, however, a brilliant catch in the slips by Murray disposed of Frendlin, a recruit from the second team, who had batted neatly for 12 runs, and this proved the pivot upon which Western Suburbs' success turned. L. A. Minnett (30) batted obstinately to the end, but without anysupport from comrades, from whom much abler displays might reasonably have been expected. Sheer bad batting lost the match, and it will need to be greatly improved upon if the North Sydneyites are to retain the competition lead.

SAILING.

NORTHCOTE CUP.

THE COMING SERIES.

There has been only one day of yacht-racing so far this season, namely, the Anniversary Regatta, but this week-end a most important event—a series of races for the Northcote Cup—will take place. This is now practically the only interstate race for this branch of aquatic sport, the Sayonara Cup having for some years remained in the care of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron without being challenged for by the senior club of Victoria.

Owing to the restrictions placed on the movements of yachts in Port Jackson on the outbreak of hostilities, it was decided by the two Sydney clubs to abandon the programme for this season, and it was not anticipated that an entry would be received from Victoria for the Northcote Cup. However, the yachtsmen of the southern State have had an exceptionally good racing season in Port Phillip, and the St. Kilda Yacht Club decided to enter the Killara, which has represented Victoria in all contests except one since the cup was presented for interstate yacht racing by the late Lord Northcote in 1907.

The deed of gift originally provided that the race should be for yachts of the seven-metre class, but as power was given to the flag-officers of the senior yacht club of each State to make any alterations in the conditions agreeable to all, they decided, after the initial race, to reduce the size of yachts eligible to compete to six metres. One clause of the deed of gift provided that the first race should take place in Port Phillip, and this was sailed in 1908. As Australian yachtsmen did not then possess, and have not since acquired a boat of the seven-metre class, the race was held between two yachts approximately that size, representing Victoria and South Australia respectively, when "S.J.S.," Victoria's representative, was successful on behalf of the Port Melbourne Yacht Club. Neither of the two clubs, which had the honour of being the first contestants for the cup, has since provided entries for this event.

In 1909 the event lapsed for want of entries, but in the following year two new boats of the six-metre class made their appearance, Mr. W. M. Marks, with Culwulla II., unsuccessfully representing New South Wales as the nominee of the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron, while Killara, representing the St. Kilda Yacht Club, retained possession of the trophy for Victoria. These two boats were again entered for 1911, but the race did not take place, and both boats were sold. Culwulla II. was purchased by Messrs. Albert and Sayer and renamed Rawhiti II. Killara was sold to Mr. J. Dixon, of Victoria, and, under the new owners' flags they again competed with the same result. In 1913 Rawhiti II. was again taken to Melbourne as representative of the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club, and on this occasion Mr. Sayer steered his craft to victory against Killara.

A wave of enthusiasm seemed to set in amongst the Victorian yachtsmen, and it was decided to make a determined effort to lift the Cup, with the result that a new boat was built and christened The Rip. This yacht represented the Royal Yacht Club of Victoria, and Mr. C. A. Hack having purchased Killara, the latter was again nominated as the representative of the St. Kilda Yacht Club, and a contest took place between the three boats last February. On the first day Killara was over-canvassed, and The Rip lost her mast, with the result that Rawhiti II. scored an easy win. The second day provided sensational racing, and victory looked certain for Killara, when an accident to her mainsail robbed her of the chance of sailing a third and deciding race against the Sydney yacht. This year Victoria will be represented by Killara only, and the only Sydney entry is that of Rawhiti II., representing the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club.

The racing is set down for Friday, Saturday, and, if necessary, Monday next, the first day being over a triangular course, and the second and third days to windward and back. The same skipper and crew will handle Rawhiti II. (Messrs. E. E. Sayer, P. G. Milson, and S. H. Leigh), but alterations have been made with regard to Killara; Mr. J. A. Douglas, who was main sheet hand last year, will be skipper, Mr. C. A. Hack mainsheet hand, and Mr. R. Atkinson forward.

THE 18-FOOTERS.

On the principle that the more a boat is defeated the more start she should get, it was only natural to expect that in course of time Blanche, now one of the oldest of the "eighteens," and not one of the best rigged, would surely win. The ambitions of her crew were realised in no uncertain manner on Saturday, and her easy win of the Sydney Club's race in charge of H. Arundel, was well deserved, if only for the consistent way in which they have paid their entrance fees and plugged along, week after week, in quest of victory. In her first race over the same course this season, Blanche, which is invariably the limit boat, was allotted a start of 8m for a working breeze, and 6½m for a leading wind, while on Saturday she was given 10m work and 9m lead.

It was, of course, a handicap boats' day, and the fact, therefore, that four of the six prize-winners came under that definition, was not surprising. It is well-known that a soldier's wind, enabling the boats, as it does to practically lay their course for every mark, does not call for that high degree of skill which is necessary to success when there is a fair proportion of windward work. Thus it was that on Saturday, when it was only a matter of keeping one's boat going, so to speak, and making proper use of all available extras, the question of the relative speed of the boats, rather than of tactics and handling, was the dominant factor.

In view of the soldier's wind which prevailed, the performances of the scratch boats, Australian and Nimrod, in finishing third and sixth, respectively, were remarkably good, but the explanation lies mainly in the fact that they were suited by the lightness of the breeze. From the start Chris. Webb and his crew had Australian going much better than the other backmarkers, and after overhauling their opponents one after another, they eventually disposed of Advance and Desdemona by steering a course to leeward of them on the final run home, and getting the benefit of the flood tide. Kismet also sailed a good boat on the day, and finished seventh.

ANNIVERSARY REGATTA.

The prizes won at the Anniversary regatta were presented to the successful competitors at Aaron's Exchange Hotel last night. Judge Backhouse, who presided, said that the regatta was a success from every point of view.

NOTES.

Sailing men generally will regret to hear that Mr. W. A. Notting is seriously incapacitated by illness. For years Mr. Notting has been a prominent figure in the sport, and, as hon. secretary of the Harbour Foreshores Committee, was indefatigable in his efforts to further the interests of sailing and aquatic men, and, in fact, the public generally. A movement is now on foot to publicly recognise Mr. Notting's efforts in a practical way, and it is hoped that the project will meet with that ready response which it deserves. The Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club has the matter in hand, and they will doubtless have the co-operation of the open boat and other clubs in raising what should be a substantial sum.

ATHLETICS.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The executive committee of the New South Wales Amateur Athletic Association has agreed to the method of scoring points in the "Decathlon," to be contested at the State championship meeting on March 6 and 13, and the decisions arrived at will be submitted for confirmation at next week's council meeting. It is almost certain that the recommendations of the executive will be endorsed without discussion, for the whole matter has been carefully considered. In the proposed scheme the winner of the greatest number of points will undoubtedly be entitled to the designation of all-round champion of the State. An endeavour has been made to work upon the lines laid down by the International Federation, but in some cases it has been deemed advisable to diverge from that scheme to suit local conditions.

In each of the ten events it will be possible for any athlete to score 1000 points, that being the number adhered to in Decathlons held in Europe and America, and the minimum in each will be 50. Commencing with the 100 yards, for which the record is 10s, 50 points will be deducted for each tenth of a second outside that figure, and the best State figure will be worked upon in all other items, but the same deductions will not be made. For the 440 yards, 40 points will be lost for every half second outside 48⅘s; the one mile 25 points for each second outside 4m 23s; 120 yards hurdles 50 for each tenth of a second outside 15 4-5s; running high jump, 66 for each inch lower than 6ft; broad jump, 12 for each inch short of 23ft 7½in; 16lb shot, 66 for each foot less than 44ft 8½in; discus, 20 for each foot short of 125ft; javelin, 20 for each foot below 140ft; and pole vault, 20 points for each half-inch lower than 11ft 6¼in. This arrangement seems sure to work admirably. For in each event a fair margin has been allowed for inferior performances; thus, in the 100 yards any competitor outside of 11 9-10s will not score a point, and the other items have a somewhat similar minimum. It will, however, be an advisable move to appoint separate judges for the control of this branch, apart from the State championships, as there will be some elaborate tables to prepare; yet these will not need to be complicated if capable officials be appointed to keep a record of the points gained. For the Decathlon and all State championships the entries are due on Saturday next at the Sports Club.

Another recommendation to be made to the council is the revision of the present standards for State championships, and in future competitions steps will be taken to recognise the performances of athletes who equal or improve upon the new figures. In the past the controllers of the association have been lax in attending to this matter, and in fairness to the competitors it is important that standards should be recognised, and when a State record is created the successful athlete should have some certificate from the A.A.A. endorsing his effort. The proposed list for which it is intended that standard certificates shall be granted are:—100yds, 10 1-5s; 220yds, 22 4-5s; 440yds, 51s; 880yds, 2m; 1 mile, 4m 30s; three miles, 15m 30s; 120yds hurdles (3ft 6in), 16 2-5s; 440yds hurdles (3ft), 1m; one mile walk, 7m 5s; three miles walk, 23m 30s; running broad jump, 21ft; high jump, 5ft 9in; pole vault, 10ft; 16lb shot, 37ft; 16lb hammer, 120ft. New items for which there were no previous standards are the running hop, step, and jump, 44ft; discus, 105ft; javelin, 120ft. The best-known figures for these are 47ft 3in, 101ft, and 128ft 4in, respectively; but none has yet received State recognition. A standard will also be adopted for the mile relay championship for teams of four men, each to run 440yds, which will also be included in all future programmes; but the figure has not yet been agreed to. The South Sydney team holds the best-known record for this State, having on January 1, 1912, ran the journey in 3m 40s.

The Sydney Sports Ground will not be available on Saturday for club meetings, but Monday March 1, has been allotted the athletic clubs for electric light sports. To-morrow evening at 7.30, the South Sydney Club will conduct a scratch 440yds race for the purpose of selecting the club's representatives in the one mile relay championship of the State.

There have been some notable changes in the list of officers at the annual meetings of A.A.A. clubs during the past week. At the Botany Harriers' meeting, Mr. J. R. Bosley retired from the position of hon. secretary in favour of Mr. R. Tuck, who was the club's first secretary. The Redfern Harriers have elected Mr. F. Delaney, vice Mr. H. Brown, who has not the necessary time at his disposal to devote to the work.

CYCLING.

UNION CHAMPIONSHIP.

CLUB DAY.

On Saturday next the first section of the State championships will commence, and the interest now being displayed in the fixture should ensure a large gathering at the Sydney Sports Ground. For the opening day a lengthy programme will be submitted, the items being the half-mile and one-mile championships of New South Wales, one-mile handicap, and four hours teams' race for second-class riders. The struggles for the titles promise to produce some great riding, for there is quality amongst the list of entrants, and the defeat of S. Burtinshaw by G. A. Halpin on Saturday last has made the championships bear an open appearance. Prior to the Redfern club's one-mile championship, although the young rider who made a reputation on Saturday was considered capable of giving Burtinshaw a gallant battle, the majority favoured the champion, yet in the race to the line Halpin held his advantage, and there does not appear any reason why he should not repeat the performance in the State event. A. F. Taylor, who is also in fine form—judging by the manner in which he annexed the Eastern Suburbs mile championship—may also be looked upon as possessing a chance of annexing the honours, whilst the best of the others may be A. A. Patrick, A. S. Taylor, and A. Byron. The entries are very satisfactory, and the innovation adopted in the handicap has apparently met with the approval of riders, for the mile race has been well supported. Owing to the large entry for the four hours' race, it was deemed necessary to make a division, and heats restricted to one hour each were decided on Saturday last, first five in each qualifying for the final. This race will commence after the conclusion of the championships on Saturday next, and as there are ten metropolitan teams and a number of country competitors, a fine race is assured. However, none of the champions will be engaged, as the event is restricted to riders not eligible to compete for State honours. The second section of the championship meeting will be completed on Tuesday evening, when the five miles championship of N.S.W., one mile country championship and half-mile handicap will form the attractions.

There was a large muster of wheelmen at the Sydney Sports Ground on Saturday last for the monthly club meeting of the N.S.W. Cyclists' Union, an attractive programme of ten events being submitted, in addition to the heats of the open teams' race. In the club section the Eastern Suburbs and Redfern mile championships were the most important items, and whilst the former club's race resulted, as anticipated, in A. F. Taylor annexing the honours, S. Burtinshaw was defeated by G. A. Halpin. The Eastern Suburbs championship was easily won in 2m 21 1-5s, but the Redfern Club's placed men were well together at the finish, the journey being completed in 2m 15 2-5s. Halpin had the lead from Burtinshaw when entering the straight, and although the latter strove hard to close the gap, he failed by a wheel to retain his title. The beaten man, however, registered a brilliant performance by winning the club's half-mile handicap from scratch in 59 1-5s, after conceding the second man 125yds. A. A. Patrick, another backmarker, was third in the championship and handicap. Of the other notable items, J. Kerr might be mentioned, as, after winning the City Club's one mile handicap, he, with A. H. Hinsing as a team mate, secured the leading position in the first heat of the teams' race, and W. T. Hill, who, from the 10yds mark, annexed the Western Suburbs one mile race, qualified with N. Hird in the second division of the hour event.

The Australian championships will follow the State gathering, the most important fixture of the year being set down for March 6 and 9. From the successful competitors at the New South Wales championship meeting the State representatives will be chosen, and it is expected that there will be a number of Victorian and Queensland cyclists engaged.

Ashfield and South Sydney League clubs' handicaps, postponed from Thursday last, will be decided to-morrow evening at the Sydney Sports Ground.

The proposal submitted to last week's meeting of the Cyclists' Union Council regarding the formation of a cyclists' military corps has been held over, pending information from the authorities.

SWIMMING.

KAHANAMOKU AMONG RECORDS.

PARTY LEAVES ON FRIDAY.

Melbourne had a visit from D. P. Kahanamoku and party on Saturday, a result due more to the pertinacity of Sydney officials than to any effort on the part of the Victorian A.S.A. However, the Melbourne Club undertook the necessary financial risk, with the result that a very fine success was achieved. St. Kilda Baths were calm, and the two appearances of the famous Hawaiian were responsible for the creation of two new Victorian records, and a new Australasian 100 metres that overshadows the previous best. The visitors were allowed to swim in the 100 yards championship of Victoria on condition that the first Victorian past the winning post should rank as the local champion. W. B. Bennett secured fourth place, being beaten by Kahanamoku, Cunha, and Hay, the battle for second place being a magnificent tussle, in which Hay was beaten by a touch only. The time of the winner was 56s, which is much better than Cecil Healey's figures, established in the same baths many years ago. In the hundred metres event the Hawaiian equalled his own world's record of 61 3-5s, which, from the point of view of speed, easily beats any previous swimmer's effort by several seconds. A few years ago the time would have been a 100 yards record, but it now goes down as the best performance over a distance 10 yards in excess of that. It is pleasing to note that Kahanamoku has proved just as big an attraction in Melbourne as elsewhere, and that the Southern City will probably be prepared to undertake international fixtures in the future.

This is the farewell week of Kahanamoku. He will swim at Goulburn to-night, and return to Sydney to-morrow morning. The opportunity will be taken to say farewell to members of the party at 5 p.m. at the Sports Club. They will leave Sydney by Friday's boat for New Zealand, where they will tour until March 23, and then catch the Niagara from Auckland to Honolulu. To say that the tour has been a success is but a mild statement of the case. Financially, socially, and from a swimming point of view everything possible has been accomplished, and Australia will readily welcome the next international visitor on account of the success of this venture.

Since his return from Queensland, Kahanamoku has taken part in several first-class handicaps. Cunha has also started in two of these events, and in all cases the grouping of the topnotchers has resulted in very fine races, with everyone having a good chance of success. These have been true international events, and the spectacle of some competitor with a long start beating all the famous exponents of the day has been saved. Kahanamoku has won every handicap in which he has started in New South Wales, and Cunha has won every handicap in which he has competed since his return from Brisbane.

At Newcastle the local organisation, owing to the wet weather prevailing on the night of the carnival, and also to the large expense incurred in the erection of seating accommodation, netted a loss on the visit. The incident was responsible for a fine sporting action on the part of the Australian champion, Albert Barry, who, in order to help the Northern Association to make ends meet, decided to forego the prize coming to him as second in the hard-fought 150 yards race with Kahanamoku.

To-night two carnivals will be held. At Drummoyne Baths the Rechabite Club will carry out its annual function, and besides the usual interclub and district championships the Harris Cup polo match, between Metropolitan and the Western Suburbs will be played. Coogee Aquarium Baths will be the scene of the Palace Emporium Gala, when the Harris Cup race (open only to Palace Emporium, Newtown, St. George, and South Sydney), will be contested. The club has also hit on a novel prize in connection with 66 yards interclub event in the form of a reward to the fastest performer over the distance.

On Saturday the newly-formed Woolwich Club will hold its first annual carnival. The 100 yards Northern Suburbs championship will be decided, and a water polo Harris Cup game between Northern Suburbs and Eastern Suburbs will be played.

In club circles on Saturday the most noteworthy performance was that accomplished by R. Longworth in the Rose Bay handicap, when he got so near the minute for the hundred yards that he may be looked upon as the next swimmer to join this elect circle. Longworth won the final in 60 1-5s. At Manly the surf carnival at Collaroy, and the absence of the Manly Life Saving Club's team at Melbourne depleted the entries to a large extent, yet enough members were mustered to make the other clubs envious, in this respect, of the villagers.

The next race of the Sydney University Club will be on Saturday next, at the Domain baths, at 10 a.m.

TRAMWAY CHAMPIONSHIP CARNIVAL.

DICKMAN WINS 220 YARDS.

The annual championship carnival of the New South Wales Tramway Sports Association attracted a very large number of competitors and a big crowd of spectators to the Municipal Baths, Sydney Domain, on Monday night. The chief event was the 220 yards professional (League) championship of New South Wales, and the race provided a splendid contest between Dickman, the winner, Rollinson, the previous holder of the title, and Prior. Dickman won by a stroke from Rollinson, after a gruelling course, with Prior only a yard behind. The time, 2m 44½s, beat last year's performance by Rollinson by 3¼ seconds.

Hundred Yards Open Handicap.—Final: F. O'Neill, 17s, 1; J. Ryan, 35s, 2; A. Schultz, 16s, 3. Time, 1m 18s.

Ladies' 50 Yards Handicap.—Final: Miss B. Hayes, 16s, 1; Miss E. Adams, 6s, 2; Miss M. Hayes, 11s, 3. Time, 44 3-5s.

50 Yards Tramway Handicap.—Final: [illegible] Robinson, 9s, 1; J. Tarleton, 2s, 2; C. Gocher, 9s, 3. Time, 32 1-5s.

Tramway Teams' Relay Championship.—Three men in a team, each man to swim 100 yards: Ocean-street Depot, 1; Dowling-street Depot, 2; Newtown Depot, 3. Time, 3m 38 1-5s.

50 Yards Tramway Championship.—W. Dent (Waverley Depot), 1; F. Wilson (Tempe Depot), 2. Time, 29s.

100 Yards Tramway Championship.—D. Peel (Ocean-street Depot), 1; H. Morris (Ocean-street Depot), 2; F. Wilson (Tempe Depot), 3. Time, 1m 11s.

220 Yards League State Championship.—O. Dickman (Balmain League), 1; A. Rollinson (Sydney League), 2; J. Prior (Randwick and Coogee), 3; F. Carberry (Waverley League), 4. Time, 2m 44½s.

Ladies' Diving.—Miss G. Vale (Eastern District), 1; Miss N. Mead (Eastern District), 2; Miss E. Gorham (Randwick and Coogee), 3.

Gentlemen's Diving.—D. Peel, 1; A. Hayes, 2; T. Cork, 3.

50 Yards Breast-stroke Championship.—J. Lavell (Ocean-street Depot), 1; H. Heard (Dowling-street Depot), 2; E. Stebbings (Newtown Depot), 3. Time, [illegible]

MOTOR CYCLING.

The movement to organise a military corps of motor cyclists has been most enthusiastically taken up, and the initial meetings have been well attended. The main object is to build up a national reserve, but there are many riders who are anxious that a section of the Expeditionary Forces should be comprised of motor cyclists, in view of the success that has attended these units on the Continent of Europe. The club rooms are in Rawson-buildings, but full information will be supplied to intending members by the hon. secretary, Mr. J. A. Fair, at 244 Pitt-street.

The Sydney B.C. and M.C. has organised a hill-climb for Saturday next, starting from Pymble at 2.30 p.m. This club will control the big championship meeting at Easter, when the events for consideration will be the 60 miles State championship for machines up to 600-c.c., open State championship over a 100 miles course, 33 miles open handicap, and a club handicap over a similar distance. Nominations are now being received by the hon. secretary.

Included in the programme of the Police and Firemen's sports on Saturday, 27th inst., are a number of motor cycling items, and special prizes will be devoted by the M.C.C. of New South Wales for the best displays and decorated machines.

IN EXCHANGE FOR LOVE.

CHAPTER XXII.

In the evening of the same day Jack sat in a quiet corner of the smoking-room of the club apparently reading the evening newspaper, but in reality still pondering on his future, with the memory of the scene with Maud obtruding painfully on his meditation. This is a contrary world we live in, and most of us are engaged in playing the annoying game of cross-purposes. Here was a clever, pretty, and quite good girl in love with him, and, just because he was in love with another girl, who was going to marry someone else, he was compelled to turn away from the gift the gods were thrusting on him. But though his heart was sore for Maud, he was too loyal in his devotion to Nora to waver in his allegiance for an instant. With a sigh he managed at last to concentrate his attention on the columns of advertisements, and presently he was rewarded by something in the nature of a find. This was it:

"Wanted, navvies for the embankment works. Apply Foreman, Wenfleet Island, Essex."

It seemed to Jack that this might suit him. It is true that his knowledge of the navvy and his work was not very extensive, but he told himself that, as far as he could remember, the work was not of a very skilled character, and consisted principally in filling and emptying a barrow and drinking beer at frequent intervals from a battered tin can; and he felt, modestly, that this work would be—at any rate, after a little practice—within his accomplishment.

Remembering that the navvy, as he knew him, was attired generally in thick boots, corduroy trousers, tied with string below the knee, a shirt innocent of collar, and a cloth cap with ears, tied at the top of the head, Jack, the next morning, dressed the part, with the assistance of a labourers' outfitter in a slum in Lambeth, took a third-class ticket for the nearest mainland station, and thence crossed to the island itself.

It was the first time Jack had been in that part of the world, and he was not a little impressed by the wide stretches of apparently waste land, the oozy marshes, the fast-flowing, pea-soup coloured river, and the remoteness and grimness of the little island, which seemed to float like a sandy-coloured egg on the bosom of the yellow-ochred water. In the boat by which he crossed were two or three genuine navvies, all smoking short pipes and carrying the can which may be considered the insignia of their class. Some of them had spades and pickaxes, and Jack admired the strength of their muscular limbs, and argued a similar soundness of lung and heart from the strength of their tobacco, which filled the circumambient air with a pungent odour, resembling that of burning tarpaulin.

With the taciturnity of the British, whether peer or peasant, they regarded Jack critically, but in silence, and with just a shadow of contempt for the softness and whiteness of his hands, and the mildness of his tobacco. However, they directed him civilly enough to the foreman, a burly giant, who looked Jack up and down with very much of the expression of a Roman slave-dealer, and, in response to Jack's request for work, nodded a bullet-head towards a spade and barrow, told him gruffly to join the gang, and asked what name he should put on the pay-sheet.

On Jack's hesitating, the foreman, with no show of curiosity or interest, took out a stub of pencil, and, after a preliminary lick, muttered, "Bill Jones. There ain't one already, I don't think," wrote down the name, spat twice with emphasis, and walked away.

Jack took up his barrow and spade, and trailed off in the wake of the gang to which he had been attached.

And now it would be pleasant to relate that Jack found the work quite easy, and accomplished his task so well that the foreman was compelled to award him unstinted praise and, on the spot, double his wages. Alas! these things do not occur in real life, but are reserved for fiction, and the truth of the matter was of a very different complexion.

The day was hot, the barrow, when filled, was exceeding heavy; and it required all Jack's concentration of mind and limb to keep the wretched thing on the narrow plank. When it trundled off into the soft gravel it needed the strength of a giant to lift it on again. Then, again, the fact that you possess a back—a fact which, apparently, has been concealed from you hitherto—is brought home to you in the most painful and obvious way, when you have been loading and unloading a barrow for three consecutive hours.

The sun beat on the back of Jack's neck and made it sore; the handles of the barrow, to say nothing of the spade, blistered his hands and made them still sorer than his feet; the heavy boots, which the outfitter had assured him would be as "comfortable as dancing pumps," appeared to be constructed of a material as unyielding and heavy as cast-iron; and, long before the hooter had announced the luncheon hour, Jack knew that both feet and hands, and probably the back of his neck, were enriched by blisters.

He sank on to a heap of gravel, which was as welcome at that moment as a softly-padded Chesterfield, wiped the sweat from his brow, and felt the most profound respect for that tough and uncultivated, but useful, individual, the British navvy. But, notwithstanding his innumerable pains and aches, which were like those of a man who had just been removed from that ancient implement of torture, the rack, he felt rather proud of himself, and was resolved to continue in the profession he had chosen.

While he was munching the crust of bread and the hunk of cheese with which he had had the forethought to provide himself, a fellow workman came and squatted beside him. He was an old, but fresh-looking, fellow, with muscles like brawn, and a kindly eye gleaming shrewdly and wittily from a face which might have been formed from dough, baked hard in the sun which Jack had found so trying.

"New to this game, ain't you mate?" he remarked, as he cut a hunk of bread and apparently raw meat, with a murderous-looking clasp knife. "Thought so! You ain't got no 'ands or feet yet."

"Oh, haven't I?" murmured Jack, with grim irony.

"But you'll get 'em all right enough presently. They're always a bit tender, and 'don't-you-touch-me' like at first. But it soon wears off."

"The skin, you mean," suggested Jack.

The man grinned at the stoical witticism, and nodded approvingly. "Yes, it's pretty tough work, 'specially when you ain't used to it; but it ain't so bad as some."

"I hear you say so," said Jack, incredulously.

"Oh, no, you bet!" returned his companion. "You should try yer 'and at stokin' aboard a liner. That'll give you a pretty good idea of what the parsons are allus threatenin' us with. Or workin' in a lead mine, with the atmosphere like a vault or grave, and on a sailin' ship carryin' patent manure. I've done all them; and I tell you, matey, this job, compared with them, is as soft as makin' baby underlinen. For one thing, you've got plenty of fresh air 'ere, and a fine open scenery."

"You're right about the scenery," said Jack, "excepting that there's nothing to be seen."

"Well, there's the sea and the sand. And, besides, there's the farm 'ouses down in the 'ollow. You can't see 'em from 'ere. Funny old places, belonged to the Dutch, they say. This 'ere island was once fortified by them furrin' [illegible]; there's the dyke still left; wonderful chaps for buildin' 'em to keep out the water, them Dutchies. Talkin' of water, you seem to have forgot your beer, mate. 'Ave a pull o' mine?"

Jack was parched with thirst, the battered tin can might have been the silver tankard of the club for him at that moment, and he accepted the drink with gratitude; then he pulled out his pipe and, barely suppressing a groan, followed his companion's example and stretched himself full length on the downy bed of gravel. The old navvy continued to talk—about the embankment they were making, the various kinds of toil in which he had been engaged, the charms of a certain little pub on the mainland, his opinions of a Government which, with culpable indifference to the welfare of the workingman, refused to ordain a six-hours' day, with a minimum wage of one shilling per hour; and presently Jack fell into a profound sleep.

He was awakened by the hideous hooter, and returned, with every limb stiff as a poker, to the pleasures of the barrow and the shovel. At the end of the day he dragged himself to a large shed which served as a shelter in bad weather and a sleeping-place for those men who preferred to practise economy rather than cross to the mainland, where the delights of the little pub awaited them. Jack chose the shed, because he felt that he could just manage to reach its distance, and no farther. As a matter of fact, he was almost too tired to eat the supper, which was provided at a nominal cost, and fell asleep in his bunk with the depth and instantaneousness of a dormouse starting on its winter snooze.

ROBBED IN RAILWAY CARRIAGE.

A bag containing money and jewellery, valued at £[illegible], was snatched from Miss Amy Dunn in a railway carriage between Marrickville and Sydenham railway stations at 9.15 p.m. on Monday. The thief was a youth who jumped from the train whilst it was in motion.

POULTRY.

Questions relating to fancy or commercial poultry-keeping, etc., should be addressed to "Ancona," Herald Office.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

E.J.T., Fairfield.—The birds are suffering from roup, which may be the result of colds, too close roosting quarters, or other causes. The bird's head and eyes should be washed daily with warm water to which has been added a few drops of disinfectant, and afterwards dried. A little disinfected water should be syringed up the nostrils. A teaspoonful of salad or olive oil, to which add two or three drops of eucalyptus, should be given each day until an improvement is noted. The affected birds should be removed to separate quarters, as the disease is contagious.

H.S.S.—You say a number of your birds died, but the only symptom you mention is that the comb goes white. This applies to a number of ailments. By giving the various things you name you were only guessing at remedies, and it is possible some of them were more injurious than beneficial. If worms in chickens withhold the afternoon food, visit the birds at night and give each about a quarter of a teaspoonful of turpentine in a little salad oil. Should the chickens be very young less turpentine should be used.

Randwick.—The trouble is locally known as warts or chicken pox. It is a blood disease, more prevalent in some districts than others, and more severe in some flocks than in others. The disease has a certain course to go through, the chickens being feverish, and off their feed before the eruption appears. The birds should get a fair quantity of Epsom salts in their drinking water, say a packet to each quart. A liberal supply of green food should also be supplied. A mixture of lard and sulphur applied to the sores will soon cause them to dry up and drop off, or wart ointment may be obtained at most of the produce dealers or poultry requisites houses.

Mr. W. H. Tombs forwards the following:—"At a meeting of the committee of the Poultry, Pigeon, and Canary Club, held on the 8th inst., the following judges were elected for 1915: All-round judges, Messrs. W. C. Forster, W. McDonnell, W. H. Tombs, W. J. Godley, L. L. Ramsay, A. E. Powell, J. H. Hemsworth, W. Giles, S. R. Watkins, G. E. O. Craft; all-round soft feather, Messrs. W. C. Forster, W. McDonnell, W. H. Tombs, J. H. Hemsworth, L. L. Ramsay, W. J. Godley, W. Giles; all-round hard feather, Messrs. S. R. Watkins, S. Collard, W. Giles, T. Gow, A. J. Lurcock."

The past week was one of slaughter prices amongst the poultry. Instead of finding relief in good prices, the reverse was the case, and wholesale quantities were forwarded. One municipal saleroom alone penned 1754 cockerels, 1256 hens, 1613 ducks and drakes, besides the usual number of small chickens, turkeys, and a few geese. Sparse feeding was noticeable in the majority of cases, and the prices were low. Well-fed drakes fetched to 9s 4d, while a few choice heavyweight Buff Orpington cockerels realised the excellent price of 9s 1d per pair.

POULTRY FOODS AGAIN.

The chief topic of conversation during the past week among poultry men was the failure of the Necessary Commodities Commission to make pollard available. Bran can now be had at the declared price, but it is as difficult to secure pollard as before the commission's declaration. Despite several sittings and much evidence taken by the commission two or three weeks ago, and again on Friday last, poultry farmers have had no relief, either in regard to quantity, quality, or price. The reasons for the prolonged inquiry and indefinite results are plainly given in an article on "Emergency Measures" in Monday's "Herald."

The commission has again adjourned; this time to get technical evidence of what pollard is or should be. These delays are so worrying and wearying the poultry farmers that numbers of them now despair of getting any help from the commission, and are rushing their stock to market wholesale, irrespective of the low rates obtaining. The business columns of to-day's and last Saturday's "Herald" also testify to the large number of small poultry-farms now on the market, due largely to the food question.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. C. (Enfield), L. E. J. (Sydney), R. E. O. (Sydney).—Received and noted.

Novice (Bellevue Hill).—You can get light leather leads at a number of Sydney shops.

Scotia (Mosman).—We do not know of any Dandie Dinmont terriers in the State. The last importations from Scotland were made by the Rev. Kemp Bruce.

Mr. S. T. Fitzpatrick, of Woollahra, has transferred his flat-coated retriever, Picture, to Mr. A. A. Weynton, of Lindfield.

The winning dog at the Fox-terrier Club's parade on Saturday, Mr. W. Page's St. Mary's Maxim, has been secured by Mr. S. Dowling, Maclean, Clarence River.

SCOTTISH TERRIER CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Scottish Terrier Club of New South Wales was held last Thursday at Bateman's Hotel. Mr. H. A. Richardson was appointed judge of the club's breed at the forthcoming combined show. Colonel Macarthur-Onslow was elected president, and Mr. J. Crawford hon. secretary. Mr. W. P. M'Crea, the retiring president, was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his good work during his term of office. It was pointed out at the meeting that, owing to recent high-class importations, the outlook for Scottish terriers was very promising.

FOX-TERRIER CLUB.

Mr. L. E. Jones, hon. secretary of the Fox-terrier Club of New South Wales, writes:—At last week's meeting of the Fox-terrier Club numerous entries were made in the sires and dams' produce stakes. These classes promise well for the June show, as entries of litters are considerably above those of last year. It is almost assured that the prize-money will be a record.

The sweepstake and parade held by the club last Saturday brought a number of fanciers together. A feature of the gathering was the exhibition of new and promising young terriers.

COLLIE CLUB.

At the last meeting of the Collie Club of New South Wales, the president, Mr. W. Jefford, was in the chair. The prizes won at the last show were paid over to the winners. Preliminary arrangements were made for the combined show, to be held next month. Special prizes have been offered for competition by Mr. and Mrs. Jefford and Mr. R. G. Geddes. Mr. W. Cheeseman made a donation to the club funds. For some time past the Collie Club has endeavoured to bring about an amalgamation with the Australian Scotch Collie Club. Nothing definite, however, has been arrived at.

SHOW PREPARATION.

Just now fanciers are having a busy time preparing their dogs for exhibition at the approaching shows. These include the Toy Dog Show, the Combined Clubs' Show, and the Royal Agricultural. Putting a dog in the ring in first-class trim is not the easy task that many think. Plenty of exercise in the cool part of the morning or evening is necessary to get the dog in good hard condition. Many varieties need considerable grooming, and the coat also must be attended to. It is not uncommon in the show ring to see a good dog lose its chance of winning owing to timidity and nervousness. To overcome this, the dog should be taken out often amongst strangers.

SMALLPOX.

BLACKTOWN, Tuesday.

Albert Lake, of Seven Hills, has been removed to the Quarantine Hospital, suffering from what is said to be an attack of smallpox. He had been engaged for some months at the brickworks, Granville.

INCOME TAX RETURNS.

Thomas Long, 45, and William Wild, 50, were charged, at the Central Police Court, before Mr. A. N. Barnett, S.M., with falsely pretending to Margaret Syms, Paddington, on January 27, that they were employed by the Commissioners of Taxation, and were authorised to call upon her.

Mr. Robison, of the Crown Law Department, appeared for the prosecution, and the accused were defended by Mr. Ryan.

The evidence showed that Long and Wild represented that they were officers of the Taxation Department, and obtained permission to fill in a form for Margaret Syms, for which a fee of 5s was paid.

Mr. Barnett remarked that although there was only the evidence of one witness against that of the two accused, he had no hesitation in convicting; and the accused were remanded until Friday, so that they may produce certificates of previous good character.

A further charge against Long and Wild was that on January 15, at Kensington, they falsely represented to Mary Bowles that they were officers from the Government, and were entitled to charge a fee of 5s for drawing up particulars for the income tax.

The accused reserved their defence, and were committed for trial at the next Quarter Sessions, bail being allowed, £80 each, and one surety each in £80.

Another charge was preferred against Long and Wild that they falsely pretended to William Keegan, at Kensington, on January 15, that they were officers of the Taxation Department. The accused were discharged.

At 10.30 p.m. last Saturday a man fired a shot through the glass door of the Forest Lodge Hotel, Arundel-street, Glebe. The bullet grazed an arm of Mr. Thomas Condon, the licensee, who was locking the hotel door at the time.

Aroney v Prineas.

Argument was concluded, and judgment reserved.

DISPUTE OVER SALE OF LAND.

QUESTION OF WARRANTY.

Mr. Maughan and Mr. Harry Stephen, instructed by Messrs. Weaver and Allworth, as agents for Messrs. Pile and Westgarth, of Blayney, appeared on behalf of Florence Beatrice Glasson in an appeal against a verdict given by a jury for £105, in an action tried last term before Mr. Justice Sly and a jury. The successful plaintiffs in the action in the Jury Court, now respondents, were James Bulloch, senior, James Bulloch, junior, and Duncan and William Bulloch, trading as storekeepers at Blayney as James Bulloch and Sons. Mr. Delohery and Mr. Carlos, instructed by Messrs. Barry and Norris, as agents for Mr. M. A. Casey, of Orange, appeared for respondent plaintiffs.

The action arose out of a sale of the subdivision of Hazlewood Estate, conducted at Blayney in November, 1912, by Messrs. J. L. Leeds and Co., auctioneers at Orange, in conjunction with Mr. H. R. M. Piggott, auctioneer at Blayney. Plaintiffs' declaration was that they attended the sale, and purchased the first farm put up, viz., one of 416 acres, at £9 15s per acre. They alleged that they were induced to pay this price for the farm because an authorised circular describing the lots to be auctioned, stated that 250 acres of this 416-acre farm were cleared and were ready for the "set" plough. This meant, they contended, that the 250 acres had been thoroughly cleared of all stumps and roots, because a set plough would not work on land from which all stumps and roots had not been removed. Plaintiffs immediately let the farm to another man on the halves system, and mixed farming was begun. It was then discovered, however, that only 170 acres answered the description of the sale circular. It was admitted that plaintiffs earned a profit of £250 from the first year's farming, after allowing for expenses and deductions, and giving the working farmer his half of the proceeds. Plaintiffs claimed compensation for the profits that would have been made had the 250 acres been ready for immediate cropping, and the jury awarded £105.

The appeal to the Full Court was now based on the ground that the statements made in the circular describing the land did not constitute a warranty, and that they were no part of the contract entered into between the vendor and purchasers of the land. The Full Court was asked to say there was no warranty that 250 acres were ready for the set plough, and that his Honor should have directed the jury to that effect.

The case stands part heard.

IN EQUITY.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

GOLDEN SPRINGS MINING COMPANY, NO LIABILITY.

PETITION FOR WINDING UP.

Mr. Betts, instructed by Messrs. Weaver and Allworth, agents for Messrs. Pile and Westgarth, of Blayney, appeared on behalf of William M'Intyre, of Wellington, in a petition for the winding up, under the direction of the Court, of the Golden Springs Mining Company, No Liability.

There was no appearance on behalf of the respondent company.

The petition set out that the company was incorporated on March 28, 1913, as a no liability company, the registered office being at 78 Bridge-street, Sydney. The company carried on operations till July last at Brown's Creek, near Blayney. The nominal capital was £10,000, divided into 1000 shares of £10 each. The company expended about £2000 in mining operations in the district, and held a number of mining leases, upon which had been erected a quantity of valuable machinery and plant. On November 27, one, John Whear Roberts, sued the company in the Warden's Court for the district for salary due to him and recovered a verdict against the company for £358 12s, which, it was alleged, still remained unpaid. The company was indebted to the petitioner in the sum of £110 for wages due for work done as underground manager of the company. On December 21 last the petitioner caused to be served a demand for the payment of the said sum, but the company had for three weeks neglected to pay it, or secure a compound to the reasonable satisfaction of the petitioner, and the money was still due. Petitioner submitted that the company was unable to pay its debts, and it was just and equitable that it should be wound up. The petitioner, therefore, prayed that the company be wound up by the Court, and that Mr. William Harrington Palmer be appointed official liquidator.

His Honor made the usual winding-up order, and appointed Mr. Palmer official liquidator.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before Mr. Justice Street.)

Re Joseph Earle Hermann, ex parte Reuter's Bank, Limited.

APPEAL AGAINST SEQUESTRATION ORDER.

Mr. Wise, K.C., and Mr. Norris, instructed by Messrs. H. Richardson Clark, and Fitzgerald, appeared on behalf of Joseph Earle Hermann, who appealed against the sequestration order made by the Registrar in Bankruptcy against him on November 21 last on the petition of Reuter's Bank, Limited, on the following, among other, grounds:—That, inasmuch as no proof was given at the hearing of the petition of the debt to the petitioning creditor, the Registrar was in error in making a sequestration order; that the Registrar was in error in holding that a good petitioning debt was owing by the debtor to the petitioning creditor; that the Registrar should have dismissed the petition, or adjourned the hearing thereof, for the reason that rule 149 of the general rules in bankruptcy had not been complied with; that the petition should have been dismissed for the reason that there was no evidence that the John Arthur Barraclough, who signed the same, was authorised within the meaning of section 154 of the Bankruptcy Act to act for the petitioning company; that the Registrar should have adjourned the hearing of the petition to enable the debtor to have given notice to Barraclough to attend for cross-examination; that the Registrar was in error in refusing to allow the debtor to show cause against the petition on the grounds duly filed in his office and properly presented to the Court; that the Registrar was in error in refusing to stay proceedings in this matter, when notice of appeal to the High Court had been filed against the decision of his Honor Mr. Justice Harvey dismissing the motion to set aside the Bankruptcy notice; and that the Registrar should have adjourned the hearing of the petition for the reason that it was contrary to natural justice that the appellant and his witnesses should be embarrassed by bankruptcy proceedings on the eve of the criminal trial of the judgment debtor.

Mr. Lamb, K.C., and Mr. Weigall, instructed by Messrs. Macnamara and Smith, appeared on behalf of Reuter's Bank, Limited, to oppose.

His Honor reserved his decision.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Murray and a jury.)

A LETTER-CARRIER'S CLAIM.

Stewart v Carroll.

The hearing was concluded of the action in which Archie Wilkie Stewart, letter-carrier, of Bexley, sued John Louis Carroll, ironmonger, of Rockdale, trading as "Carroll and Company," for the recovery of £750, for injuries occasioned to plaintiff through the alleged negligence of the defendant in the care, control, and management of a horse and cart at Rockdale, on April 30 last, when plaintiff was knocked down and seriously injured.

Mr. Breckenridge, instructed by Messrs. Taylor and Greenwell, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Young, instructed by Mr. A. J. M'Donald, for the defendant, who denied the alleged negligence, and pleaded that the mishap was the result of a pure accident, defendant's horse having bolted.

The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

(Before Judge Docker.)

IMPORTANT MUNICIPAL DECISION.

Petersham Council v Ogden.

This was a case in which the council of the Municipality of Petersham sought to recover £19 2s from Frederick Ogden, of Fairlawn, Waratah-street, Rushcutter Bay, Sydney, alleged to be the amount owing by the defendant for rates due, and interest on the same, to the council in respect of certain property in Crystal-street, Petersham, for 1913 and 1914.

The defence was never indebted, on the ground that the defendant had not been served with the prescribed notice of ownership, under the provisions of the Local Government Act. It was stated that notice of the assessment had been served on the prior owner of the property after it had been sold to the defendant, but not on the defendant.

His Honor said it was alleged that the defendant was sued as owner of the property. It was admitted that in 1913 and 1914 the defendant was the owner of the lands in question. His defence was that he received no notice of the assessment, as required by the Local Government Act. It appeared that the former owner never notified the council that he had sold the property, consequently the defendant had never been registered as the owner. His Honor held that the notice upon the predecessor in title was not equivalent to a notice upon the defendant; and that, therefore, the latter had not been served with a notice as required by law, and that he was not the owner within the Act until his name was inscribed as such in the council's books. On these grounds, the plaintiff council must be non-suited.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Backhouse and a jury.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

CHARGE OF RECEIVING.

Henry Cohen, of Newtown, was charged with receiving a horse and sulky and certain other articles, the property of Thomas John Kohan, knowing that they were stolen.

Mr. J. W. Abigail appeared for the defence.

After the case had proceeded a short time his Honor said that he was convinced that the accused was absolutely innocent of the charge. The jury, with two exceptions, concurred with this view. The evidence was then completed, and the jury, after a brief retirement, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Mr. Sydney Mack, barrister-at-law, has been appointed Crown Prosecutor at the ensuing Court of Quarter Sessions at Bathurst.

In Friday's issue we reported the case of a schoolmaster who was acquitted on two charges of assault against a girl pupil. The name of the school was incorrectly given as Picton Superior Public school.

PIMPLES STARTED Awful Torture from Burning ECZEMA

CHILDREN'S TERRIBLE SUFFERING—COVERED FROM HEAD TO FOOT—SKIN WAS RED-RAW.

Meta and Winnie Colmo cured by Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk Works a Wonderful Cure and Earns a Mother's Gratitude.

MRS. G. COLMO, of Croudace-street, Lambton, Newcastle, N.S.W., tells of a wonderful experience she had with Zam-Buk in the case of her two children. She says:—"Both my children, Meta and Winnie, were attacked by a painful skin disease. The outbreak first appeared in the form of little pimples, which filled with water and broke out into running sores. The disease developed until they were covered from head to foot with eczema. They suffered in a terrible manner from the irritation, and were nearly driven out of their minds, for all day and night they cried from the misery endured. I used to sit up half the night rubbing them with all sorts of things to try and bring ease to their tortured bodies.

"Every time they scratched themselves the disease spread and continued to do so. The skin would get crusty and the surface would break or peel, leaving the sores in a fearful red-raw state. Of all the remedies we tried, not one of them gave any relief, until we commenced using Zam-Buk. This wonderful balm soon withdrew all bad matter and set up a splendid healing process, which, as the treatment was continued, went on day by day until the eczema was completely cured, and no trace of the sores was left. Zam-Buk is, indeed, a wonderful healer, and every home should always keep a supply handy."

EVERY HOME NEEDS ZAM-BUK.

NAIL IN HEEL Caused Blood-Poison. HOLES EATEN TO BONE—ORDINARY OINTMENTS USELESS—ANOTHER ZAM-BUK TRIUMPH IN A SYDNEY HOME.

"My little boy James had a nail in his boot, which penetrated the heel," says Mrs. R. Bryant, of 16 Judd-street, Sydney, N.S.W. "Blood-poisoning set in, and holes seemed to be eaten right to the bone. Nasty sores formed and developed into one mass of corruption. Matter was discharged, while inflammation spread up the ankle and foot. A very unpleasant odour was given off; this became so bad that I had to leave it to my husband to dress James' foot. Poulticing was resorted to, which made matters worse, and the wound increased in size. I took James to a prominent doctor and to a children's hospital, but the treatment from both sources was not of the slightest use, although it was continued for six months. The pain and torture were so bad that he cried continually day and night, and was not able to get a decent night's rest.

"Then it was we were recommended to try Zam-Buk, which we did, with an excellent soothing effect. This excellent balm took away the pain, and extracted all bad matter, and James was soon able to sleep, and was not so cross as he had been. As we continued using Zam-Buk, the inflammation gradually decreased, and the wound became less every day. The wonderful influence of Zam-Buk continually exerted itself until the injury was completely healed, and his heel perfectly well."

Dr. Andrew Wilson, the well-known medical writer, and author of "Homely Talks on First Aid," says: "Whenever a pot of Zam-Buk is handy, this preparation may be relied upon as an antiseptic dressing, which requires no preparation, and has the additional advantage of possessing unique healing properties."

Too much stress cannot be laid on the grave dangers of neglecting any scratch or cut. Once disease germs enter a wound serious complications may arise, and many instances are on record where such carelessness has resulted in the loss of a limb.

The best safeguard against blood-poison and festering is the timely application of Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is invaluable for eczema, piles, ringworm, ulcers, bad legs, sores, old wounds, diseased ankles cracked skin, sore feet, scabs, itch, sore heads, cuts, burns, bruises, scalds, etc. Sold by all chemists and stores, or post free direct from C. E. FULFORD (Aus.), Ltd., 39 Pitt-street, Sydney. 1/6 and 2/6 per pot.

HAIR FALLING BADLY?

"My hair was coming out in handfuls. I used 3 bottles of KOKO, and find my hair is better now than ever it was."

"All my friends marvel at the way Koko has been making my hair grow. The first bottle proved to me that KOKO is the best hair tonic. It certainly is the pleasantest dressing to use when the hair is falling out."

"My hair used to be very poor, and barely to my shoulders. Since using KOKO it is thick and wavy, down to my waist."

"My hair is lovely now, and abundance of new hair is growing, although I have a bag full of hair that fell out before I used KOKO."

"My friends say it is a delight to see my hair down. Everyone remarks on its thickness, although it fell out dreadfully before I used KOKO for the hair." (NAMES GIVEN.)

KOKO for the Hair!

The Famous British Hair Preparation.

CLEAR AS CRYSTAL—ODORLESS.
NEITHER OILY NOR GREASY.

The cool, refreshing effect of KOKO on the scalp creates an insistent inclination to use it as a daily dressing for the hair, thus keeping the scalp always clean and invigorated, and the hair in that healthy condition necessary to ensure an abundant growth.

Sufficient brushing of the hair with a suitable hair brush is of vital importance if the full beauty of the hair is to be discovered. No other treatment can take the part of an intelligent use of the hair brush. We know of remarkable instances of rapid improvement in the growth and beauty of the hair when Koko has been assiduously brushed into the scalp with a suitable hair brush.

We offer the KOKO BRUSH as representing the utmost satisfaction obtainable in hair brushes for the price—6/6—posted from the Koko Depot. Composed of carefully selected Russian Hog Bristles, permanently set in a solid wood back, the KOKO HAIR BRUSH must give pleasing service for years.

You will find PI-NO SHAMPOO POWDERS more convenient than soap for washing the hair. They are composed of ingredients that cleanse the scalp from every atom of dust and dandriff, yet leave the hair in a condition to dry soft and glossy, and quite easy to dress. Sold by all chemists in 3d packets—enough for 2 shampoos. A free sample packet is obtainable if you ask at the Koko Depot when you obtain

LIQUOR FOR BLACKS.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

For some months it has been apparent that the aborigines camped in the vicinity of Mannum have been supplied with intoxicating liquors, and at 2 a.m. on Saturday Trooper Field discovered a white man at the camp, who struck Field.

Frank Smith appeared before the Mannum Police Court on Saturday afternoon, and pleaded guilty to charges of assault and having supplied natives with liquor. A gallon flagon, half emptied, was found in their possession. A sentence of two months' imprisonment in each instance was imposed. The sentences were made concurrent.

CASTLEREAGH.

PROGRESS OF CAMPAIGN.

PARTY ADDRESSES.

DUBBO, Tuesday.

Mr. A. E. Hunt, president of the F. and S. Association, addressed a meeting at Brocklehurst last night in support of Mr. Blacket. He said no one regretted more than he the cause of the election, but he resented the repeated statements that farmers and settlers were discourteous toward the widow of the late Minister, or that they were wanting in sympathy for Mrs. Trefle. Members of Parliament persisted in stating that the Farmers and Settlers had refused to pass a vote of sympathy with Mrs. Trefle. This was based solely on a few remarks by members of one branch—remarks that had not been intended for publication, and which, when published, were not a correct account of what had transpired. He repeated that he deeply resented such tactics. As regards Mr. Blacket it had been said that he was a turncoat. Mr. Blacket was never a straight-out Liberal candidate. He, like many others, had contested the seat at the last election as the joint candidate. This time Mr. Blacket was selected by 23 to 5 by farmers' representatives as a straight-out Country party candidate. He had emerged from the conservatism of Liberalism, and he was progressive, but he was not a turncoat. He was free from the failures of Liberalism, and was not tainted with the socialism of the Labour party. He was confident the Country party was coming, and what time could be better than the present? There was a strong feeling throughout the State, in the city as well as the country, that Liberalism was a little too conservative, that Labour was altogether too socialistic, and that there was an opening for the middle party—the Country party which represented the interests of all classes.

Mr. Hunt said that even Ministers were making statements which were not in accordance with fact. Mr. Hall was saying that all the farmers had to do was to deliver their wheat to the Government agents, and to take their money home with them. This was not a fact, as farmers in the district could testify. Referring to the wheat seizure, Mr. Hunt said the Government had robbed 2 per cent. of the population—that was the wheat farmers—to give bread a half-penny a loaf cheaper, not to the poor man alone, but to the wealthy classes as well, and they robbed the farmers of about a million pounds to save to the consumers £380,000. It was not justice to rob 2 per cent. of the population to please the rest by giving them a third of what they took from the farmers.

SAVING THE FARMER.

COONAMBLE, Tuesday.

Mr. W. G. Ashford, Minister for Agriculture, addressed a very large audience in the Majestic Hall last evening, Mr. S. R. Shuthorpe presiding. He was accompanied by Mr. Osborne, M.L.A., who also delivered a short address. Mr. Ashford defended the Wheat Acquisition Bill, stating that the Government had passed the bill as a last resource to save the farmers from bankruptcy. He said all the farmer had to do was to deliver his wheat and take his cheque home with him.

The town is full of politicians, and much interest is being taken in the election, the result of which is expected to be very close.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—No doubt every attempt will be made by the advocates of the Labour party to create differences between the supporters of the Liberal party and the Country party in the Castlereagh electorate. Only that the issues at stake are so great, we would have had some amongst us decrying the English fighting the Germans, as the Russians and French were doing the same. But what would be thought of either the English or the French if, by a certain action, there was every chance of inflicting a great blow at the Germans, and they refrained from doing so because one of these nations would have to take precedence of the other in so doing. It is unthinkable—and yet, in the last Burrangong election, we had some Liberals refraining from voting because the candidate opposed to Labour had not gone out with the Liberal ticket on his back. When they ran their own man for the past 20 years they were defeated—and that at the election before last, badly, whereas, the Country party candidate last election was only defeated by 40 odd votes. And with the support the Liberals I refer to, could have given, he would have been elected. Don't let the same thing occur in this Castlereagh election. As one who stood as the Liberal candidate for the Murray last election, and knowing every point will be taken by the Labour party to win this election, nothing given away by them, it behoves every elector not supporters of that party to vote for Mr. Blacket. And surely the residents in the various towns in an electorate depending on the success of the primary producers for their own prosperity must see that, by the seizure of the farmers' wheat, to curry favour with the Trades Hall, a blow has been struck at our farmers. Disguise it as they may, the Labour party (Federal and State) have their knife into the men on the land. It gets them votes in Sydney and suburbs. Should it not, therefore, lose them votes in the country? I am, etc.,

INCREASED WAGES SOUGHT.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Mr. Justice Powers, in the Arbitration Court yesterday, continued the hearing of a plaint by the Australian Letter-carriers' Association against the Public Service Commissioner and the Postmaster-General for increases in salary, reduction of hours, and better conditions of work.

Mr. Skewes, who represented the Public Service Commissioner, said the permanent officers of the service, who would be affected by the plaint numbered 2619, of whom 1709 were letter-carriers, and 627 assistants. The cost of granting the claims by the association for increased salaries would be £103,000 for the first year, increasing in the second and third years to £112,000 and £118,000, respectively. Of the amount of £103,000 involved in the first year £70,000 represented increased pay for letter-carriers, with higher rates of £76,000, and £79,000 for second and third years. Evidence would be tendered to show that since Federation letter-carriers had benefited by considerable increases of salary. The amount of £103,000, already mentioned, included assistants in mail branches, but not country and suburban assistants. If the latter were included it would involve another £25,000 increased pay, or £128,000 in all for the first year of the operation of the award. The Public Service Commissioner considered that the reductions in hours of duty asked for were quite unjustifiable, and distinctly opposed to the public interest. It was estimated that the reduction of letter-carriers' hours to 40 per week would mean £23,000 per annum increased expenditure for the capital cities and suburbs, without taking country letter-carriers into account. It was intended to prove that never in the history of the Postal Department had letter-carriers worked such short hours as during the past two or three years. Last year the total amount paid in increments in the Postal Department was £175,000, and of this amount £144,000 went to the general division. The taking of evidence was commenced, and the case stands part heard.

YOUNG LIBERAL MOVEMENT.

The members of the Balmain Young People's Liberal Association, an organisation which has made rapid strides since its establishment three months ago, held a mock banquet in the local Town Hall on Monday evening. Mr. G. P. Palmer occupied the chair, and the attendance numbered about 100.

In submitting the toast of the "Young Liberal Club Movement," Mr. Archdale Parkhill said the movement for the formation of young people's clubs was one of the most important in Liberal organising work. The Liberal party recognised that the infusion of young and vigorous blood was essential to the life and activity of the party. Every effort was now being made to infuse a greater interest in politics among the young Liberals. There was ample room in the party for young people, whose presence and counsel would be welcomed and encouraged.

Several toasts were honoured, and a pleasant evening was spent.

TELEPHONISTS.

AGE LIMIT REDUCED.

The age limit of candidates for appointment as telephonists has been reduced.

With the establishment of automatic exchanges, however, in the larger cities, and their probable rapid increase in the future, this obstacle to the reduction of the age limit has been removed, and it is the intention at future examinations to accept only those candidates who have reached their sixteenth but not their nineteenth birthday.

PARIPAN IS BETTER.

Paripan—the wonderful Lacquer Enamel—is far better than all paints and distempers—you can prove it.

Paripan lasts three or four times as long, and only costs about the same as first-class paint. Paripan is easy to apply, and is supplied quite ready for use in White and all Colours. Flat or Glossy effects.

Paripan is fresh looking all the time—it does not appear dead and dull a few weeks after being applied. Paripan can be washed and kept free from dust and germs without sacrificing its attractiveness.

Economy, efficiency, artistic qualities, and cleanliness are the advantages resultant from the use of Paripan. Specify Paripan for your decorative work. Write and ask for particulars.

APPLICATION FOR LEASE FOR OYSTER CULTURE

It is hereby notified for general information that the undermentioned person has applied to lease for oyster culture the portion of land described below. A tracing showing the position of the portion may be inspected at this Department (Fisheries Branch) daily, excepting Saturdays, between 11 and 3 o'clock, and on Saturdays between 11 and 12 o'clock. Any person may, by memorial to the Chief Secretary, within thirty days from the date of this notice, and on grounds to be stated in such memorial, pray that a lease of the portion may not be granted. All objections on account of interference with alleged hauling grounds must be accompanied by a statutory declaration by one or more of the licensed fishermen so objecting, that they have personally known bona fide hauls to have been made over the area during the preceding twelve months. They must also be prepared to make a test haul with their own nets when requested to do so.

G. H. S. KING,
Under-Secretary.

FARM AND STATION.

WHEAT BREEDING.

The important work of wheat-breeding is being steadily carried on at the various experiment farms throughout the State. A new strain of Federation appears to have now been fixed from this well-known variety of wheat, which, according to the departmental experts, has been noticeably varying in recent years. The new strain resembles the original Federation, except that the grain is harder and of better milling quality, the ear is not quite as dense as in the old strain, and the wheat matures earlier. It has been named "Hard Federation," and its yielding qualities, in comparison with the ordinary type, are being tested in the breeding plots at the Bathurst and Wagga farms. Hard Federation seems to take after its sire, Yandilla, and if it yields as well as the original Federation it is expected to prove to be a valuable variety; this point will have to be determined by further tests in field areas. It has yielded best at the Cowra Experiment Farm in the field variety tests for the past two years. The department has hitherto been unsuccessful in improving the grain quality of Federation by means of crossing, which has usually resulted in "grass clump" plants. Bomen wheat, grown for the first time on farmers' experiment plots last season, gave a good account of itself in the districts for which it is adapted. Though a good yielder with strong straw, it is slightly inclined to shake out its grain, and is somewhat subject to frosting. A feature of the past year was the strong inquiry by coastal farmers for seed of varieties, such as Thew, Huguenot, and Warren to grow for green fodder, silage, and hay. Rust-escaping wheats are giving more satisfaction on the coast than oats, which take rust badly.

AGRICULTURAL BUREAU.

Gratifying progress has been made with the formation of branches of the Agricultural Bureau. No less than 25 branches were established last year, and the membership of the bureau increased by 850. The most notable feature in connection with the matter, however, from the departmental point of view, is the fact that 192 lectures and demonstrations were delivered to the branches, as compared with 102 in the previous year. This means that, although there was an increase in the number of branches of about 35 per cent., the number of lectures and demonstrations increased by 90 per cent., thus showing that the efforts to educate the farming community in the matter of agricultural practice are being appreciated. In fact, it may be said that the branches of the bureau form the principal medium through which the experts and field officers get into personal touch with agriculturists. It must be remembered that, although these lectures and demonstrations were arranged under the auspices of the bureau, they were open to all persons in the surrounding districts who cared to attend, so that the bureau was able to come in contact with a large number of farmers and others interested in agriculture. Unfortunately, the department is handicapped through lack of officers. What is wanted is an energetic officer who will be able to devote the whole of his time to the work of organising and controlling the branches of the bureau, and more officers who can lecture and talk to the members are required. As the number of branches increases these wants will be more keenly felt, and it is therefore to be hoped that every effort will be made by the Government to meet the requirements of the department in this direction.

BLACKBERRY INDUSTRY.

The blackberry season on the South Coast this year promises to be equal to almost any previous yield. The excessive rains that fell during the past four months have greatly extended the growth of the vines, and there are acres of land on the mountain side covered with nothing but blackberry vines. During the season, which generally lasts from six to eight weeks, the pickers, who include men, women, and children, sometimes reside temporarily in tents near those parts where the crop is most prolific, and combine pleasure with remuneration. Some of the pickers are making from 10/ to 12/6 per day. Up to the present nearly 150 tons has been despatched from Bulli alone to the various Sydney jam manufacturers. Owing to the number of unemployed now in the district on account of the depression in trade, the opportunity to secure a little remuneration in this way is regarded as very welcome.

WOOL GROWN ON THE COAST.

Mr. Alec. Hay (Coolangatta) writes:—

Your report of the wool sales on the 12th inst. records the fact that 7287 bales were sold, including private transactions. The highest prices reported were as follows:—New Zealand Loan, 6 bales at 13d; Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, 8 bales at 13½d; Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, 9 bales at 13½d; Winchcombe, Carson, and Co., 7 bales at 13½d; Winchcombe, Carson, and Co., 7 bales at 13d. The Coolangatta Estate forwarded to this sale 88 bales, 43 of which were sold at 12¾d, so that out of this large catalogue of 7287 bales, only 37 bales beat the Coastal grown wool. Messrs. Schute, Bell's report of November 5, 1907, states: "A. Hay, Coolangatta, 16 bales 14d, 11 bales 13½d, good, useful quality, dry condition, fair length," this being the top price obtained at the sale. The wool sold on the 12th inst. was grown on the same indifferent coastal country as that sold in November, 1907, with a frontage to the ocean from the Crookhaven River to the north head of Jervis Bay, and it has been continuously used for sheep for the past 10 years, and most of the wool recently sold is from locally-bred sheep. There are many millions of acres along our seaboard of far superior quality to the land used in the present instance, and more adaptable to sheep and wool growing, yet one hears repeatedly the old fallacy that coastal lands are unsuitable for sheep. It might be interesting to the public if some of our experts would take the trouble of reporting on this question, and the suitability of the coastal country, and so enlighten those who would if certain of the results take up and improve some of this cheap land for the production of crossbred wool.

THE WHEAT AREA.

Mr. S. C. Browning, Uralla, writes:—I notice that Mr. Carmichael makes a final appeal to the farmers to put an increased area under wheat this year. This is nothing short of a downright insult to the farmer, and a reflection on his intellect, after the way the Government have taken his wheat at a price about two-thirds of its market value. Does he think that the farmers are a pack of fools to be persuaded by him and his crowd to strive and struggle to put every inch they can under wheat for the Government to take it from them as they have done this year. Mr. Carmichael says that the Government are doing all they can to help and encourage the farmers to put more wheat in, but he is very silent about what they are doing to prevent him from doing it by depriving him of the full value of his wheat, thus leaving him without the means to carry on with. He says that they have assured the farmer a minimum price for all wheat grown on an increased area. I would ask him how much encouragement that is when the minimum price is so low that in all probability the market price will exceed it by from 6d to 1s per bushel. Not much encouragement when he is being this year deprived of at least 2s 6d per bushel. As for seed wheat, farmers that can only put in the same area they had last year or under are charged 6d and 9d per bushel more than they are receiving for their wheat, and the farmer has to do the carting both ways. I would ask any fair-minded man what confidence can the farmer have in any Government that is treating him in such a disgraceful way.

I would ask the Government why can't they do the right thing, and give the farmer the value of his wheat, and let him have seed wheat at cost price. Then there would be some sense in telling him to be patriotic which I am afraid they are not, and put in more wheat.

CAPTURING ENEMY'S TRADE.

LONDON, Jan. 8.

The Commonwealth officials here are continuing their efforts to secure for Australia further openings for trade. In reference to the application of the South Australian Fruit Growers' Association to supply the army and navy with fruit and jams the War Office has replied that the anticipated requirements are already full for some time to come; but the Admiralty has asked for samples to be sent. There does not appear to be any here, so a cable has been sent to Australia to forward some.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

The Minister for Agriculture (Mr. J. White), illustrating the development of the dairying industry, said a record shipment of butter in the steamer Carpentaria, totalling 36,500 boxes, represented over 2,000,000lb weight, and was valued on the spot at £108,000. Mr. White said the cheese industry was also making strides.

FARMERS' PESTS.

BATHURST, Monday.

Another serious pest that has developed on the stations around Bathurst is the badger. Mr. H. Burcher, of Oberon, states that netting has not stopped the badger, but has forced him to climb. Mr. Burcher asserts that he would have subdivided his property into 1000-acre paddocks with netting, but, owing to the prevalence of badgers, such a course would have been useless. The rabbit inspector for the district states that farmers have suffered considerable losses through the Rosella parrots, which, besides attacking fruit, have damaged the oat crops. Lately they have turned their attention to peas and other garden vegetables. One landholder who had saved a crop of turnips for seed found that the parrots destroyed the whole.

MR. COWLEY.

MURWILLUMBAH.—About 30 members of the Tweed tick inspector's staff entertained Mr. P. Cowley, supervising inspector of stock, on Saturday night, and presented him with a purse of sovereigns on his resignation from the department.

General regret was expressed that Mr. Cowley had seen it incumbent on him to resign, and the majority of the officers testified to the excellence of his supervision, and the fact that farmers were anything but pleased that he had been allowed to sever his control of tick matters in the tick quarantine area.

In response to the toast of his health, Mr. Cowley said he wished to clear the ground concerning his resignation. With respect to the Minister's statement that his (Cowley's) request for greater recognition was a new one, and that the request was made at an inopportune time, that statement by the Minister was misleading and incorrect, said Mr. Cowley.

THE WHEAT SEIZURE.

FARMERS HOLDING WHEAT.

CULCAIRN.—It is freely reported in this district that farmers who are in a position to do so are holding back their wheat from sale in the expectation of a favourable decision by the Interstate Commission. The harvest in that centre is now assessed at 17,000 bags, well over 100,000 short of last year, and 12,000 bags were estimated to have been sold prior to, and since, the passing of the Wheat Acquisition Act. Most of the wheat bought by the Government has been trucked to Sydney millers, and it comprises mostly good samples. Round Culcairn only about 18,000 to 20,000 bags are estimated to have been harvested, and things locally are very quiet. Farmers are expecting rain next month, and in spite of the bad times they have gone through with drought, and their troubles over the Wheat Acquisition Act, are preparing to face hopefully the coming year. It has hit many of the farmers on the Kirndeen subdivision badly; they paid big prices for their land, and have only had moderate seasons up to the present one, which has been the climax.

DAIRYING.

The North Coast Co-operative Company manufactured for the month ended January 28 813 tons of butter. The amount paid for A1 butter was 11 5-8d per lb; the amount paid for No. 1 butter 10 5-8d; the pay for pork was 6½d per lb; and the turnover for the month £107,000.

CASINO.—For five weeks, ended January 30, the Casino Dairy Company, Limited, manufactured nearly 153 tons butter. The turnover for the period was £18,143. The factory paid 11 5-8d and 10 5-8d per lb. This output is a record, being 17 tons 4cwt more than the previous record in March, 1912.

MURWILLUMBAH.—Tweed Co-operative Butter Company reports for the month ended January 1: Butter manufactured was 182 tons, constituting a record for any month since the inception of the company. The pay for A1 was 1s, second-class 11d.

SCONE.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of Scone Co-operative Dairy Company, Mr. F. E. Ashford (chairman) presiding, the balance-sheet for the half-year to December 31 disclosed a profit of £549 4s 5d. During the half-year 436,681lb of butter were manufactured, showing an increase of 25,512lb over the preceding six months. A dividend of 10 per cent. was declared. Messrs. S. M'Namara and W. Quinn were elected as directors. The supply of cream continues to be very satisfactory.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BATHURST.—An employee on Mr. H. Cutler's Sornbank estate claims to have exterminated two thousand rabbits last week.

BLACKTOWN.—Dry, hot weather continues, and the pasturage is in need of rain. There are no fires around here, fortunately, to report. Horses, cattle, and sheep are all in excellent condition. Fruit crops are panning out somewhat better than was expected, particularly quinces, apples, pears, and peaches.

COOMA.—Hot, dry weather has prevailed in the Cooma district during the last few days. Rain is needed, as the country is becoming dry.

CHATSWORTH ISLAND.—The sugar-crushing season, which terminated last week, was the longest in duration since the establishment of the industry on the Clarence. The Colonial Sugar Company's works at Harwood Island treated 76,000 tons of raw material, occupying a period of 29 weeks. On the whole the quality of the cane was unsatisfactory, due principally to the plantations being badly damaged by a cyclone in June. The crops were blown down and tossed about, and in places where the yield was heavy it was impossible to strip the cane, so that the fields were deprived of the ripening influence of the sun and air. Very wet weather during the first half of the season was also responsible for the low sugar content. The harvesting gang earned good wages, Dorrington's party netting £157; Loy's were second with £150. The men worked by contract from 12 to 14 hours a day. Only strong young men can endure the trying labour of cane harvesting by contract, as the different gangs are in rivalry during the whole season, each party endeavouring to outdo the other in earning top money. So much of the crop being cut in January has militated against the prospects of the stubble crop, which will scarcely have sufficient vitality to withstand the slightest frost in winter should such occur.

NARRANDERA.—The annual meeting of members of Narrandera Pastoral and Agricultural Association was held at the Royal Hotel on Saturday. The president (Mr. A. W. Austin) referred to the prospects for this year's show. Owing to the very unsatisfactory season, and the withdrawal of the subsidy by the Government the position was not very bright. He trusted the stoppage of the subsidy was only temporary. He thought that the stoppage of the subsidy might be a benefit in the long run, as it may be the means of closing down smaller societies which were really unnecessary, and which it was a pity to have ever started. The following gentlemen were elected to the committee for 1915:—Messrs. A. W. Austin, Y. C. Lindeman, J. M'Kinney, T. H. Elwin, H. L. Tepper, H. M. Devlin, H. L. Culley, R. G. Balding, J. T. Bean, M. F. Murray, J. H. Robertson, J. Faulkener, J. T. Carroll, I. R. Bullivant, Hugh Andrew, E. C. H. Matthews, J. H. Sugden, G. Cow, Wm. Guest, R. H. Potter, W. J. Weir, W. V. Dicker, J. Taylor, H. D. Adams, W. J. Hogg, F. E. Sides, H. Ross Thomson, and R. H. Hankinson. Trustees, Messrs. H. L. Culley, A. W. Austin, and E. C. H. Matthews. Auditors, Messrs. G. H. Evans and Ginns.

PENRITH.—Two orchardists were proceeded against for not having presented a fruit-case according to the requirements of the Act. In one case, a fine of 10s was imposed, and in the other one of 5s. Costs were allowed in each case. In response to a circular letter from Hay Pastoral and Agricultural Association, the Nepean show committee has decided to co-operate in approaching the Minister for Agriculture with a request that show subsidies be continued.

AUSTRALIAN PRODUCE ABROAD.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Jan. 8.

Mr. Hurley, of the Produce Department of the New South Wales Agency-General, has returned from France, where he has been attached to the New South Wales Ambulance Corps. Considerable quantities of meat and other produce from Australia are now being imported into France. He will probably return to the front shortly.

CANNED MEATS.

Prices of canned meat have for some time been too high for much private consumption, and this, with much larger arrivals. There is marked increase in the quantity of beef received, but arrivals of mutton and other sorts are both less. A very large proportion of the arrivals of canned beef has been purchased by the Government for the services, all available sources of supply being tapped. It is stated in London that Chicago meat packers are being offered enormous prices by German buyers for canned meats. Most of the firms are open to sell, but the terms seem slightly prohibitive, namely, cash when goods are placed on rail at any station in U.S.A., or at any U.S.A. port before shipment, without guarantee as to delivery, and without liability for freight, capture, or seizure.

Short supplies have made all kinds of meat dearer. At Smithfield, Plate beef, hinds, have ranged from 4/8 to 5/2, and fores 3/8 to 4/. Plate frozen hinds have stood at from 3/10 to 4/, and fores 3/8; Australian hinds, 3/10 to 4/2, and crops 3/10 to 4/; New Zealand hinds, 4/2 to 4/4, and fores 3/8 to 3/10. New Zealand mutton has ranged from 3/7 to 4/, and ewes 3/6 to 3/7; Australian, 3/4 to 3/6; and Plate, 3/3 to 3/8. New Zealand lamb is from 4/2 to 4/6; Australian, 3/10 to 4/6; and Plate, 3/10 to 4/6. Some New Zealand frozen veal has brought /5 per lb. Steamers with refrigerated meat cargoes have suffered in the matter of discharge through the congestion at London docks and the shortage of labour there.

Cabling on the last day of 1914, the "Times" Buenos Ayres correspondent says the year's Argentine shipments of frozen and chilled beef to the United Kingdom totalled 4,180,000 quarters, compared with 4,395,000 quarters in 1913. Clearances of mutton for the year to the United Kingdom were 1,846,000 carcases, compared with 1,686,000 carcases the previous year. The year's lamb exports to this country were 741,000 carcases, against 580,000 the previous year. To the United States were shipped 809,000 carcases beef, 150,000 carcases of mutton, and 119,000 carcases of lamb.

CHEESE.

There is a firmer tone on the cheese market, and prices here and there show an improvement of at least 6d to 1/ per cwt. Finest Canadian white and coloured are held for 78/ to 80/, whilst New Zealand is firm at 76/ to 77/ for white, and 77/6 to 77/ for coloured. The first arrival of Australian cheese this season is now due per s.s. Roscommon, at Liverpool, and afterwards in London. None of this cheese has been marketed yet, but its values will probably rate at about 2/ to 3/ below New Zealand. The manufacture of cheese in Canada is declining. The maximum export of 233,980,716 pounds of cheese in 1904 has decreased to 144,478,340 pounds for the year ended March 31, 1914. "The increased demand of the home market accounts for a part of the shrinkage," says the "Grocer," "but the bulk of it is due to a small output. This falling-off is the result of milk being diverted to the milk condensing, milk powder factories, and creameries, and to supply the demand for milk and cream in the growing towns and cities. The growth in the number of city creameries is quite a marked development of the last two or three years."

COPRA.

Copra is firm and dearer. South Sea, December-January, sold at £23/12/6, and buyers, all c.i.f. London.

HIDES.

Business in hides has been quiet, but at auctions best hides secured ½d per lb advance, and second light ox and light cows were also dearer.

TALLOW.

The tallow market opened dull after the holidays, but with prices tending upwards. There were no public sales last week. During the present week the market has ruled firm, business being restricted owing to the transport difficulties. At Wednesday's auctions 1841 casks were offered, and met a good demand, 1192 being disposed of at about late rates for all descriptions, with the exception of good mixed, which were in short supply and made 6d advance, in one instance a rise of 1/ being noted. The warehoused stock gross weight is estimated at 3215 tons, being equivalent to an increase of 1889 casks during the month. Australasian quotations are:—Mutton, fine 37/6 to 39/, fair to good 33/ to 37/, common to middling 30/ to 32/6, low and inferior 27/6 to 29/6; beef, fine 37/6 to 38/6, fair to good 31/6 to 35/, common to middling 29/6 to 31/, low and inferior 27/ to 29/; mixed, fair to good, 31/6 to 33/9; common to middling 28/ to 30/6.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

Th following lectures and demonstrations have been arranged by the Department of Agriculture for the week ending February 20:—

Lower Portland.—Lecture on "Potato Culture," by Mr. A. J. Pinn, Inspector of Agriculture, to be delivered in the local School of Arts at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, 17th, under the auspices of the Agricultural Bureau.

Ponto.—Explosives demonstration, to be conducted by Mr. C. W. Burrows, on Wednesday, 17th, under the auspices of the local branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

Middle Dural.—Lecture by Mr. A. F. Massy, M.R.C.V.S., on "Contagious Abortion and Mammitis in Cattle," to be delivered at 7.30 p.m. on Thursday, 18th, under the auspices of the local branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

FRUIT-PACKING DEMONSTRATIONS.

By the Assistant Fruit Expert (Mr. J. G. R. Bryant).

Batlow.—At Mr. Coldham's orchard, on Tuesday and Wednesday, 16th and 17th, under the auspices of the local branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

Adelong.—At Mr. H. Tonkin's orchard, on Thursday, 18th.

By Mr. Le Gay Brereton.

Leech's Gully.—At Messrs. Weir Bros.' orchard, at 2.30 p.m., on Tuesday, 16th, under the auspices of the local branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

Uralla.—At Mr. Wilkinson's orchard, at 2.30 p.m. on Wednesday, 17th, under the auspices of the local branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

Mittagong.—At No. 8 Farm House, at 2.30 p.m., on Thursday, 18th, under the auspices of the local branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

Mount Keira.—At Mr. A. C. Brown's orchard, on Friday, 19th.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

MAIZE GROWING.

Venture.—If your idea is to secure a practical farmer as partner in maize growing, your best course would be to advertise to that effect, but you will require to be careful as to the class of man you co-operate with. We would advise you to interview the Chief Inspector of Agriculture (Mr. H. Ross), and obtain his advice, and the general secretary of the Farmers and Settlers' Association (Mr. T. I. Campbell) may be able to introduce you to a reliable man. If you intend taking an active share in the farm work (your letter is not quite clear on this point), we would strongly advise you to visit the Murrumbidgee irrigation area, and consider the advisability of taking up a block on the area, as your capital should be sufficient, and you will receive every assistance in the way of practical advice. At the same time, if you entirely lack farming experience, your wisest course, if you can arrange accordingly, would be to hold your money for a year or so, and obtain working experience on a farm. Our leading maize districts are the Macleay and Bega districts, on the coast, Tumut and Inverell on the tablelands, while the Yanco irrigation area has shown some good results in maize culture. The best form of maize farming is to grow it to feed dairy cattle or pigs, selling it "on the hoof."

RAILWAY SERVICE.

EMPLOYEES WANT EIGHT HOURS.

At yesterday's session of the annual conference of the Amalgamated Railway and Tramway Service Association, held at Bowen's-buildings, Railway-square, it was decided to ask Parliament to introduce a bill for the establishment of an eight-hour day in the railway service and in all public departments.

Another resolution carried was to the following effect:—

That a deputation wait on the State Labour party at once, and place before them the unfair treatment of the lower grade by putting them on short time; and we enter an emphatic protest against the Commissioners in granting highly-paid officers increases and making additional appointments, while the lower-paid grades are being reduced; and that we oppose any reduction whatever for now or any time.

The following motions were agreed to:—

That a uniform wage be established for all persons employed in the railway and tramway service.

That full civic rights be granted to all railway and tramway employees to allow them to be candidates for Parliament by granting them leave of absence for the necessary time during the elections, and, in the event of defeat, that they be allowed to take up their old positions again in the service.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, Mr. E. D. Campbell (re-elected unopposed); vice-presidents, Messrs. V. G. Cavanagh and J. M'Donald; treasurer, Mr. E. Lawless (re-elected); executive, Messrs. G. H. Stokes, S. H. O'Dell, and M. A. O'Donnell. An industrial committee of 24 was also elected by ballot. Mr. Claude Thomson continues in the position of general secretary, his office being an "appointment."

Last night, at the Trades Hall, the country delegates were entertained at a smoke social, when the president, Mr. E. D. Campbell, was presented with an illuminated address, a Cutler writing desk, and two chairs.

IMPERIAL INSTITUTE.

COMMERCIAL INVESTIGATION.

NEW BRANCH OF WORK.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

The Governor, Sir Henry Galway, has received the following letter from Mr. L. Harcourt, Secretary of State for the Colonies, dated December 31, 1914:—

"I have the honour to inform you that I have, for some time, had under consideration the question of empowering the authorities of the Imperial Institute to undertake investigations for private individuals and firms throughout his Majesty's Dominions on payment of suitable fees. It may be of interest to mention that when the subject came before the advisory committee of the institute 18 months ago, certain of the representatives of the self-governing Dominions expressed the opinion that some such extension of the work of the institute was in the general interest of the public throughout the Empire, so that such a system might be a great boon to individuals who had hitherto been precluded from reaping any advantage from the existence of the institute. I may also point out that this aspect of the question dealt with evidence given before the Dominions Royal Commission. I have now definitely decided that the institute may undertake this particular class of work, for which greater facilities have been secured by the reorganisation and establishment of the technical information bureau."

Statements are enclosed describing the arrangements which would be made for carrying out the work of a private character, giving information relative to the new technical information bureau.

GIBBS.—In loving memory of my dearest friend, Mrs. Louisa Gibbs, who departed this life February 17, 1913.

Good was her heart, in friendship sound;
Patient in pain, she was loved by all around.
A better friend never dwelt on this earth,
She proved to me a good friend's worth.
Peace to my darling's slumbers, now lying low,
She has crossed the Great Divide where all of us must go.
But ever cherished by my heart my darling friend shall be;
And there she lies, till we meet again, at Waverley by the sea.

Inserted by her dear old girl, Mabel Eckardt.

GRACE.—In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Grace, who departed this life February 17, 1912, aged 68. Inserted by his loving children.

PIPER.—In loving memory of our dear father, James Wilson Piper, who departed this life February 17, 1914, aged 66 years.

The end came sudden, father, dear,
It made us weep and sigh;
And, oh, it was so hard to think
You could not say good-bye.

Inserted by his loving daughter and son-in-law, Annie Margaret and Frederick Henry Jenkins.

PIPER.—In loving memory of my dear father, James Wilson Piper, who departed this life on February 17, 1914, aged 66 years.

The end came sudden, father dear,
It makes us weep and sigh.
And, oh, it was so hard to think
We could not say good-bye.

Inserted by his loving son Dick.

PRESCOTT.—In sad and loving memory of my dearly beloved husband, Richard William Prescott, who departed this life on February 17, 1912.

No one knows how much I miss him;
Some may think the wound has healed,
For they cannot feel the sorrow
In my aching heart concealed.

Inserted by his loving wife, Mary Prescott.

RYAN.—In loving memory of my dear wife and dear mother, Clara Ryan, who departed this life February 17, 1912.

Cold lies the hands we once clasped fondly,
How much we feel and miss her care.
Lone is our home that once was happy,
No loving wife or mother there.

Inserted by her loving husband and daughters, Ivy and Stella.

RYAN.—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandma, Clara Catherine, who departed this life February 17, 1912, aged 56. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Lulu, Ted, and grandson, [illegible].

IN MEMOLIAM.

RYAN.—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Clara Catherine Ryan, who passed away February 17, 1912, aged 56 years.

As we gaze upon your picture,
Its kindness so faithful and true,
You do not know our hearts are breaking
And longing, dear mother, for you.

Inserted by her loving son and daughter and son-in-law, Bruce, Clara, and William Kemp, and grandchildren.

STREET.—In loving memory of our dear father, Albert John Street, who departed this life on February 17, 1910, aged 52 years.

Unknown to the world he stands by our side,
And whispers the words, death cannot divide.

Inserted by his daughter and son-in-law, Tilly and Carl Henschkel.

WISE.—A token of love to the memory of my dearly loved mother, Marion Wise, who died February 17, 1914. Ever remembered by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Florrie and Albert Johnson. At rest.

WOODCOCK.—A tribute of everlasting love of our darling daughter, Elsie May, who departed this life at Lewisham Hospital, February 17, 1914, aged 14 years and 6 months. R.I.P.

Some day the clouds will break, dear Elsie,
Some day the shadows flee;
And we shall see our darling's face,
And she will speak to thee.
She will soothe our aching hearts,
She'll clasp our weary hands;
And lead us through the golden gate
Into the heavenly land.
We'll ever to her memory cling,
It's all that we can do,
And when our earthly days are spent,
Our love we will renew.

Inserted by her ever fond and loving father and mother, M. and E. Woodcock.

WOODCOCK.—In sad but loving memory of our darling sister, Elsie May, who departed this life at Lewisham Hospital, February 17, 1914, aged 14 years and 6 months. R.I.P.

Hark, we think we hear our darling sister saying,
Sister, brother, weep no more;
Just think of me as one who liveth
On that bright and happier shore.

Inserted by her affectionate sister and brother, Ruby and Mickie Woodcock.

WOODCOCK.—In sincere remembrance of my darling granddaughter, Elsie May, who departed this life at Lewisham Hospital, February 17, 1914, aged 14 years and 6 months. R.I.P.

One year has passed, our hearts are sore;
As time goes on we miss her more,
Her loving smile, her welcome face;
There is no one who can fill her place.

Inserted by her fond grandfather, F. Elkins.

WRIGHT.—In loving memory of our dear mother, [illegible] 17, 1912. Inserted by her sons and daughters.

THE NAVY AND PUBLIC CREDIT.

It was in every way fitting that the same day should be chosen by the First Lord of the Admiralty and the Chancellor of the Exchequer for their respective statements of the effect of the war on British security and British credit. Until we read Mr. Lloyd George's figures it is impossible to appreciate exactly the importance of sea power to Great Britain and the services of the navy in this war. Until we are given Mr. Churchill's account of the naval preparations we cannot fully understand the advantage which Great Britain possesses over her Allies, as well as over her enemies, and why her influence must prove decisive in the present struggle. The navy has had to fulfil a fourfold task—to destroy the enemy both in his ability to trade and in his power to do mischief, to protect British commerce, to secure every part of the Empire from invasion, and to protect the transport of military forces. It is because it has succeeded in all four of them that Mr. Lloyd George can share the optimism expressed on Monday by Mr. Churchill, and on a previous occasion in another place by Lord Kitchener. Because the coasts of England are safe from invasion the British people can go on producing wealth while the people of France have to contemplate some of their territory still in the hands of the enemy, and a much larger portion still suffering from his occupation. Because the trade routes have been safely traversed by British ships since the beginning of the war there is no check in the British food supply, and no limit to the provisions which have been supplied to the forces abroad. In every line of the Chancellor's speech we see a witness to the supremacy of the British navy. The navy has always been the final guarantee of investments abroad, whether in the trade and commerce of other countries, or in the distant possessions of the Empire. If the income from these investments, whether in gold or in kind, would be sufficient to finance the war for the next five years, that is only because in the last resort commerce with Great Britain is certain of protection. If as British Ministers think the war will last much less than five years, that is only because of the increased pressure that will be put on Germany by the stoppage of her supplies of goods from oversea. The two speeches of the two Ministers are the most decisive indication of the change which an outbreak of war has made in the relations of British statesmen. A year ago every additional million of the naval estimates was grudged by the Treasury. To-day the Treasury can do nothing unless the navy commands the seas. Mr. Lloyd George may lend money to Russia for purchases in Great Britain, and Russia may be able to discharge her indebtedness, or part of it, from her stocks of wheat. Exports and imports need to be guarded by ships of war, and it is only in the British navy that ships will be found numerous enough and strong enough to bring the products of British factories to Russia, and the crops from the Russian wheatfields to the British people. The suggestion that Great Britain should renounce the fruits of her supremacy in deference to the threat of a German blockade is obviously made with the intention of putting Great Britain in the wrong by her refusal. But it has been answered already by the American Ambassador in Berlin, as well as by Mr. Churchill. Mr. Gerard has said that Germany has nothing to fear from the United States until she blows up an American ship. Mr. Churchill has answered the threat of wholesale destruction of merchant vessels by a promise that as soon as the blockade begins the full force of naval pressure will be applied by a stoppage of all food supplies to the enemy.

The details of the review show how really trifling have been the losses which the navy has sustained in its work of patrolling the seas, and protecting the ships. It has lost lives which are far more valuable than ships, but it has not found those lives irreplaceable. The fear that the navy in war would be short of skilled men has been proved to be utterly groundless. The vague idea that Germany might have some surprise in her armoury has gone with it. Germany has impressed the world by her descent to the methods of barbarism by sea as well as on land. But the old faith in British gunnery and British naval architecture has been fully vindicated. The British system has beaten the German wherever the two have met under modern conditions. It is the British that have the latest improvements in guns and ships, and it is the British shipyards that have shown themselves best prepared to deal with a national emergency. If we look for the most reassuring feature in Mr. Churchill's speech, apart from its generally optimistic tone, we find it in his reference to the Dogger Bank action. In Mr. Lloyd George's speech we find passages of the same value in his reference to the agreement of the Allied Ministers, and to the loans to unnamed neutral Powers. The facilities given to the Rumanian Government some weeks ago were interpreted as a proof of the adhesion of that State to the Allies' cause, and Mr. Lloyd George's speech supports that conclusion. Great Britain has advanced money to these countries for the same purpose as to the Dominions—to enable them to enter the war, and to see that when they do so they will be adequately equipped. In a sense, she is repeating the diplomacy which helped her to fight for the balance of power against Louis, and against Napoleon. She is helping with her realised wealth a country whose resources are still undeveloped, and other countries who have men. The part is one which German diplomatists affect to regard as unworthy of a self-respecting country. German diplomatists, as Mr. Churchill has said, have lost the right to talk about civilisation and self-respect. But Great Britain has an answer to all criticism of her commercial spirit. She does not rely on commerce alone, but on the army, which by a process of voluntary enlistment has come together to defend her liberties; on the sailors, who are flocking to her ships; and the boys who are crowding her schools. Her wealth, which enables her to finance her own operations, and to guarantee the still greater expenditure of Russia, is not the product of vast natural resources. It has been created by the credit of the community. It is the product of that respect for a pledged word, in spite of all temptations to dishonour it, in which the Germans have so conspicuously failed.

OUR RETURNING SOLDIERS.

It must not be supposed that the welcome to be accorded to the thousand men who are returning from active service in the Pacific is in any sense a reflection upon others of our soldiers who came back unwelcomed after service in the same field. The bands, the parade, the luncheon, and the cheering populace will be as much for those who fought, came back, and slipped quietly away after landing as for the brave men we are honouring in the more spectacular way; and though little or nothing may have been said on previous occasions, enough was felt to make a genuine tribute of appreciation. What has happened in the meantime is an awakening to the value of the direct and popular tribute. Our manhood at its best does not need this demonstration, it is true; and the majority of the landing troops to-day and to-morrow would scorn the thought that they offered to fight Germany in the Pacific for the applause it would bring. The Anglo-Saxon is not built that way. We are Britons enough at this end of the earth to be willing to do our duty for duty's sake; and this was the incentive in those who so promptly volunteered for the war in southern waters, knowing that German cruisers were about, that there was every probability of a warm reception at the various German possessions, and that it might be a long and difficult job to plant the Union Jack firmly at Rabaul and elsewhere. Thus no apology is needed for any failure to beat the big drum when the previous contingents returned, if the higher ground of patriotism is taken; and no apology is offered now except on the ground of an apparent casual way which Australians have until they really wake up. But there is undoubtedly a call for the public welcome of men returning from the front. It has, indeed, a double value while the war continues in that the expression of pleasure at seeing our fighting men back, sick or well, becomes a pronouncement for further self-sacrifice. We shall still want soldiers for garrison duty in the Pacific. Australia has undertaken some large responsibilities on behalf of the Empire in guarding the various islands and archipelagos torn from Germany; and until the war in Europe is ended the ocean surrounding them is part of the world-wide battlefield. But more than that, our welcome to the landing troops to-day is a token that as a people we are getting things in perspective. The Commonwealth is beginning to rise to a great occasion. Our Defence Department is mastering the problems of organisation for active warfare; and among the details of handling and despatching large bodies of men to the front is this business, so far overlooked, of welcoming them back from the front. It brings the public in, and prompts us all as citizens to take an ever keener interest in the welfare of Australian soldiers wherever they may be, or from whatever part of the world's surface they may have returned.

The immediate value of this somewhat tardy recognition of work well done is the advertisement it gives the Pacific and the new British possessions therein. It may, of course, be objected that until Germany is conquered as well as beaten we shall do well to wait before talking of the annexation of part of Samoa, of a section of New Guinea and the islands about or beyond New Britain and New Ireland. May not the final settlement by the Powers upset our own scheme of settlement? But to discuss this question now at length is to introduce contingencies which must in the nature of things be hopeless barriers to any arrangement whatsoever. It is to imagine a Germany not brought to her knees, and to admit that the Allies may be ultimately exhausted. This is unthinkable on the facts. We are in this war as an Empire to win or die; and if Germany should triumph Australia will not remain a British possession. Therefore, the Pacific Ocean for us is to be a field practically closed to the activities of Germany as a Power, however German business men in the future may pick up the threads now broken or destroyed; or it is to become German. It is to be a larger and safer area for our own activities as a result of this war; and the success of the Commonwealth, whether on land or sea, must in fairness be counted in as we think of what Australia is doing or has still to accomplish as part of the British Empire. Elsewhere the fighting still continues in the Britain beyond the seas. South Africa has by no means finished her job, though there seems to be no question as to the ultimate result. Germany will be as completely smashed in the south-west of the Dark Continent as she has been in New Guinea, Samoa, and the Marshalls. With the last-mentioned group we are reminded in passing how much we owe Japan in the general connection. Our ally has acted right through in the finest spirit, and with absolute fair play. She fought for and beside us; and when the field was cleared she handed over the group to Britain through us as coming within Britain's legitimate sphere. Our work has been made easier in consequence, and while East Africa is still in the throes, like South Africa, Australia can look out upon the Pacific as practically cleared of the enemy. Do we realise, however, what all this fighting and achievement means? Our returning soldiers should help us to see that some of our problems have become more intricate, and that the white man's burden under the Southern Cross is much heavier than it was. This, however, is for meditation, not necessarily for present discussion. Our immediate business, while welcoming warmly the troops landing at Circular Quay, is still to think of the war. The interest in armed men coming and going will increase, and we believe that the Federal Government will find no difficulty in getting all the recruits it wants for active service if it will continue to attend to the little things which become so great when rightly done, as in the present case.

ILLICIT ADVERTISING.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

A number of persons were proceeded against in the District Court to-day in connection with the issuing of forms for advertising purposes, that closely resembled Australian bank notes and imitated urgent telegrams. The forms were used in connection with advertising a picture show. Mr. Goldsmith, P.M., who heard the cases, inflicted fines varying from £1 to £15, with costs. The cases were brought under section 27 of the Commonwealth Australian Notes Act and the Post and Telegraph Acts.

WHEAT ACT.

ROYAL COMMISSION POSSIBLE.

BRIBERY RUMOURS.

The Attorney-General yesterday stated that he has received a further report from the detective appointed to inquire into rumours of bribery prevalent at Coolamon in connection with the passage of the Wheat Acquisition Act.

Mr. Hall stated yesterday that he intended to consult his colleagues with regard to immediate action being taken in the matter.

It is understood that an inquiry by Royal Commission is contemplated. A recent Act, passed with a two years' currency, gave special plenary powers to Supreme Court Judges in the conduct of such commissions, and it is likely that, in order that the contemplated investigation may be effective, the services of a Puisne Judge may be enlisted under the provisions of this legislation.

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS.

Up to the present, it was stated yesterday, the Wheat Board has dealt with purchases and sales of wheat representing approximately £750,000.

The Wheat Acquisition Act is being administered by a board acting under the Attorney-General, Mr. Hall. He has introduced an expeditious system of business management. The clerical staff has grown rapidly to keep pace with the volume of work, and has increased from a personnel of 2 to 18. The chairman of the board, Mr. G. Valder, has expressed himself as highly satisfied with the rapidity in administration that has been made possible by the employment of shorthand directions. Thousands of letters have been dealt with in this way.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE

LABOUR MOVE.

USE FOR STATE PURPOSES.

The forthcoming discussion at the April P.L.L. conference concerning Sydney Government House is arousing great interest in political circles. Ever since Lord Denman quitted the Macquarie-street establishment it has been untenanted, and, now that the State Government has established its right to the fee simple of the property, the practical question has arisen what is to be done with Government House?

The feeling in Labour circles is that, as the P.L.L. executive has carried a resolution asking the Government to instal the State Governor in Government House, the conference is pretty sure to endorse this view. It is felt that the Government will see no reason to dissent from the opinion of the conference on this matter, and that therefore Sir Gerald Strickland will be the next occupant of the historic buildings. The movement on foot in the State Labour caucus to have a wing built at Government House as quarters for the Governor-General is not regarded as likely to be successful, the feeling apparently being that if the Governor-General is to stay there at all it should be as a guest of the State Governor.

There are a variety of schemes regarding Cranbrook, the State Governor's present residence, and it seems fair to assume that at least part of the property will be sold.

No definite decision as to the fate of Cranbrook itself has been come to.

NORTH SYDNEY.

ELECTRIC LIGHT SCHEME ADOPTED.

For many months North Sydney has been wondering whether it was to be lighted in the future with electric light or gas. The matter reached finality at Tuesday night's meeting of the local council, when it was resolved that the agreement with the City Council to light the municipality with electricity should be signed.

A letter was received from the Pastoral Finance Association, Limited, asking whether, in view of the fact that the association had been lighting a portion of Kirribilli with electricity for some time under a contract with the North Sydney Council, the contract would be continued for its full term of three years.

It was resolved to refer the matter to the City Council before a definite reply was forwarded to the association.

DEFENCE PURCHASES.

BUSINESS ADVISER APPOINTED

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

This afternoon Senator Pearce announced that Mr. Robert McC. Anderson, of Sydney, had been retained by the Defence Department to act as financial and commercial adviser with regard to the purchase of supplies and goods for army services. In making the announcement, the Minister for Defence said:—"In view of the fact that the Defence Department will have to spend the huge amount of £11,000,000 by the end of June, we have been considering the extent of our business ability to spend it safely and to the best advantage, and we have considered it advisable to bring in a business man to supervise the purchase of goods and supplies in order that we may avoid any loss. I brought the matter before the last Cabinet meeting of the Ministry, with the result that we have decided to call in the services of Mr. Robert McC. Anderson, of Sydney, who will make a thorough investigation, and will advise us from time to time on the purchase of supplies of goods for the Defence Department. While everything may be all right—and I have no reason whatever to suspect that anything is out of order—we think it advisable to take this step, and secure the assistance of an experienced and prominent business man in order that the interests of the department may be safeguarded."

It was inevitable that many questions would be asked, and possibly even scandal might arise after the war. His view was that the present was the proper time to institute a check upon the great purchasing work of the department, and it should not be left until after the war to make questionings. Mr. McC. Anderson would not in any respect be a detective, but would advise as to the department's system of contracts, etc. It was not a permanent appointment, but Mr. McC. Anderson's investigations would probably occupy about a month.

BUILDING AEROPLANES.

AUSTRALIA'S NEW STEP.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The Commonwealth Defence Department has for some time past had under consideration the construction of a military aeroplane at their Point Cook aviation depot. Already a biplane for instructional purposes has been erected, but it has been thought that the large number of machines for use by the increasing number of military aviators in the Commonwealth should be built by the Defence Department's staff of mechanics.

The Minister for Defence, Senator Pearce, announced this afternoon that the department had decided to proceed with the building of military aeroplanes. The only difficulty which confronted the department, said the Minister, was the fact that Renault engines were required for flying machines. Up to the present the manufacture of aviation engines had not been undertaken within the Commonwealth. He had no doubt, however, that a number of engineering firms in Australia would be only too pleased to take up this branch of work. The Defence Department had a number of Renault machines at present, and by communicating with the secretary to the Defence Department particulars with regard to their construction might be obtained.

POPE'S LETTER.

TO CARDINAL MERCIER.

Appended to the Pastoral Letter of Cardinal Mercier, Archbishop of Malines, which was published in the "Herald" yesterday, was a communication from Pope Benedict, in which he expressed his sorrow at the sight of the Belgian nation "reduced by a most cruel and most disastrous war to this lamentable state". The letter is in the following terms:—

"To our dear son, Desire Mercier, Cardinal Priest of the Holy Roman Church, of the title of St. Peter in Chains, Archbishop of Malines, at Malines.

"Our Dear Son,

"Health and Apostolic Benediction.

"The fatherly solicitude which we feel for all the faithful whom Divine Providence has entrusted to our care causes us to share their griefs even more fully than their joys.

"Could we then fail to be moved by keenest sorrow at the sight of the Belgian nation which we so dearly love reduced by a most cruel and most disastrous war to this lamentable state?

"We behold the King and his august family, the members of the Government, the chief persons of the country, bishops, priests, and a whole people enduring woes which must fill with pity all gentle hearts, and which our own soul, in the fervour of paternal love, must be the first to compassionate. Thus, under the burden of this distress and this mourning, we call, in our prayers, for an end to such misfortunes. May the God of mercy hasten the day! Meanwhile we strive to mitigate, as far as in us lies, this excessive suffering. Therefore the step taken by our dear son, Cardinal Hartmann, Archbishop of Cologne, at whose request it was arranged that French or Belgian priests detained in Germany should have the treatment of officers, gave us great satisfaction, and we have expressed our thanks to him for his action.

"As regards Belgium, we have been informed that the faithful of that nation, so sorely tried, did not neglect, in their piety, to turn towards us their thoughts, and that even under the blow of so many calamities they proposed to gather this year, as in all preceding years, the offerings to St. Peter, which supply the necessities of the Apostolic See. This truly incomparable proof of piety and of attachment filled us with admiration; we accept it with all the affection that is due from a grateful heart; but having regard to the painful position in which our dear children are placed we cannot bring ourselves to favour the fulfilment of that project, noble though it is. If any alms are to be gathered, our wish is that the money should be entirely devoted to the benefit of the Belgian people, who are as illustrious by reason of their nobility and their piety as they are today worthy of all sympathy.

"Amid the difficulties and anxieties of the present hour we would remind the sons who are so dear to us that the arm of God is not shortened, that He is ever able to save, that His ear is not deaf to prayer.

"Let the hope of Divine aid increase with the approach of the festival of Christmas, and of the mysteries that celebrate the birth of Our Lord, and recall that peace which God proclaimed to mankind by His angels.

"May the souls of the suffering and afflicted find comfort and consolation in the assurance of the paternal tenderness that prompts our prayers. Yes, may God take pity upon the Belgian people, and grant them the abundance of all good.

"As a pledge of these prayers and good wishes we now grant to all, and in the first place to you, our dear son, the Apostolic benediction.

"Given in Rome, by St. Peter's, on the feast of the Immaculate Conception of Our Lady, in the year MCMXIV., the first of our Pontificate.

"BENEDICT XV., Pope."

Mr. F. C. Govers, assistant superintendent of the Immigration and Tourist Bureau, who leaves for Vancouver to-morrow, will return this morning from a visit to Melbourne.

WOOL PRICES.

RECORD FOR NEW ZEALAND.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Tuesday.

At the third wool sale at Dunedin operations were confined to a few buyers. Prices showed an advance on the last sale of 1d to 2d. Some classes advanced 3d. The highest price was 15½d for a lot of super half-bred ewes. One clip of 194 bales averaged 14d for all sorts. Both these are claimed as a record for the Dominion.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

MOTOR ACCIDENT NEAR MOLONG.

MOLONG, Tuesday.

A motor car accident occurred at Goolagong, and resulted in the total wreck of the car.

Six occupants narrowly escaped death. The car, which contained the Misses Cantry and Haydon, Messrs. T. M'Innes, M. Keane, T. Glennan, and T. Melliday, was proceeding towards the river bridge, when it became unmanageable, and swerved off the road down a precipitous incline leading to the river. It sped along at breakneck speed over the boulders and tree stumps, carrying its occupants to apparent death. Yet a few yards from the bank it struck a stump, and somersaulted, landing upside down on the stump. All six passengers were thrown clear except Messrs. Melliday and Glennan, who were pinned underneath the car, but escaped serious injury, only sustaining bruises and shock. The car was completely wrecked; one wheel was torn off.

LATE MR. J. DARLING.

ESTATE NEARLY TWO MILLIONS

A reseal of probate has been granted in respect of the New South Wales estate of the late Mr. John Darling, of John Darling and Sons, merchants, of Adelaide, South Australia, who died at Melbourne on March 27 last. Testator appointed his widow, Jessie Darling, of Kent Terrace, Norwood, South Australia, his son, Harold Gordon Darling, merchant, of Adelaide; and William John Hill, manager for John Darling and Sons, executrix, executors, and trustees of his estate. He bequeathed a legacy of £1000 to his widow, to be paid to her as soon as possible after his death, and an annuity of £4000 during her life, the amount to be reduced to £1000 in the event of her marrying again. Subject to certain bequests to relations, employees, charitable institutions in Adelaide, etc., testator devised his estate to his trustees in trust for his children in equal shares.

The South Australian estate was sworn not to exceed £1,694,630, and the net value of the New South Wales estate at £234,597 7s 2d the bulk of which consists of business stocks.

UNTIDY CITY STREETS.

Referring to the discussion by the health committee of the City Council on the condition of the streets of Sydney, the ex-Lord Mayor (Alderman G. T. Clarke) candidly admitted yesterday that, while the city was not a dirty one, it was very untidy.

"It is untidy," Alderman Clarke declared, "mainly through the lack of efficient administration. The city bylaws provide the necessary machinery to almost rid the city of any litter. If citizens will continue carelessly to scatter about paper, fruit peelings, cigarette papers, or even tram tickets they must take the consequences. As an upholder of a clean and tidy city, I am of the opinion that those who administer the bylaws should exercise them to the fullest severity. I would draw the Premier's attention to the fact that the Railway Commissioners are one of the greatest offenders. Before I stopped the conductors from doing so, hundreds of thousands of tickets were daily swept out of the tramcars into the streets, which all must admit was a disorderly proceeding. The Tramway Commissioners should be compelled to provide receptacles in the cars for used tickets, or introduce a tidy system."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It is really beyond the human understanding to find the vice-chairman of the health committee of the City Council in his official capacity, declare that Sydney is not a dirty city. Without the slightest doubt it is the filthiest city in the Commonwealth of Australia, and the methods adopted for cleaning the streets are, to say the least, positively ridiculous. The fact is that some of our city alderman have attained to their ideal of perfect municipal government, and cannot see beyond, but the ratepayers, and especially those who are compelled to daily see their goods deteriorating in value through the thick clouds of dust blowing in the shop fronts, and those who have to live in it, will, no doubt, take the remedy in their own hands in December next. We had a reform movement 13 years ago, and it seems another is necessary now. The streets and pavements should be washed every night, not only swept.

I am, etc.,

BURSARIES BOARD.

SUCCESSOR TO FATHER O'REILLY.

The Very Reverend P. J. M'Curtin, S.J., principal of St. Aloysius College, North Sydney, was yesterday appointed a member of the Bursary Endowment Board, to represent the Catholic Registered schools.

When Father O'Reilly, of Bathurst, retired from the board Principal M'Curtin was asked to act temporarily in his place, and he has been an acting member of the board for several weeks past. He has been for five years connected with St. Aloysius College, and prior to that was on the teaching staff of St Xavier College, Melbourne. He occupies the position of president of the Teachers' Guild of New South Wales.

WATER SCARCE.

SERIOUS POSITION AT PORTLAND.

PORTLAND, Tuesday.

The Public Works Committee sat here yesterday and to-day for the purpose of taking evidence with regard to the construction of a permanent water supply for the town.

Mr. J. T. Cary, president of Blaxland shire, stated that the water in the present reservoir would give out in two days. The town was in a very bad state of sanitation through the bilge water being allowed to remain in gutters, which could not be flushed owing to a shortage of water. The Commonwealth Cement Company was paying £50 a day for water from Lithgow to keep the works going. The company was prepared to assist liberally in order to have a good water supply. Statistics were quoted to show that the number of notifiable diseases was high owing to the absence of an adequate water supply.

Mr. John Saville, manager of the cement works, stated that they must have more water, and the company was prepared to help the proposed scheme in every way. He considered Williewa Creek the most practicable for the present requirements of the town. The Middle River scheme, though superior, would prove too costly for the present population—nearly 4000—of the town. The Cement Company was prepared to take large quantities of water, and thus assist in meeting the annual working expenses.

FROZEN MEAT.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Tuesday.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Massey, convened a conference for Friday of representatives of the various freezing and shipping companies with the Agricultural Board, to discuss the difficulty with regard to the shortage of refrigerated shipping space, also the Imperial Government's suggestion regarding the supply of New Zealand meat for the army.

WAR HUMOUR.

(BY ARTHUR MASON.)

LONDON, Jan. 7.

It should not be supposed that even in Europe the gloom and the anxiety and the sorrow of war are its only attributes. Probably, and though they have always been inseparable from it, they were never its only attributes. The chroniclers of those ancient times in which war was part of the customary normal life of nations use up, at all events, quite a great deal of their space in description of what was neither more nor less than frivolity as an accessory before the fact of even the greatest battles.

In times not so ancient, in this realm of England, and by grace of Shakespeare, inspired historian thereof, humour that was quite unbuttoned, pleasantries that often bordered on the farcical, flit about the bloodiest pages for their relief and lightening. Towards our remembrance of that we recently had in London "Henry IV.," and we now have "Henry V." It was surely not the dramatist's thought of his audience merely that varied the quarrel of Percy and the King with the immortal figure of Falstaff and the egregious clowning of which he is the centre and inspiration. As to "Henry V.," humour is such a consistent steady shining across its surface bravery, the echo of near laughter so often breaks through its resounding collision of arms, merriment treads so close upon its blood and tears, that these elements of mirth are soon found to be essential and indispensable tones in the great picture of heroic England. Nym, and Bardolph, and Pistol are, no doubt unconsciously, humorous. The fiery Fluellen certainly is. But Harry the King can salve that most terrible hour of his on the eve of battle (and Shakespeare can interrupt the gorgeous procession of his flaming speeches—the prayer, the discourse on ceremony, the noble patriotism of the St. Crispian's Day appeal) by the homely jest of the gloves with a common soldier. And in the light of to-day more clearly than ever we see Shakespeare the supreme artist justified in all this by far more than the artist's need of light and shade. We see the historical plays and all their contrasts of mood as the indubitable presentment of their times. For we have our own humour. It persists in despite of bloody and disastrous war. It is never so drowned by the sound and fury of battle as to go unheard. It is vocal, as it was vocal in the ears of a Shakespeare translating mere history into magic, because it is part of us.

The trench fighting of the present stage of the war offers as little apparent scope for humour as any stage of any war could offer. As a matter of fact, the trenches are almost as substantially filled with humour as with mud. The mud is, from all accounts, simply unbelievable. With one consent the men confess they had never imagined such mud to be possible. They stand frozen in it for hours, they lie in it, they are miserably stuck in it—and they joke about it unendingly. The shot and shell, if not more uncomfortable, are certainly more serious than the mud. The shot and shell, indeed, account for all those tragedies of dead and shattered men, concerning which little dare be said. But the shot and shell are for ever the inspiration of the soldier's humour. That is a pretty story, for instance, of a French company in the trenches. In Paris the underground railway stations are named after familiar landmarks on the surface of the city above them. The Frenchmen discovered that the shells bursting all round their trench made a noise very like the rumbling of their tube trains, so they took to naming them after their familiar Paris stations. "Etoile!" called out one man as a shell roared above his head. "Alma!" shouted another. A third shell was greeted with cries of "Champs Elysees!" The fourth landed so close as to smother the company with mud. There was silence for a minute, and then a boy called out to the officer, "I thought it was Pere Lachaise that time, sir!"

Also French, and also delightful, is the case of a Parisian author who is now in the trenches. With the ruling passion strong upon him he writes to M. Donnay, who is a member of the French Academy. Not about the fighting, or any other terror of war. On the contrary, he is troubled lest the dictionary of the French language, which the Academy has been engaged in revising these 60 years past, should be completed up to the letter "I" before the war is over. He holds strong views about the spelling of a word under letter "I." In fact, and from the trenches, he implores M. Donnay to bring all his influence to bear upon the Academy that the word may be spelt "illassable" and not "inlassable." M. Donnay, one is glad to know, has replied saying that so far the Academy has reached letter "E" only, and that before it gets to "I" the war will have long been over.

That is hardly humour, of course, from the trench-grammarian's standpoint. But its calm disregard of the present and actual makes it almost as precious. It is Tommy Atkins, however, who will go down to posterity from this war as the most cheerful soul alive—considering how precariously he is alive most of his time. At the outset his dubbing of the deadly missile which killed and maimed him by the thousand as "Jack Johnson," and "Coalbox," and "Black Maria" and "Little Willie" immortalised Tommy as that rarest of humorists, the joker in the very face of death. And never since then, or in whatever despite, has his sense of fun deserted him. His letters, even those from the midst of the horrors, are full of amiable nonsense. Out in the dreariness of night on a sodden plain he shifts his position and crawls under a waggon singing, "Get out and get under." Or he writes home saying, "It's so awfully wet here that one can't do one's washing. But I did mine to-day—one handkerchief." The deadly sniper's last shot at night he calls "the good-night kiss." His favourite gibe at the enemy trenches near him is a combined shout of "Waiter!"—and we may be sure that the two presentations of Tommy in this week's "Punch" are quite within the bounds of possibility—one that shows him sitting in the midst of bursting shells, and saying to a comrade, "Showery, ain't it?" and one in which during a headlong bayonet charge he warns the brother Tommy running at his side, "Look out! Your bootlace is undone!"

May the humour of war continue to enliven us—and that of the irrepressible Atkins most of all.

THE "SYDNEY MAIL."

Several European war correspondents have recently written of a remarkable change in the appearance of the German Emperor as a result of the worries he has experienced since the beginning of the war. A photograph in this week's "Mail" shows this change very clearly; the Emperor is much thinner, and has aged considerably during the last six months. There are many other exceedingly interesting pictures in the current number of the "Mail." Included in these are several relating to the Australian troops in Egypt, some of whom are shown engaged in fatigue work, heliographing, cooking Christmas dinner, camped in the desert, and "doing" Cairo in tram cars. Several articles taken from the Emden are illustrated, and there is a striking view of the deck of the shattered German cruiser. A page photograph depicts New South Wales recruits being served with their war kits. Many unique pictures are included in the budget from the front. We see German soldiers in very elaborately-constructed shelters, and Belgian children seated among the ruins of their home; we see, further evidence of German sacrilege in the destruction of church statuary; British troops in France are seen bivouacing, and Germans are carrying wounded comrades out of the trenches; a company of the enemy soldiers are being given a singing lesson; barbarous methods of warfare adopted by the Germans are illustrated; the Czarina is seen visiting wounded soldiers; there are Servian prisoners and starving Poles; and many other pictures from Belgium, France, and Germany. A couple of striking photographs vividly suggest the trials of the British fleet in the North Sea during heavy weather.

A PARKES MEMORIAL.

We should be glad if the writer of a letter signed "An Old Sydney Resident" on the subject of a proposed Parkes memorial would communicate with us. The writer enclosed 2s worth of stamps, but omitted to furnish her name and address.

OUR NAVY

GREAT TRIBUTE

BY MR. CHURCHILL.

THE ALLIES.

HUGE RESOURCES.

In the House of Commons on Monday, Mr. Lloyd-George stated that the expenditure of the Allies to the end of the present year would amount to £2,000,000,000.

Britain would probably spend £100,000,000 to £150,000,000 more than France or Russia, but France bore the greatest strain proportional to her resources.

Russia, though prodigiously rich in resources, was a borrowing country. Therefore, Britain and France had given her guarantees of help to prosecute the war.

"Our gold accumulations," the Chancellor went on, "are the largest in the history of the country, while the great gold reserves of France and Russia have been barely touched."

The First Lord of the Admiralty stated that only 63 vessels, exclusive of mine-sweepers and trawlers, had been lost since the outbreak of war.

The command of the sea had enabled us to carry throughout the world a million men without accident or loss of life.

The navy's new 15-inch guns equalled the 13½-inch guns in quality, but were vastly more powerful and more destructive.

Referring to German submarine attacks on merchantmen, he said:—We shall take reprisals, because Germany cannot be allowed to adopt a system of open piracy and murder.

Mr. Churchill concluded:—The navy is as sound as a bell. British sea power unceasingly dominates the general situation, and in default of other favourable causes will alone decide the issue of the war.

The "Politiken," a Copenhagen journal, states that Germany's food and grain statistics have been roughly compiled.

The errors have surprised the Government, and it may be necessary for the whole population to get their food from public eating-houses.

The German Ambassador to the United States offered to abandon the plan of attempting to destroy merchantmen if Great Britain allowed foodstuffs to reach the German civilian population.

OUR NAVY.

"SOUND AS A BELL."

MR. CHURCHILL CONFIDENT.

FULL PRESSURE PROMISED.

MEETING GERMAN THREAT.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

Mr. Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, made a statement in the House of Commons to-day on the naval situation.

He said that only 63 vessels, exclusive of mine-sweepers and trawlers, had been lost since the outbreak of war. The situation in every sea was unchallenged. The losses in the navy totalled 5500 officers and men killed, but we had killed an equal number.

The command of the sea had enabled us to carry throughout the world a million men without accident or loss of life. The Falklands victory had almost entirely freed the outer seas of the enemy; while the Dogger Bank action had been of immense value and significance, throwing light on the design and armament of the rival systems.

OPEN PIRACY AND MURDER.

The navy's new 15-inch guns equalled the 13½-inch guns in quality, but were vastly more powerful and more destructive.

"Regarding German submarine attacks on merchantmen," he said, "we shall take reprisals, because Germany could not be allowed to adopt a system of open piracy and murder. The restrictions placed on German trade will be increased. Hitherto we have not attempted to stop foodstuffs. A further declaration will promptly be made, applying the full force of naval pressure upon the enemy. The paralysing force which the navy exerted could alone decide the issue of the war."

AN IMMENSE PROGRAMME.

Mr. Churchill emphasised the efficiency of the navy which at the outbreak of war was fully mobilised. Reserves, ammunition, and torpedoes were far above the regular quantities. There was ample fuel and oil.

An immense programme of new construction was now maturing to reinforce the fleet. A pre-arranged system for accelerating new construction was yielding surprising results. The oil consumption was greatly above the estimate, but not a single oilship had been lost. The price was lower than when he last addressed the House.

The Naval Training School was full to the brim. They would thus be able to man the ships which were coming on in such great numbers.

Replying to a suggestion that the Government should court-martial every ship lost, he pointed out that the novel conditions of warfare presented the naval officers with problems of incomparable hazard and difficulty. A court-martial was frequently inappropriate.

VASTLY MORE COMPLEX.

The Admiralty deprecated anything tending to make officers afloat or at the Admiralty play for safety. The Admiralty had chartered about a fifth of the mercantile marine.

"We are supplying across the sea an army almost as large as Napoleon's grand army, and vastly more complex." He was unable to hold out hopes of an immediate reduction of the tonnage which the Admiralty required. There were 4465 British arrivals and 3600 sailings during the last three months. Only nineteen had been sunk by above-the-water craft. Between 1793 and 1814 we lost 10,871 merchantmen. Even after Trafalgar we lost 500 ships yearly. It was really marvellous how few the losses had been. Steam and telegraphy had enormously increased the efficiency.

REPUDIATED AND DEFIED.

Germany cannot be allowed to adopt a system of open piracy and murder while she herself is protected by bulwarks in the shape of international instruments which she utterly repudiated and defied, and which we, much to our detriment, respected.

The House chuckled when Mr. Churchill recalled that the laws of ancient Rome did not provide for the crime of parricide, but the Judges were equal to the emergency.

Some of the members were puzzled at the reference. Then Mr. Asquith turned to Mr. Hobhouse and explained that the Judge sewed up the parricide in a sack with a dog, a viper, and a cock, and pitched them into the Tiber.

NO VITAL INJURY.

The great strain on distant convoy work in the early months had now diminished, including the great convoy of sixty Australian ships, forty Canadian ships, and the regular flow of Indian convoys of forty to fifty vessels.

Now we were to be the object of a kind of warfare never practised by civilised States. Submarines were to sink merchantmen at sight, without search or parley. But it mustn't be supposed that because the attack was extraordinary a good defence could not be made. He warned the public that losses would be incurred, but there would be no vital injury if the traders acted in a spirit like the gallant captain of the Laertes. All losses could be covered by Government insurance.

Mr. Churchill concluded: The navy is as sound as a bell. British sea power unceasingly dominates the general situation, and in default of other favourable causes, would alone decide the issues of the war.

WESTERN FRONT.

BRITISH SUCCESS.

IN GERMAN TRENCHES.

DUNKIRK, Feb. 16.

The Germans on Sunday morning threw a column against the British position before Guinchy. The massed attackers never reached our trenches. A counter attack was launched while the remnants were retiring in confusion.

A few minutes later the British troops were in one of the longest German trenches, hacking, hewing, and wielding clubbed rifles. Six thousand British troops were engaged in the fight. There were a number of casualties, but the German losses were much heavier.

TRENCH TO TRENCH FIGHTING.

PARIS, Feb. 15.

A communique states: We carried 250 metres of trenches between Bethune and La Bassee.

EASTERN FRONT.

RUSSIAN PROGRESS.

PETROGRAD, Feb. 15.

A communique states:—We have progressed on the Upper San, Galicia, capturing 1000 Austrians, five machine guns, and a gun.

The Germans were repulsed from the heights, between Beskid and Wyschkoff passes, with great losses to them. The enemy was also dislodged from a portion of the heights he had fortified between Tukhla and Wyschkoff passes.

AIR RAID.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 16.

Dutch correspondents state that the recent raid by 34 British aeroplanes badly damaged a bridge at Ostend.

Bombs destroyed the station at Blankenberghey, the electrical works and coke factory at Zeebrugge, also workshops where submarines were being fitted up. Twenty workmen were wounded.

Bombs also totally destroyed a Zeppelin shed and its contents.

TURKEY AND GREECE.

ATHENS, Feb. 16.

Owing to difficulties in the fulfilment by the Porte to the satisfaction of Greece of the demand made in regard to the insulting of a Greek Naval Attache in a street of Pera, M. Panos, the Greek Minister, has left Constantinople.

NEW EMDEN.

A FUND OPENED.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 16.

Upon the suggestion of the army and navy staffs, collections have been made in the German armies in France, Belgium, and Poland, with the object of purchasing a new Emden. The regiments at Reims collected 2000 marks in two days.

MONTENEGRO.

ESCAPE OF ROYAL FAMILY.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

Two Austrian aeroplanes on Sunday flew over the winter palace of the King of Montenegro, at Rieka.

The King and Queen and the Princesses came out to watch the airmen, when they were greeted with a shower of bullets from quickfirers, which narrowly missed the King and his family.

SINEWS OF WAR.

ALLIES' EXPENDITURE.

GREAT BRITAIN'S RESOURCES.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

In the House of Commons this evening Mr. Lloyd George (Chancellor of the Exchequer), who was loudly cheered, made a statement in reference to the recent agreement arrived at between the Ministers of Finance of Britain, France, and Russia, to combine their resources to prosecute the war to a successful conclusion.

He said the expenditure of the Allies to the end of the present year would amount to £2,000,000,000. Britain would probably spend £100,000,000 to £150,000,000 more than France or Russia, but France bore the greatest strain proportional to her resources. Britain would be able to finance the war for five years out of the proceeds of her investments abroad, and France for two and a half years, with something to spare. Russia, though prodigiously rich in resources, was a borrowing country. Therefore Britain and France had given her guarantees of help to prosecute the war.

GREAT GOLD RESERVES.

The Chancellor, continuing, said:—"We have advanced £32,000,000 to the Russians for purchases here, and have given her credit for £40,000,000. We have also made advances to Russia in France in respect to purchases from France. It is estimated that Russia will require large purchases outside. She is able to export wheat largely, and France and Britain have decided to raise a first loan, an aggregate of £50,000,000 in their respective markets to satisfy the requirements of Russia. Our gold accumulations are the largest in the history of the country, while the great gold reserves of France and Russia have been barely touched since the outbreak of war. The Allies have only one-third of their strength in the field. The remainder will go forward at the earliest moment.

After emphasising Russia's undeveloped resources, he said the suppression of alcohol had increased the productivity of her labour 30 to 50 per cent. It was as if it had added millions of labourers without increasing the expense of maintaining them. (Cheers.)

WONDERFUL CONFIDENCE.

France also had special difficulties. British people did not quite realise the strain this gallant country was undergoing. She had the largest proportion of men under arms, and the enemy was occupying some of her richest territory. Yet the French nation possessed wonderful confidence. He was assured that Germany had lost its tide, and had no more chance of crushing France than of over-running the planet Mars. There were a number of small States looking to the greater Allies for financial support.

UTILISING RESOURCES.

Britain's expenditure was due to recruiting a new army and a huge navy, liberal separation allowances, bringing troops from the end of the earth, and waging war in Europe, Asia, North, South, and East Africa. Conference had discussed the suggestion of a joint loan, and had concluded that it would be the very worst way of utilising the resources. It would have frightened every Bourse, and attracted none. It had asked if the interest paid would be the interest at which we were able to raise money or the rate at which France and Russia would raise money. If we paid a high rate we could never raise more money at a low rate, therefore it had been decided that each country would raise money for its own needs in its own market.

SERVIA'S COURAGE.

We must see that Belgium did not suffer until the period of restoration and compensation came. Servia was fighting her third war within three years, with force, courage, and brilliancy, but without wealth, revenue, exports, and manufactures. Other States were also preparing for war, and obviously our interests should be to see that they are well equipped. Britain's special difficulties were due to two-thirds of the food being purchased abroad. This had created enormous credits. The only thing was for all the Allies to bring all their resources into a common stock. The country with the most money must bring it.

The collapse of the rebellion in South Africa ensured a large steady supply of gold. It had been arranged by the Paris conference that French and Russian bankers would assist if British stock went below a certain point.

MISCONCEPTIONS REMOVED.

But Britain, France, and Russia would contribute proportionately to every loan to the small States, and later a joint loan would be floated to cover advances.

The conference had also arranged for France to have access to our markets with respect to Treasury Bills issued in France, and had initiated arrangements to help restore exchange with respect to bills held in Britain against Russian merchants. We proposed to accept Russian Treasury Bills against bills of exchange due from the Russian Government. The return would facilitate the export of produce which the Allies required.

Three days' conference face to face had cleared up misconceptions and misunderstandings which otherwise would have taken weeks to remove.

PERSIAN GULF.

INDIAN VICEROY'S VISIT.

TROOPS CONGRATULATED.

DELHI, Feb. 15.

The Viceroy of India (Lord Hardinge) has returned to Delhi from a trip to the Persian Gulf. It is understood that the visit has been a great success.

On the one hand it enabled Lord Hardinge to gauge the situation, and to obtain local knowledge, which must prove extremely useful in dealing with numerous military problems that must come up for consideration.

On the other hand the visit has inspired confidence in well-disposed inhabitants, and at the same time has afforded the Viceroy a chance of personally congratulating the troops at Shat-el-Arab and Muskat upon their gallantry and efficiency, and their commanders on their skilful conduct of the operations.

GERMANY'S FOOD.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 16.

The "Politiken" states that Germany's food and grain statistics have been wrongly compiled. The errors have surprised the Government, and it may be necessary for the whole population to get their food from public eating houses.

THE BLOCKADE.

GERMAN OFFER.

FOOD REQUIRED FOR CIVILIANS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.

Count von Bernstorff, German Ambassador to the United States, has announced Germany's intention of sowing mines around the British Isles by the agency of submarines as part of the warfare against the merchant marine.

Count von Bernstorff offered to abandon the plan of attempting to destroy merchantmen if Great Britain would allow foodstuffs to reach the German civilian population. The State Department has forwarded the communication to Great Britain.

ONLY A WARNING.

DON'T EXPECT SUDDEN COUP.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 16.

The German Admiralty, in a communique, has warned the public not to expect a sudden coup on the 18th instant.

The date is only a warning to neutral shipping of stronger war measures.

HOLLAND PROTESTS.

THE HAGUE, Feb. 16.

A Note has been presented to Germany protesting against the proposed blockade, and pointing out that neutral vessels are entitled to examination before hostile action is taken.

Holland has also notified Britain of her objection to the use of the flags of neutral nations.

MINE-LAYING INCREASED.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 16.

The newspapers announce that the Scandinavian Government has received a secret Note from Germany notifying that neutral signs painted on the sides of vessels will not save them.

The Note also warns neutral shipping that mine-laying will be greatly increased after the 18th inst.

"RAM SUBMARINES."

ROTTERDAM, Feb. 16.

The German Consul has issued a similar memorandum to the Chamber of Commerce. The Consul adds: "English merchantmen armed with guns have been instructed to ram submarines, and if they come alongside, to slay German searching parties.

USE OF NEUTRAL FLAG.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 15.

Captain Persius, in the "Berliner Tageblatt," says the use of a neutral flag is a customary ruse de guerre, but Britain prescribes it as a principle that is only occasionally permissible.

COPPER CARGO SEIZED.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 15.

The Carmena F. Koege, which was supposed to contain a cargo of sugar, but was heavily laden with copper for Germany, has been seized.

The captain and a merchant have been arrested.

The copper is valued at £30,000. It was intended to tranship it at sea, and the vessel was afterwards to be sunk.

BRITISH STEAMER MINED.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

The British steamer, Wavelet, from Pensacola, while on the voyage to Leith, struck a mine, and was beached at Deal.

The crew were landed, with the exception of 12, who were drowned through the capsizing of a boat.

THE GERMAN EMPEROR.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 15.

The German Emperor is to arrive at Cuxhaven on the 18th inst.

SOCIALISTS' ATTITUDE.

THE PEACE MOVEMENT.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 16.

A Berlin telegram states that a meeting of Socialists decided not to support the peace movement until Germany is victorious on at least one front.

Government circles recently inquired whether the Social Democratic party was in favour of peace. The leaders replied that the workers had been the chief losers by the war, and they would rather start a revolution than not receive compensation for their sacrifices.

MERCHANT SHIPPING.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

The whaler Rakuira, which left Albany on November 29, has arrived at Queenstown.

The barque Rowena, which left Newcastle on December 17, has arrived at Valparaiso.

RUSSIAN TREASURY BILLS.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

The issue of Russian Treasury bills, amounting to £10,000,000, by the Bank of England, at 95, dated one year, and bearing interest at 5 per cent., has been largely over-subscribed.

EXCHANGE OF CIVILIANS.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

Mr. N. J. Primrose, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, in reply to a question in the House of Commons, stated that he had arranged with Germany for an exchange of civilians over 55 years of age.

WOOL SALES.

MELBOURNE DEMAND.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Sales were continued in the local market to-day. Some 5800 bales were offered. A few choice wools were included, but the selection, as a whole, was poor. The improved demand and higher prices noted at yesterday's sale were again in evidence. The few merinos suited to American requirements, the embargo notwithstanding, were invariably taken by these buyers.

WAR NOTES.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH.

A perusal of the speech made by Mr. Lloyd George in the House of Commons conveys three outstanding impressions. First, the stupendous cost of the war; second, the wonderful financial strength of Great Britain; and, third, the impregnable economic position of the Allies. When the British Chancellor speaks of the war costing the Allies £2,000,000,000 by the end of the year, he deals in figures that it is almost impossible for the average mind to grapple with—there is nothing left but to gasp at them. Of the total expenditure, the greatest proportion falls on Britain's shoulders. This was, of course, inevitable, by reason of the demands of a huge navy and of a military system under which the British soldier is paid far more than the conscripts of other nations, and by reason also of the peculiar geographical conformation of the Empire, which necessitates the transportation of troops from the four corners of the globe, and the waging of war not only in Europe but in Asia, North, South, and East Africa, and the maintenance of garrisons at numerous points washed by the waters of the seven seas. A superficial French observer, after a hurried visit to London, complained that Britain did not seem to be bestirring herself as she should in regard to the war. It is to be hoped that Mr. Lloyd George's speech will give him some idea of what Britain is actually doing. But for us there is surely room for gratification in the confident tone that the Chancellor of the Exchequer, buttressed by a full knowledge of Britain's financial resources, was able to import into his speech. Not only is he able with equanimity to face the prospect of a war expenditure altogether beyond the dreams, or rather nightmares, of previous Chancellors, but he can point incidentally to quite remarkable steps that are being taken to help Russia along financially, to aid Servia and Belgium, and to provide accommodation for certain neutrals whose interests should shortly be very definitely linked with ours. The whole thing presents a picture such as the world has never seen, and it is certainly one that should impress the enemy not a little. Nor does the position of France, from a financial point of view, suggest anything but confidence as to the future, and when the arrangements that have been entered into between the three great Allies are taken into consideration, there is every reason to view the coming months with optimism, for, great as the Austro-German resources may be, they cannot in any way compare with those at the Allies' command.

IN PRAISE OF FRANCE.

The lovers of France will thank Mr. Lloyd George for his graceful reference to the part she is playing in the war. As he points out, the British people do not quite realise the strain that is being put upon this gallant country. Proportional to her resources, it is far greater, both in the matter of money and men, than either of her great Allies. She has by far the largest percentage of her menkind under arms, and her industrial activities have suffered most in consequence. Added to that, the enemy has occupied for months some of her richest territory. From the very outset of the war the armies of France have been fighting tremendously, and they have been doing it with no limelight upon them. We need to realise this. It is not the British army that is holding the Germans back from Paris. Our Expeditionary Force achieved prodigies of valour when they landed in France, and they played a very conspicuous part indeed in preventing the German rush upon the capital; but the little force, heroically as it played that part, would have been as mere chaff before the wind if it had had to face the German hordes alone. Severe as the British censorship is, the French censorship is infinitely more so, and the fact that we have heard so much of the doings of our troops compared with those of France is apt to give the thoughtless a somewhat distorted sense of proportion. They are inclined to forget that the British were still retreating, hard pressed, when the French relieved them in that terrible withdrawal from Mons, and they are inclined, too, to forget that it was the sudden discovery of a large French reserve south-west of Paris that decided the German right to make its remarkable turn to the east when almost within striking distance of the capital. The British did not save Paris, though they did very, very much towards it, just as in all the subsequent developments of the campaign they played an heroic part—just as now they are holding their portion of the line with incomparable tenacity. We need to realise that the bulk of the work on the tremendous battle front in the west has fallen to the French armies, and we need to realise just how well they have carried out that work. From Mons onward the Frenchmen, from their generals down, have been unstinted in their praise of the British army, and we cannot afford to be behind in our appreciation of what has been accompanied by Le Piou-Piou and his leaders.

"AS SOUND AS A BELL."

Mr. Winston Churchill, in declaring in the House of Commons that the Navy was "as sound as a bell," said nothing more than the Empire confidently expected. And although it was fully believed that the system of accelerating new construction was yielding good results; that many ships would come into commission long before it was originally intended; and that the naval training schools would be able to turn out enough men to make the manning of all the new units comparatively easy—still, it is good to hear these points emphasised. The naval outlook is certainly such as to instil confidence into the most pessimistic Briton, and, in view of the way she is already feeling the pressure of our superiority, it should as certainly be something less than gratifying to Germany. Incidentally, Mr. Churchill's reply to the suggestion about a court-martial over every ship lost is to be applauded. Some sort of an inquiry is, of course, inevitable and necessary; but to have the threat of a tribunal with plenary powers ever in their mind is not conducive to enterprise on the part of our naval captains. As Mr. Churchill puts it, the Admiralty deprecates anything tending to make officers either afloat or at the Admiralty "play for safety." Looking back on our naval history, it is not difficult to realise that much of its glory would be missing if our officers had always "played for safety." And in this war especially, in view of the altogether novel conditions that obtain, with their unprecedented problems and hazards, the idea of a court-martial seems singularly inappropriate.

MR. CHURCHILL'S THREAT.

But by far the most interesting section of Mr. Churchill's speech is that relating to reprisals for the German attacks on submarines. So far Britain has adhered scrupulously to the usages of civilised warfare, though Germany has contravened them again and again—much to our cost. But latterly there has been growing an idea that perhaps Britain has been dealing a little too gingerly with an enemy that is so openly unscrupulous. It has been thought that special tactics are demanded in dealing with an outlaw. Now, apparently, the Government has come round to this way of thinking, and no one except the enemy will regret that it has. Mr. Churchill declares: "Germany cannot be allowed to adopt a system of open piracy and murder while she herself is protected by bulwarks in the shape of international instruments which she has utterly repudiated and defied, and which we, much to our detriment, respected." We are not told definitely what form the reprisals will take, but we may assume that the First Lord of the Admiralty is not talking for the sake of talking, that he is not launching a mere idle threat. One thing Mr Churchill does say definitely, however, and that is that the restrictions placed on German trade will be increased. Hitherto, he declares, Britain has not attempted to stop foodstuffs; but a declaration will promptly be made, applying the full force of naval pressure on the enemy. This sounds ominous for the neutral countries that have been allowing foodstuffs to pass through their territory to Germany; but unless they can enter into some hard and fast agreement with Britain, they will have to suffer. In any case, Germany seems to be on the point of learning exactly what naval pressure rigorously applied can really mean.

A NAVAL PROBLEM.

The deadly effect of the well-aimed torpedo has already been emphasised often enough in this war, and it must be giving the designers of warships food for considerable thought. Against gunfire ships of considerable dimensions are protected, only to a limited extent it is true, but against attack below the surface of the water—by mine or torpedo—there is no protection whatever. Net defence against torpedo attack is generally regarded as practically valueless, and, as far as is known, the problem of protecting ships below the water-line has yet to be solved. It has been stated that it is possible to design a battleship which will be proof against mine and torpedo; and it is to be hoped that that may prove to be the case, for Great Britain of all nations has much to gain by the designing and construction of such a vessel. Some interesting observations on the problem, written before the disaster to the Formidable occurred, appear in an article by Rear-Admiral Sir S. Eardley-Wilmot in the "Navy." They are so apposite that the paragraph is worth quoting in full. "It is early yet," writes this flag officer, "to draw conclusions or learn lessons from this war in its naval aspects. It has, however, demonstrated the deadly nature of underwater attack to modern ships, and the necessity of providing further defence against it. The submarine has increased enormously the chances of getting unseen within effective range of the Whitehead torpedo. Though the surface destroyer may be more dangerous at night, sparks and escaping steam handicap its efforts to attain the same position. We cannot rely upon an attendant flotilla of small craft to frustrate all such attacks, nor upon internal subdivision of hull to prevent a successful hit disabling a ship. We must give her some equivalent to the armour fixed on the side to keep out shot and shell. Not armour itself, for that extended in any thickness to the keel would leave little buoyancy to carry heavy weights. It is a problem for naval architects to solve."

RIFLE RESERVES.

The members of the National Reserve, the headquarters of which are at Rawson-chambers, Rawson-place, near the railway station, defray all the expenses, including clothing, etc. As an example of the enthusiasm of the members, it is pointed out that on Monday the muster consisted of 8 staff officers, 7 company officers, 18 non-coms., and 248 privates, totalling 281. It is the only rifle club in the Commonwealth that drills the men in different units, consisting of mounted rifles, engineers, infantry (including a Scottish section), army medical corps, and motor cycle corps. There is also a full pipe band.

ENTHUSIASM AT BURWOOD.

There was a very large attendance at the Burwood School of Arts last night at a meeting called to form a local rifle corps.

The Mayor (Alderman Carpenter), who presided, introduced Colonel Wallack and Major Buchanan. Colonel Wallack explained the object of the proposed corps. He said that owing to the existing crisis there was an absolute necessity for every man capable of bearing arms to offer his services. The older men could be trained so that if emergency arose they would know how to defend their country. The younger men would be drilled so that if the Empire needed them they would respond to the call.

"Nelson's old signal, 'England expects every man to do his duty,' was still flying, and they had now the chance of answering the call of duty by enrolling as members of the rifle club." (Applause.)

Alderman Reed moved: "That a Burwood rifle club be now formed."

Mr. A. G. Ralston, K.C., in seconding the motion, said they should be prepared for emergencies. They could not lose sight of the fact that Britain's battle was their battle.

Mr. T. Henley, member for Burwood, supported the motion. When the hour of victory came, he said, those who had done their share for their country would rejoice. Those who had hung their heads at duty's call would cut sorry figures.

The present war was going to make a change in international relations. "We are not" (continued Mr. Henley), "going to look down on those brave Indians who were shedding their blood. They would have to regard differently their Japanese allies, who had safely convoyed our Australian boys to Egypt. (Hear, hear.)

The resolution was unanimously carried. Mr. A. L. Hinton was appointed hon. secretary.

Alderman Sheppard moved, Alderman Roxburgh seconded, and it was carried: "That lists be opened for the signatures of those who wished to join the rifle club."

There was a splendid response to the call. Mr. Henley mentioned that a 300 yards rifle range at St. Luke's Park, near Hen and Chicken Bay, would probably be available for shooting.

MORT'S DOCK.

At a meeting of the employees of Mort's Dock and Engineering Company, Ltd., held on Thursday, it was resolved, on the motion of Mr. J. Storey, M.L.A., to form a rifle club at the works. About 45 workmen notified their intention of joining.

RUGBY UNION.

To-night at the Burwood School of Arts the Rugby Union will make a start with its meetings, which are to take place in each district for the purpose of forming companies of footballers and other sports in the different areas. After all the district companies are formed, Saturday drills, in which the whole Rugby Union Battalion will parade, will take place. It is expected that at least 100 men will enrol in each district, and that a thousand will parade on the Saturdays set aside.

A public meeting has been called by the Mayor of Randwick for this evening for the purpose of furthering the rifle club movement.

A meeting will be held in the Strathfield Council-chambers this evening, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of forming a local club.

A meeting of the members of the Petersham District Rifle Reserve will be held at the Petersham Town Hall on Thursday evening, 18th inst, at 8 o'clock.

MOTOR VESSEL.

LOADING FOR AUSTRALIA.

Sydney is to be visited by another motor ship similar to the Annam, which recently attracted such attention here on account of the fact that she possessed no funnels.

The second visitor will be the Tongking (5150 tons), belonging to the East Asiatic Company, Ltd., which firm also owns the Annam. The Tongking will load at Copenhagen in the middle of March, and will take the March sailing for Australia.

The steamer Natal, belonging to the same line, is due at Genoa on February 19, and at Fremantle on April 2. The company's steamer Indien is due at Fremantle shortly.

The line in question is a Danish one, and started in the Australian trade shortly after the outbreak of war, the object being to secure some of the trade previously held by German companies.

NEW ZEALAND.

PROGRESS IN SOCIAL SCHEMES

Canon Garland, formerly of Brisbane, who arrived yesterday from New Zealand, where he has been located for the past 18 months, stated that he had been much impressed by several features of New Zealand life.

One was the magnificent system of sanitation that obtained in every city, town, and hamlet. In this respect the Dominion was far ahead of Australia. What had, however, impressed him more than anything else was the splendid work that had been done, mainly by Dr. Truby King, in reducing the infant mortality rate. The result attained had been most striking, and it had been achieved solely by an education campaign that was well worthy of imitation in Australia.

The prospects of New Zealand joining in with Australia in an Australasian navy were discussed by Canon Garland. The New Zealand Minister for Defence (Mr. Allen) was one of the best statesmen in Australasia, and he was strongly in favour of some arrangement with the Commonwealth in regard to naval defence, but necessarily not one that would subordinate New Zealand ships to the Australian Government. There was, however, a large section which did not like the idea of a joint navy, and would prefer to continue the system of subsidising the Imperial Navy. He believed the objection was more political than practical, and time might find a solution as the political atmosphere cooled down.

FIENDISH CRUELTY.

WHAT A VISITOR TO FRANCE SAW.

We give below some extracts from a letter received by Mrs. E. Cruise, of Mosman, from her brother in London:—

"I have just returned (January 3) from a week in Paris and its environs. I visited the town of Senlis (about 2000 inhabitants) through which the German army passed on its retreat from the Marne. The state of ruin is appalling. Whole streets have been burnt, and the brutes have even gone out of their way to set fire to workmen's cottages in the side streets—for nothing else than sheer brutality. You can hardly imagine the devastation caused on an unprotected country town of no military importance.

"I crossed the Channel from Boulogne to Folkestone with about 150 soldiers coming home on leave for a few days. They were like a lot of boys on holiday—caked in mud, jolly, and laughing—with German helmets, swords, and rifles. And they were 'going to rest a few days, have a good time, and then go back and have another smack.' What really fine fellows they are. One is proud to own them as fellow-countrymen.

"Their tales of the German atrocities were dreadful, and enough to give one bad dreams for a week. One sergeant of the R.E. told me that he was billeted on some French peasants near Armentieres. There were two little daughters, 10 and 12, with whom he became very chummy, as they could talk a little English. One day they were driven out of the village by the Germans. The next day they retook the village, and on revisiting the house found the mother gone and the two girls stripped naked with bayonet wounds through their little bodies. His feelings were described in language too lurid for reproduction. Poor fellow, he was almost overcome in the recital.

"I was in Paris when war was declared, and a terrible time I had to get away home. Let us hope men will see the foolish brutality and utter futility of war when this one is over, but I am afraid that will not be for a long time yet."

SHOT BY THEIR OFFICER.

HOW THE GERMANS ARE DRIVEN.

An Aldershot lady writes to a relation at Lochinvar:—"We had a visit from ——, who was home for the week-end, a great surprise for everyone. He looks older, but very fit, and says our men are doing very well in the way of comforts and smokes. He told us that neither General French nor General Joffre can speak a word of each other's language, and they have a special interpreter of their own. He told us the following story:—

"'One morning an officer of the Rifle Brigade and I were sent to a certain point to take observations, and had our field glasses with us. Suddenly we saw an attacking column of Germans come over a hill quite near us; but as they were not coming our way we just watched. They came along quickly in close formation until they were 70 yards from our trenches. You know how it looks when the rope breaks in a tug-of-war. Well, it looked just as if a rope had broken and let them all down flat on their backs as the machine guns of the regiment they were attacking were turned on them. When they got shot down in rows and heaps like this the rest began to retreat. Then we saw the officer simply shooting down one after another of his own men, to make them go on; but they fairly turned and ran at last. Then the officer who had been shooting them threw down his arms and came running as hard as he could towards our trenches.

"Everyone potted at him, but he came tearing on, leaped right over our trenches, and never stopped till he got into the reserves, and then he gave himself up. The reason was that after shooting his men down he did not dare remain with the others when they retreated, as he would have been shot in his turn."

THE MIGHTY EFFORT.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE STATES THE POSITION.

TALK WITH A FRENCH DEPUTY.

M. Jean Longuet, Socialist Deputy for Paris, has had an interview with Mr. Lloyd George at Downing-street, in which the Chancellor explained the great effort England is making for the common cause of the Allies. The conversation is printed by "Humanite," and by arrangement reproduced by the London "Daily Chronicle." We make the following extracts:—

"I do not know," the Chancellor remarked, "if our friends in France quite realise the effort that is at present being made by England. . . the extent of the sacrifices of men and money that she has already made, and especially of those she is preparing to make? Do you know, firstly, that Great Britain is expending as much—more, I believe, at present—as France on the war, notwithstanding the relative smallness of her first military force dispatched to Flanders?

"Do you know that our monthly expenditure for the army and navy is at present £45,000,000, or one milliard one hundred and twenty-five millions of francs per month?"

"But," I observed to the Chancellor, "how is your enormous contribution to be explained, even taking into account the cost of your formidable fleet, when it is remembered that your army at the front represents scarcely one-sixth of ours?"

TWO MILLIONS UNDER ARMS.

"In reality," exclaimed Mr. Lloyd George, "England has at present put more than 2,000,000 of sailors and soldiers under arms. Certainly we had to a large extent to improvise this vast army. You have been able to see in London the admirable and enthusiastic movement which by voluntary enlistments for the duration of the war, without the constraint of conscription, has enabled us to assemble nearly a million and a half soldiers since August 2, and which system will shortly supply us with 2,500,000.

"Before the spring 500,000 new soldiers, superb, magnificently trained, and full of enthusiasm, will have joined those who, side by side with the valiant sons of the French democracy, are struggling at the present time, from the Yser to Belfort, to bring about the end of Prussian militarism, and to establish the liberty of Europe and that of Germany herself. And this will continue unto the end, unto victory."

REVENUE RAISING.

Speaking on the fiscal side of the question, the Chancellor said, "So far as we are concerned we have persevered more than ever during the war in the principles of democratic revenue-raising, which principles have inspired the Liberal Government ever since it arrived in office. You have seen my Budget? I did not hesitate to raise £40,000,000 by the income tax. I doubled it, and unanimously it was passed by the House of Commons.

"This, moreover, is not the full extent of our financial effort," continued the Chancellor. "It is necessary to add to the enormous resources which we shall have at our disposal through the income tax the amount that our new loan will give to the cause of England and her Allies. This amounts to the colossal sum of £440,000,000."

M. Longuet relates how the Chancellor reiterated in ardent terms the resolution of England to continue with inflexible tenacity the struggle undertaken against German military Imperialism.

GAUDIN CASE.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Tuesday.

The Supreme Court has refused an application for a writ of habeas corpus in regard to Gaudin, now undergoing a sentence of five years' penal servitude, imposed by the Military Court at Samoa, for various offences under martial law.

MARRIED TO GERMANS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

It was stated to-day by the Minister for External Affairs, Mr. Mahon, that a number of women married to Germans, and who had, therefore, lost their nationality as Australians, had lately applied for naturalisation papers. In all such cases, police reports would be obtained, and if they are of a satisfactory nature the applicants will be naturalised, even if their husbands may be unnaturalised Germans.

RABAUL.

CONTINGENT COMING HOME.

GOOD RECRUITING.

STREET PARADE.

The military authorities have had to alter their plans in connection with the return of the naval and military contingent from Rabaul and other islands in the Pacific. According to a wireless message received yesterday afternoon, one vessel only will arrive to-day, this being the one that has the convalescents on board.

There will, therefore, have to be a postponement of the street march that was arranged for this morning. Of the men arriving to-day, 150 are convalescents, who will, it is expected, be able to make the journey to the barracks in the trams. Ten are reported to be ill, and will be conveyed to the garrison hospital in ambulances.

The steamer, which has 870 officers and men on board, will, according to the wireless message, not be able to reach Port Jackson until to-morrow afternoon, probably late. The military authorities are determined that these men shall have a ceremonial march to the barracks, accompanied by two bands, but they were unable to say last night whether this would take place to-morrow afternoon or Friday morning. Everything would, they said, depend upon later information as to the hour of the vessel's arrival. In all probability the arrival would be deferred till Friday morning, so that the march might take place in the forenoon and parole granted, as originally intended, after luncheon at the barracks.

The route which was originally mapped out for the march was the following, and it will probably be adhered to:—From West Circular Quay, up George-street to Park-street, down Park-street to Elizabeth-street, into Liverpool-street, thence up Oxford-street to the barracks.

The volunteering at the barracks continues up to the best expectations. Yesterday the total ran well into three figures, being nearer the second than the first hundred. The accepted men were of the sturdy type, the result being that comparatively few failed in the medical test. Most of the applicants came from the country, and were suitable for inclusion in the light horse. Some who had very special qualifications were allocated to that section, but the others were sent to the infantry, to which arm practically all the metropolitan recruits were sent. Warrant-Officer Muckleston reported at the close of the day that it was cheerful for him to notice the readiness with which nearly all applicants for enlistment were prepared to take up whatever arm in which their services could be most usefully employed. He expressed his belief that the new year's weekly average of a thousand would be maintained.

It was rumoured yesterday that Colonel Holmes would be appointed to command one of the new Infantry Brigades of the new contingent which is expected to be ready in April. The military authorities, however, had no knowledge of any such proposed appointment, and thought the announcement was quite premature, for the reason that the composition of the force had not yet been decided upon. Colonel Holmes, on being seen at his office, at the Metropolitan Board of Water Supply and Sewerage, stated that he had no intimation of any such appointment. "I sincerely hope," he added, "that the rumour will prove to be correct. I'm waiting for news."

Colonel Wallack, C.B., District Commandant, accompanied by Captain Daily-Watkins, orderly officer, and Major P. G. Sadler, Staff Officer, visited the No. 17 Light Horse and Infantry School of Instruction at "The Warren," Marrickville, yesterday morning. After inspecting the officers in drill and open formation, the Commandant addressed them in the lecture hall, principally on the question of discipline. In the afternoon Colonel Wallack visited the Liverpool camps.

The next school of instruction for Light Horse and Infantry will be opened on March 15, and be continued for a month. Applications to attend, from officers of the Citizen Forces, under the rank of major, and those intending to apply for commissions in the A.I. Expeditionary Forces, can be sent in to headquarters, Victoria Barracks, Paddington, between now and a date to be fixed the first week in March.

A board has been constituted and has held sittings for the selection of officers for the A.I. Expeditionary Forces. It comprises Colonel Ramaciotti (commanding XI. Brigade), president, and Lieutenant-Colonels J. F. Humphris (commanding the Liverpool Depot) and R. C. Simpson (commanding the 39th Infantry).

The brigadier of the 11th Infantry, Colonel Ramaciotti, accompanied by his brigade-major (Captain Conway) has completed an inspection of the Goulburn units of the 43rd Infantry. The men (180) made what the colonel describes to be a very creditable showing, "particularly in the matter of steadiness, discipline, and intelligent working." The brigadier will visit Bathurst on the 20th, Orange on the 27th, and Albury on March 19.

A district court-martial for the trial of deserters from the Australian Imperial Forces has been appointed. The board comprises:—Lieutenant-Colonel J. J. Paine, V.D., 41st (Blue Mountains) Infantry, president; and Major P. L. Murray, Administrative and Instructional Staff; and Lieutenant W. W. Whittle, Royal Australian Garrison Artillery.

The following have passed in practical subjects for second lieutenants:—Second lieutenants, C. E. Barber, B. P. Woodlands, R. C. Brown, H. C. Hain, S. J. Young, C. S. Champion, H. H. Weston, C. M. Dunshea, and K. T. Carpenter, all of the 39th infantry; colour-sergeants, C. E. Leake and F. W. Walker; sergeants, F. M. Waugh, B. L. Monie, and H. P. Mortlock, of the 39th infantry; second lieutenants, H. Snelling-Ford, S.C. 39B.; O. A. Olds, SC. 39A.; R. Sinclair, O. E. J. Murphy, and A. Houston, S.Cs. 40A.

Certificates at the school of musketry (No. 3 special from January 4 to 16) were obtained by staff-sergeant-majors:—A. F. Brenchley, W. H. Fishburn, C. T. German, J. Saunders, C. Scanlon, A. G. Skeet, W. Stewart, and W. Thomas.

"A Prospective Volunteer" is informed that a soldier permanently injured in battle is entitled to a pension, usually £1 per week. If a mother loses her only support, by death, she is entitled to a pension of £52 per annum.

Corporal R. J. R. Glynn, of Malton, Hay-street, Leichhardt, was presented with a silver medal by members of the 31st infantry signallers, prior to his departure with the Expeditionary Forces.

"Shelton": The address of Lieutenant-Colonel H. S. Smith, D.S.O., Director of Drill, is Royal Military College, Duntroon, via Queanbeyan.

"D.S.": A man having served, as in your case, over two years in the militia forces, would be an acceptable volunteer. The request to be despatched early would depend upon your representations and conduct before your commanding officer.

"Patriot": Letters for troops should be addressed: Name, regiment, contingent (1st or 2nd), Australian Imperial Expeditionary Force, Egypt. The mails close with the English mail, once a week.

Colour-sergeant V. L. Herrod, of A company, 1st battalion, writing to his mother (of Paddington), from Egypt, under date January 15, states that he has been made a quartermaster sergeant. The men, he says, greatly appreciate the files of "Sydney Morning Herald," and they were all very pleased to see Sir George Reid, who made "a great speech." Sir George took over a number of jack-knives, which were distributed to the men.

All the Rugby Union clubs have sent a large number of their members to the war, but the pride of place must be given to the St. George district. Eleven first graders and the same number of second-graders have joined the expeditionary forces, while two members of the committee who are not players have also joined the forces. Thus, out of a playing strength of 30 players, 22 are doing their duty. Following are the names of the first-graders:—Messrs. H. Mullarkey, J. Mullarkey, R. Sadler, T. Cooper, H. Elliott, W. Elliott, A. Wright, S. Lane, H. M'Lachlan, C. Hatchman, A. Sargent; committee, Messrs. R. Bruce, J. M'Intosh.

Eleven members of the Randwick Club are members of the forces, as follow:—Messrs. W. Ahern, H. Bolden, H. Cohen, R. Marrett, N. Manning, A. Kennedy, R. M'Nair, S. M'Nair, A. M'Nair, C. Moore, F. Moore.

North Sydney has the following members in Egypt, or training to join the forces.—Messrs. T. Britten, W. T. Tucker, S. Hay, G. Henderson, C. Lane, D. Mugaiston, A. Boulton-Wood, J. Greenwood, H. Ferguson.

Dr. H. M. Moran, of Balmain, has decided to leave Sydney on March 18 for England, where he intends to enlist in the hospital staff serving at the war. Dr. Moran is well known as the captain of the Australian Rugby Union team that visited Great Britain, France, and America in 1908, and were nicknamed "The Wallabies."

Mr. John Salmon, secretary of the Protestant Alliance Friendly Society of Australasia, states that 250 members of the society have joined the Expeditionary Force. Up to the end of December the society had paid £125 as contributions for members in the forces.

Private J. F. Smith, a member of the Fifth Reinforcements, Third Battalion, was accorded a send-off on Monday night by the members of St. George Lodge, 118 P.A.F.S. of A., Kogarah.

Major G. A. Roberts, of the Australian Imperial Expeditionary Force, who has left for the front, and who in civil life is an alderman of the North Sydney Council, has not been forgotten by his fellow-aldermen. At Tuesday night's meeting of the council the Mayor (Alderman W. Anderson) said that the aldermen and himself had hoped to make Major Roberts a presentation prior to his departure for the front. As this could not be done, the presentation—a silver spirit kettle and tray—would be made upon the major's return.

The Rev. J. Howell Price yesterday received a letter from his son, Lieutenant O. G. Howell-Price, in which he states that on Sunday, January 10, in company with other officers on leave he had attended a service in St. Mary's Church of England, Cairo, and in the evening had tea in the rectory, the Dean of Sydney being also present. Lieutenant Howell-Price remarked that it seemed a coincidence that he should attend a church and take tea in the rectory bearing the same name as the parish church of which his father is rector.

Mr. R. L. Reynolds, who was a member of the Australian force that went to New Guinea, and Mr. A. P. Woollard are leaving for London by the Ballarat on Saturday with the intention of joining British regiments.

RUSSIAN ENLISTS.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

Cruno Kindler, theatrical manager, an insolvent, whose case had been adjourned until the first Tuesday in June, asked the Commissioner, Mr. Russell, in the Insolvency Court, to-day, for permission to leave the State upon military service. He said he came to Australia from Russia at the age of 19, and desired to join the Australian Expeditionary Forces.

Permission was granted.

AUTOMOBILE CORPS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

After a period of service extending over 10 years, the Automobile Volunteer Corps is about to be disbanded by the Commonwealth defence authorities. It is stated that none of the officers of the corps will lose anything by the disbanding of the corps, but that all their rights of rank and seniority are to be conserved. They will be transferred to any other unit with which they may desire to serve and in which there are vacancies.

APPEAL BY THE CLERGY.

A pathetic appeal reaches the Premier from Servia. A copy has been forwarded to Mr. Holman of an appeal to English people on behalf of the Servians from the Archbishop of Belgrade and Metropolitan of Servia.

The appeal, which is most pathetic, is in the following terms:—

"Even the smallest contribution for this object will be an act most pleasing to God. During the long war a great number of adult Serbs have already been killed or disabled for work. Their homes and their orphans will have to suffer greatly from hunger and destitution during the winter season.

"The barbarous methods of warfare of the German Allies have inflicted on us, as well as on the Belgians, bloody and incurable wounds. Whole crowds of our best and noblest Serbs, who as non-combatants peacefully received the Austrian army, have been killed with a cruelty of which even savages would be ashamed. Many have been locked up in school buildings and other houses and burnt alive. Belgrade, the beautiful capital of Servia, its cathedral, its educational and humanitarian institutions, have been destroyed. The University, the National Library, the Museum, and scientific collections have been ruined.

"For those who have escaped, and for the orphans of the fallen, speedy help is most necessary. That is why I am addressing this letter to you, and I appeal to all the archbishops, bishops, and clergy of God's Churches, and to all noble-minded men and women, to hasten with their charity in aid of the Servian nation in its present great distress.

"The principal committee for speedy relief is under my presidency, and I therefore beseech all kind men in your happy country to collect contributions for the Servian sufferers. I, with other members of the committee, will take care that money assistance is properly distributed to real sufferers."

The secretary to the Premier (Mr. E. B. Harkness) announces that cheques in aid of the object are being received by every mail.

BRITISH PREFERENCE.

CITY COUNCIL'S ATTITUDE.

At a recent meeting of the works committee of the City Council, a resolution that no contracts be entered into with companies or firms that were not exclusively British was carried. At yesterday's meeting of the committee several aldermen mentioned that this resolution was likely to operate in a hard manner, and penalise firms that were to all intents and purposes British. Alderman A. McElhone, chairman of the committee, agreed that the original resolution went a little too far, and he thought the object the council had in view, which was British preference, would be met by a resolution that the management of the shares or interests in a firm or company must be held by British born or naturalised subjects. At his suggestion, it was decided to make a recommendation to this effect to the council.

EGYPT.

A SOLDIER'S LETTER.

Private A. L. Aucher, a member of the Australian Imperial Expeditionary Force, and also a member of the Coogee Surf Club, writing from Egypt to a clubmate, states:—"We have had 26 deaths since we left Australia, and the authorities are sending back all those who are medically unfit; also those who fail in the shooting tests. I did really well in the musketry course—reckoned the targets were Germans, and made sure of a hit. We have about finished our training now, and I can tell you we are really fit, though we are all thinner than when we left the boat, but hard as nails. We are all very excited about our prospects of a scrap, and are keen to have a go at the unspeakable Turk. If we get through with the little lot speedily, there will still be a chance of going to France, where I have eight cousins already in the firing line. We have just been served out with our identification discs (these to hang round our necks) and our field bandages. This looks as if we are to move at short notice."

HIGH PRICE OF FLOUR.

AUCKLAND (N.Z.), Tuesday.

The price of flour has been raised to £16 10s a ton.

VOTES FOR SOLDIERS.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

The necessary documents to enable men on active service to vote at the forthcoming State elections have been sent through the Commonwealth Government to commanding officers. The forms are provided for soldiers to nominate persons in Queensland to exercise votes on their behalf.

Mrs. Wilson, of North Goulburn, is sending a further two cases of jam.

RED CROSS.

The New South Wales Travelling Kitchen Fund is steadily mounting, and the first kitchen for the Light Horse is to be ordered this week. The committee has received assurances from the military authorities that the criticisms recently passed on travelling kitchens in no way applies to those supplied to the New South Wales troops. The latter are equipped with field kitchens, made after the Imperial army pattern, and the utility of these is beyond question. As the half-crown campaign is for the month of February alone, anyone wishing to contribute is requested to do so as soon as possible, either by putting half-a-crown in the collecting boxes at David Jones, Farmer and Co., or the Hotel Australia, or other places in the city, or by sending contributions to the hon. treasurers, Miss F. M. Austin, Sydney Municipal Library, or Miss D. V. Harris, Wadara, Turramurra.

BLUE CROSS.

Mr. H. Chisholm, hon. secretary of the Blue Cross Fund, 60 Castlereagh-street, acknowledges the receipt of the following contributions towards the fund to help horses in war time:—

Already acknowledged, £690/17/9; K. M. and H. Rutherford, £2/2/; M. H. S., £1/1/; Mrs. E. A. M. Merewether, £1; Miss Joan Dignam, 10/; Miss Hilda Black, £5; W. H. Mackay, jun., £5/0/6; Mrs. F. Gill, £3/3/. Total, £711/14/3.

"WAR CHEST."

Already acknowledged, £9480/1/8½; employees "S.M. Herald" and "Sydney Mail," £3/4/2; employees W. C. Penfold and Co., £3/18/10; employees Farmer and Co., Ltd., £2; employees S. Lund (Miller's Point), £5/6/; collected by Mrs. M. Millar, £1/15/6; collected by Mrs. Devereux (Glebe Point), £1/8/; collected by Mrs. Woodbridge (Watson's Bay), second instalment, £1/4/; collected by Mrs. Stafford (Granville), £1/1/; Lindeman's, Ltd., £1/1/; H. A. Cornish, £1/1/; Mrs. J. Robertson, £1/1/; R. L. Scrutton, £1/1/; C. M. W. Chateau (second instalment), £1; collected by Mrs. Rosen (Arncliffe), £1; Mrs. Beatrice Griffin, 10/6; Mrs. C. S. Rowe, 10/; Mrs. W. Leison, 9/6; J. H. Curran, 5/; A. M. Jamieson, 3/6; Mrs. J. Mackay, 2/6. Total, £236/16/3.

FRENCH-AUSTRALIAN LEAGUE.

A splendid donation came in yesterday from the Redfern Patriotic Fund. It consisted of 105 suits of good cloth for boys from 10 to 12 years of age, and many garments besides for girls, women, and soldiers. The first are all destined to Vauxbain, which will practically be clothed by New South Wales friends. The hon. secretaries have received from Madame Brasier de Thuy, president of the French Red Cross Society in London, a letter in which she says:—"Thank for us the French colony and their warm-hearted friends for their precious gifts of clothing."

The appeal for loaves for the distressed villagers of Vauxbain, near Soissons, is being responded to, and 76 loaves have already been given. A loaf costs 4d, and stamps for this amount may be sent to the hon. treasurer, 113 Pitt-street.

AUSTRALIAN HOSPITAL.

The following donations have been received by Mr. Colin C. Stephen, of 14 O'Connell-street:—

Amount already acknowledged, of which £9750 has been remitted, £10,307/12/4; T. J. M., £50; Trangie Gardens, £7/2/; Harold D. Yates, £2/2/. Total, £10,366/16/4.

Y.M.C.A. FIELD SERVICE FUND.

Mr. W. Gillanders, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., reports that letters received from Egypt by the recent mail mention in grateful terms the services of the Sydney Y.M.C.A. field service department in the Mena camp. Friends of troopers have been forwarding contributions to the general secretary as thank offerings. The association has large accounts to meet at the end of the month, and would be grateful if the fund could be brought up to £1000 before the end of the month. The following contributions are acknowledged:—

Amount previously acknowledged, £882/0/11; Staff J. Bardsley and Co., 11/; Mrs. Cox, 10/; Mr. M. Cox, 10/; Mr. R. Cox, 5/; Mr. H. Chapman, 5/; Rev. R. J. H. M'Gowan, 10/6; Mrs. W. H. Barraclough, £1/1/; "A Friend," £3; Epping Presbyterian Fellowship, £1/5/; Mr. Albert Capel, £5; Mrs. F. N. Cadell, £2/2/6; Mr. E. V. Newman, 5/. Total, £897/14/11.

SOCK FUND.

The committee of the above fund has despatched 2026 pairs of socks.

All socks made should be of sizes 10½, 11, 11½. All should be made on big needles, with loose work and soft wool, and especially the 10½ size should be the full size. Legs in all cases should be 14 inches long. There should on no account be any knot near the heels or under the feet, as a sock imperfect in this little particular may mean the laying up of a soldier, as once a man has been given out a pair of socks he has to make the best of them, for he has no chance of getting more for some time. Thus, a badly made sock may not only be of no use, but may do actual harm.

As more money was received after the despatch of the last cases, an additional 300 pairs have been ordered, and will be sent forward immediately, and it is hoped that, as many thousands more will be required when the next shipment goes, in three months' time, money and gifts of socks and wool will continue to be received without delay, so that orders may be kept going. Gifts of wool are specially acceptable, as this allows the committee to give work to professional knitters who are out of work in Sydney.

IN THE COUNTRY.

BERRY, Tuesday.

The local branch of the Red Cross League netted £45 from a refreshment stall at the recent Berry Show.

TENTERFIELD, Tuesday.

A meeting of the patriotic committee decided to send £380 more to the Chamber of Commerce Fund.

TRADING WITH THE ENEMY ACT.

APPLICATION TO HIGH COURT.

INTERESTING CASE.

The position of the firm of Alexander and Co. in respect of the Trading With the Enemy Act was before Mr. Justice Barton in the High Court yesterday. The matter came forward by way of an application made by the Crown for the appointment of a comptroller for the firm.

Mr. Leverrier, K.C., and Mr. I. B. Norris, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor, appeared to support the application; and Mr. Ralston, K.C., and Mr. W. J. Curtis, instructed by Mr. F. W. Barker for Bernhardt Hesslein, and Louis Frank, now trading as Alexander and Co.

Mr. Ralston, in outlining the position of the firm, said that prior to the war it was registered in Australia as Alexander and Co. Two of the partners, Hesslein and Frank, resided in Australia, and the third, Alexander, lived in Germany. Hesslein was a naturalised Australian. He had resided here for many years; was married to an Australian lady, and had several children. Though Frank had resided in Australia for 30 years, he was unnaturalised, but he was married to an Australian, and had a family. On the outbreak of the war the partnership was dissolved automatically, and a new firm under the title of Alexander and Co. was registered by Hesslein. All the assets of the original company were bought in by the new company. They were valued at £30,000. Of this amount £11,000 belonged to Alexander, who is in Germany, and of the balance £15,000 belonged to Frank and £5000 to Hesslein. They admitted that as far as the money which belonged to Alexander was concerned, it should be placed under a comptroller and impounded, and they were prepared to give a bond to prevent the transfer of moneys to him.

Mr. Leverrier said that an affidavit was filed in support of the application, setting out that the Minister for Trade and Customs was in possession of certain facts, which he considered most important, and should be kept secret as they might prove prejudicial to the interests of the public.

Mr. Justice Barton: If the Court sees that the Minister has access to information, which, if it were made public, would be prejudicial to the public, the Court will treat his opinions with the greatest respect.

Mr. Leverrier: We are quite prepared to put all the evidence that we have before the Court, but we want directions from the Court which would preclude such information becoming public property.

Mr. Justice Barton: Suppose the evidence is discussed in court?

Mr. Leverrier: In that case I will ask your Honor to sit in camera.

Mr. Justice Barton: That is strong power to ask me to exercise. It is essential that the proceedings of the Court should be public, and sittings in camera should only be held on grave occasions.

Mr. Leverrier: In a case like this, where the interests of the Commonwealth and Great Britain are concerned, I think the Court would have full justification in exercising that power.

Mr. Justice Barton: That is so.

Mr. Leverrier then made an application for a postponement. This was strenuously opposed by Mr. Ralston, who argued that such cases should be dealt with with the greatest despatch.

After further argument his Honor granted an adjournment until 10.30 this morning to allow the Crown to file further affidavits.

THE BLUMENTHAL CASE.

FINES INFLICTED.

The cases brought under the Trading With the Enemy Act, upon information laid by the Inspector of Customs, Mr. Donohoe, against August Blumenthal, Limited, for attempting to trade with the enemy, were concluded at the Water Police Court yesterday. The magistrate fined defendant company £25, and £31 10s costs on the first charge—that of attempting to trade with the enemy by means of a letter, dated August 11, addressed and posted at Sydney to August Blumenthal, Hamburg, and by means of orders forwarded with the letters. On the second charge—that of sending a similar letter on August 19—a fine of £50 and £10 10s costs was imposed.

Mr. H. E. Manning, instructed by the Commonwealth Crown Solicitor's Office, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. T. R. Davin, instructed by Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Company, for the defence.

In the course of his judgment, Mr. Payten, S.M., said:—Until recently it was an offence against the Common Law only to trade with the enemy at the time of war, but the Federal Parliament of Australia after war broke out introduced an Act reducing the matter to statute. The statute in certain particulars extended the Common Law, one of which was the power of dealing with the offence in a summary way or by indictment. If the offence is prosecuted summarily, a fine not exceeding £500, or imprisonment for any term not exceeding 12 months, or both, might be imposed as punishment. This statute was assented to on October 23 last, and an Act with some slight amendments received assent on November 26 following. This, I understand, is the first attempt in any British community to bring the Common Law in this connection into statutory form. The offence is one that is little known; in fact, many of the text books on the criminal law contain no reference to it, and I understand that the Law Reports of England contain no case in any way touching the matter civilly or criminally since the English-Russian war, 1854-55.

"To trade" should not be confined to the interpretation sought to be placed upon it by counsel for the defence, but should, when used in connection with any act or transaction by way of trade, under the Act (No. 9 of 1914) receive the most liberal construction. Any act or negotiation for the exchange of commodities by barter would, I think, be trade. Any letter enclosing such correspondence as has been put in as evidence in these cases would, in my opinion, be sufficient proof of an attempt to trade in the case where the offence against the company is charged as of August 11. I am disposed to lean to the view submitted by the defence, namely, that it was a purely technical offence, and that defendants were merely endeavouring to carry to completion a transaction initiated before the declaration of war, but no such excuse could be advanced in the second case of August 19, seeing that on August 11 a telegram was despatched by Mr. Andrew, a director of the company, and received at its office next day, saying "not to offer or sell anything." The same day he wrote the company a letter informing it of the issue of the proclamation (under the Act), making it "treasonable" to supply or obtain any goods from the German Empire, etc. Notwithstanding this warning from one of its prominent officers, the company persisted in its effort to effect further business with an enemy in Germany by forwarding orders and indents which it had already obtained.

MISSING FROM KATOOMBA.

KATOOMBA, Tuesday.

Jack Capitano, aged 27, single, an Italian, employed as shop assistant by F. Costa, fruiterer, has been missing since Sunday morning.

He has been employed by Costa for five or six months. On Sunday morning he left his employer's house shortly after breakfast, and was last seen walking towards Katoomba Falls. It is feared he has been lost somewhere in the Jamieson Valley. The local police have the matter in hand, and several search parties have been endeavouring to trace the missing man, but without success. A native tracker was to-day taken on to assist in the search.

PARENTS FINED.

PENRITH, Tuesday.

Three parents were proceeded against for neglecting to send children to school upon the required number of days. Two were fined 1s each and costs. In the other case two children were involved. The fine was fixed at 5s each child and costs.

I.W.W. FINED.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.

At the Police Court this morning the remainder of the cases in connection with the I.W.W. meeting on Saturday night were heard by Mr. Adrian, S.M.

Frederick Morgan, 27, electrical engineer, was fined £5, or in default two months' imprisonment, on a charge of unlawfully assaulting Thomas Creamer. On another charge of behaving in an offensive manner, Morgan was ordered to enter into a surety of £40 to be of good behaviour for 12 months, or in default, serve three months' imprisonment. Michael McCool, 26, labourer, and William McKay, 29, tailor, were each fined £3, or six weeks' imprisonment, for offensive behaviour.

THE PREMIER.

SPEECH AT TRANGIE.

ELECTION FIGHT.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

TRANGIE, Tuesday.

This town is counted by the supporters of Mr. Blacket as one of their strongholds, and it would seem that they rely on it to give even greater aid on Saturday next than in previous elections. The figures for Trangie in the last contest gave Mr. Blacket a majority of 13 in a poll of 477; but it is stated that many of the late Mr. Trefle's supporters have since left the district. About 60 men have left for the war, and the majority of these are thought to have been Labour adherents. Then, again, there was a camp of 40 rabbit-trappers out at Weembah. That has been recently disbanded, and other small camps have also been broken up. The local feeling is said to favour strongly the Country party. Liberalism is tabooed. The supporters of the Farmers and Settlers' Association do not consider that they have broken in on any compact. Landowners say that there was practically no justification for the truce between the two party leaders, and they regard the State Parliament more in the light of a glorified shire council. They advance the suggestion that the Commonwealth Parliament should have taken charge of all matters arising out of the war, and if any arrangement between parties was necessary it should have been made there.

But the Labour party, with characteristic energy, has come into this fight with all its forces well marshalled. The Premier is here, and there are 10 other members working in the electorate. They realise that the poll will not be as large as it has been in previous elections, but they are working with the object of ensuring that their voters shall not show any more falling-off than they can avoid. The supporters of the party assert that they have the assurance of many Liberals that they will abstain from voting, and honour a truce that has been made by the leader of their party. If this should prove to be the case, Mr. Arkins' chance of securing the seat would seem to be a very good one.

The Premier cycled from Warren to Nevertire this morning. This is a distance of 12 miles. At the latter place he addressed a meeting during the luncheon hour, and in the afternoon went to Trangie. There was an enthusiastic meeting in the hall to-night. The heat, which during the day went well above a hundred degrees, was little lower at night; but the meeting was none the less appreciative. Mr. Holman traversed a lot of ground, but little that was new.

"As the result of this gigantic war into which the Empire has been plunged," he said, "innumerable things are happening in our midst, which the people of Australia are disposed to think are the fault of the Government. They complain that the captain of the ship is unable to prevent the ship rolling a little. They are inclined to blame the navigators rather than the rough weather through which they have been passing. We have to endure the economic, commercial, and financial pressure which the war brings upon us. We have been threatened hour by hour by a disaster which would have brought Australia down to the European level. If we had an army of 50,000, or even 20,000, unemployed gathered in the streets of Sydney wages of all organised trades would have come down. The only way to deal with these questions was to see that the war did not create unemployment. The Government devoted itself to nothing else but keeping regular and steady employment for the people, and has done it with a measure of success which surprised me."

The Premier went on to say that the people who were making a song about the wheat acquisition were agents and speculators who had been prevented from selling at a bigger price. They were the men who lived on the farms and men who lived on the farmers in the Farmers and Settlers' Association.

IN A GALE.

VESSEL SEVERELY BUFFETED.

BRISBANE, Tuesday.

The Italian ship Antonio Padre, which was overdue at Brisbane with a cargo of tiles put in towards Cape Moreton on Saturday with the object of obtaining the services of the pilot vessel. She was unable to hold her course, owing to the strong south-east wind, and was gradually forced up the coast. The vessel eventually dropped anchor off Noosa Heads.

A boat with five men set out for the shore, but capsized in the surf. The men, however, succeeded in reaching land.

A tug has been sent out to pick up the vessel, which is not in any immediate danger.

It was learned that the Antonio Padre is about 200 days out from Marseilles. The captain died in Western Australia, and the ship was navigated during the remainder of the voyage by the first officer. The vessel was caught in a heavy gale when about 125 miles off Sydney, and was practically dismantled.

ALDERMEN DISAGREE.

A motion on the business paper at last night's meeting of the Waverley Council was responsible for a wordy dispute between some of the aldermen.

The matter came before the council in the form of a works committee recommendation that £17 worth of kerbing and guttering should be relaid in Campbell's-parade.

Alderman Rogers said the proposal, if adopted, would pave the way towards vitiating the agreement between the council and the Bondi Beach View Estate Company.

Alderman Loewenthal said the share register of the company contained the names of Aldermen John Campbell, John Frank Cox, and Dr. Stephen Bruce Burge.

Alderman Dr. Bruce Burge: I don't hold one share in the company.

Alderman Loewenthal: Then the register lies.

Alderman Dr. Bruce Burge: It must, at that rate.

Words passed between several of the aldermen, and Aldermen Loewenthal and Rogers were ordered by the Mayor to leave the room.

Alderman Cox explained that aldermen were perfectly entitled to hold shares in limited liability companies if they chose.

At a later stage the Mayor said there was no reason why the two aldermen who had been ordered out should not return to the meeting, and on the motion of Alderman Campbell it was agreed that Aldermen Loewenthal and Rogers should resume their seats.

It was subsequently explained by Aldermen Cox and Campbell that they themselves held shares in the company mentioned, and the Mayor explained that Dr. Bruce Burge was not a shareholder in the company.

The works committee's recommendation was then agreed to, with the proviso added that the work be done only if the company referred to gave an undertaking that it would not interfere with its agreement with the council.

LETTER-CARRIERS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

The hearing was continued in the Commonwealth Arbitration Court to-day of the plaint of the Australian Letter-carriers' Association asking for increased wages, shorter hours of work, and improved conditions of labour.

Archibald John Christie, superintendent of the mails branch, Sydney, said he did not think the hours, which were based upon 44 a week, should be reduced. The case stands part heard.

NO WHARF WORK TO-DAY.

There will be no work on the wharfs to-day, consequent upon the holding of the annual picnic in connection with the Sydney Wharf-labourers' Union.

MEAT FOR THE ARMY.

FEDERAL CO-OPERATION.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Reference was made to-day by the Minister for Customs (Mr. Tudor) to a statement recently made by the New South Wales Treasurer (Mr. Cann) relative to the Federal Ministry's intention with regard to the export of meat.

"I feel sure," said Mr. Tudor, "that Mr. Cann is under a misapprehension regarding the matter. As far as I know, the Federal Government has no intention of testing the validity of the recent New South Wales legislation in reference to meat. What I understand is that the Interstate Commission called upon a representative of the Federal Attorney-General's Department to show the difference between the New South Wales Meat Bill and the Wheat Bill. As I stated a few days ago, the Federal Government intends to fall in with the views of the Imperial Government, and, after all, it is only the Federal Government that can grant permits for the export of meat. None of the State Governments can do so. A cable message has been sent to the Imperial Government that we are complying with their request, and that meat will only be exported as desired by them. The home authorities have also been informed that a large contract had previously been entered into with one of the Allied Powers."

EXPORTERS' ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of representatives of the frozen meat export trade was held yesterday at the Liverpool, London, and Globe building, Pitt-street. There were present: Messrs. F. J. Walker, H. B. Francis, L. G. Bain, T. Fraser, T. A. Field, McCulloch, A. Gee, F. W. Hughes, R. M. Pitt.

It was resolved:—(1) That those present form themselves into an association to be called the Frozen Meat Exporters' Association of N.S.W. (2) That Mr. F. W. Hughes be chairman. A discussion took place as to the position created by the action of the Imperial Government in connection with supplies of frozen meat. It was reported to the meeting that the Queensland Government, after consulting exporters, had cabled an offer at fixed prices to the Imperial authorities, and that as far as beef was concerned the offer had been accepted by the Imperial authorities.

The prices fixed were as follows:—For all beef in store before February 3, 4¼d f.o.b.; for all beef in store after February 3, 4½d f.o.b.; for mutton in store, G.A.Q. wethers, 4 1-8d; for mutton in store, F.A.Q. wethers, 4d; for mutton in store, ewes, 3 7-8d.

A report was read of a meeting of exporters which had taken place in Melbourne. The prices suggested by that body to the Victorian Government were as follows:—Beef, G.A.Q., 5d f.o.b.; F.A.Q., 4 7-8d f.o.b.; 3rd, 4¼d f.o.b.; cow, 4¼d f.o.b.; mutton, February delivery, wethers, 4 1-8d f.o.b.; mutton, February delivery, ewes, 3 7-8d f.o.b.; mutton, March-April-May delivery, wethers, 4¼d f.o.b.; mutton, March-April-May delivery, ewes, 4d f.o.b.

The meeting was also informed that the Queensland Government had notified exporters in that State that Mr. Cox, of Messrs. Birt and Co., had been appointed representative of the Imperial Government to control the oversea transport of all meat on behalf of the Imperial Government in Queensland.

The following resolutions were carried:—1. As the scarcity of freight is the controlling factor in the meat export trade at the present time, it is desirable that steps should be taken to obtain additional refrigerated tonnage. 2. That of the refrigerated tonnage available a larger allocation should be made to this State. 3. That a firm offer be cabled at prices (to be arranged) to the Imperial authorities of all available supplies. 4. That such prices (quality considered) should be uniform for Australia, and should be fixed in consultation with exporters. 5. That, as far as future supplies are concerned, prices should be fixed for only short periods ahead, as conditions in the pastoral areas and in ultimate markets change very rapidly. 6. That it is hoped that whilst the Interstate Commission is adjudicating upon the questions submitted to it nothing will be done (such as delaying the issue of permits for shipments to the United Kingdom or to ports of Allies) that would cause the loss of freight space to this State. 7. That this body is willing to act in an advisory capacity, and will hold itself in readiness to do so immediately upon request. 8. That the foregoing resolutions be communicated to the Ministers, both Federal and State, in charge of the administration of the Acts covering export generally, and the meat trade in particular.

MISSING BALLOT PAPERS.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

Further evidence was taken to-day by the Federal Royal Commission inquiring into the operations of the Commonwealth Electoral Act. Mr. Sinclair (Q.) presided.

Septimus Anderson, formerly engaged in the Commonwealth Electoral Department, said that just prior to the 1913 election 5000 ballot papers went astray.

The Chairman: How do you know?—I know they went astray, and I believe they went to Brunswick. I wanted to go to the post-office with them in order to get a receipt for them, but Mr. Miller told me not to. The result was that they were not receipted by anybody, and, I believe, the carter dumped them down into a right-of-way or something. I know detectives were chasing them round Victoria for a long time.

Mr. Sinclair: Do you know anything about the destruction of pamphlets that were sent out explaining the referendum proposals?—Yes; millions of them were returned.

Henry Williamson, formerly temporarily employed in the Commonwealth Electoral Department, said that the condition of affairs in the index room was chaotic.

MR. FLOWERS'S CRITICISMS.

ALDERMEN INDIGNANT.

At Monday's meeting of the Burwood Council Alderman Sheppard referred to the recent strictures of Mr. Flowers, M.L.C., on suburban municipalities. The Minister had stated that municipal matters had sunk low in this State. Alderman Sheppard retorted that the present Government should be the last to criticise anybody, seeing that they had recourse to a private firm for money to carry on the country's works. Investors had confidence in municipal loans, as their last loan was floated at 3⅞ per cent. He challenged the Government to get such good terms.

The Mayor said that the present Government had been in power for six of the most prosperous years in the history of the State, yet instead of having a surplus they showed a deficiency.

NORTH SYDNEY'S RATE.

At the last meeting of the North Sydney Council it was resolved to strike a rate of 4½d in the £ on the unimproved capital value of all ratable land within the municipality for the year 1915.

THE WAR.

A SERBIAN-MONTENEGRIN FUND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The Serbian people have fought bravely, and no doubt are in a bad way. The proposal to start a fund for them is a just one, but I contend that the Montenegrins should be included, and I believe the Serbians would gladly acquiesce in such a proposal themselves. The people of Montenegro—the land of the Black Mountain—are the bravest of the brave. They live in a landlocked little country, but their Prince (King, I was going to say) is one of the most striking personalities of the time; and these people are undoubtedly starving, or on the brink of starvation. I propose that they be included in the Serbian Relief Fund. Will anyone second the resolution?

RIFLEMEN'S TRAINING.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I was pleased to read in to-day's "Herald" the suggestion thrown out by Mr. Campbell Carmichael re uniforms for rifle clubs. It is surely not expecting too much of the large city firms that they should provide what is really necessary. I feel certain that if these uniforms were provided, and members of the different clubs were allowed the Saturday following Good Friday off, so that they could go into camp (which might easily be arranged) over Easter, it would do them more good than six months' drill, as at present being held in Government House grounds and elsewhere.

SUPPLY OF TEACHERS.

GREATER INDUCEMENTS.

PROPOSED REGULATIONS.

A great number of inquiries are being made at the Department of Public Instruction as to the prospects of a boy entering the teaching profession. New regulations are being framed, and yesterday the Director of Education gave an outline of them in order that parents of boys who have gained the qualifying certificate, and who wish to make teachers of them, may know the position. Hitherto one of the chief objections urged against a boy entering the teaching service was the fact that he did not receive any scholarship allowance until he was at least 16 years old. Under the old regulations boys were admitted as probationary students at 15, and served twelve months without any monetary advantage as a result of their probationary student scholarship, receiving £12 a year during the second year of the currency of the scholarship. Then upon successful examination the student passed into the Teachers' College. It has now been decided to institute another group of scholarships for boys, who may now hold one or other of the following qualifications:—

(a) Intermediate certificate.

(b) One year's instruction beyond the standard of the qualifying certificate.

(c) The qualifying certificate.

Students are grouped accordingly, the preparatory course extending over two years for group (a), three years for group (b), and four years for group (c). Scholarships for boys in group (a), i.e., boys who hold the intermediate certificate, will entitle the holder to a money grant yearly for two years, if residing at home, with an additional sum if the boy is required to board away from home.

The scholarships for boys under group (b), that is, boys who have had one year's instruction beyond the standard of the qualifying certificate, carry a money grant, increasing in value for each of the three years, with an additional sum if the boys are required to reside away from home. In group (c), i.e., for boys who only hold the qualifying certificate, the course lasts for four years, and such students will receive a money grant for each of the last three years of the course.

Another important alteration lies in the fact that boys in groups (b) and (c) may hold their scholarships for the early years of the course at an approved country school where there is a sixth class.

Scholarships also carry such text books as are deemed necessary. The students in group (a) must at commencement be at least 15 years of age, in group (b) at least 14 years, and in group (c) at least 13 years of age, so that all students will be at least 17 years before entering the Teachers' College at the end of their probationary course.

Speaking of the new regulations yesterday, the Director of Education stated that many parents would probably be prepared to allow their sons to enter a High School with the object of becoming a teacher now that the conditions have been altered. Hitherto probationary students were not accepted under 15 years of age, so that they were 16 before any monetary allowance was received. Now a monetary allowance can be given when the boy is 14, increasing in value as he increases in years.

MACQUARIE-STREET.

WIDENING THE LOWER END.

The widening of the lower end of Macquarie-street, by taking off a strip of the Government House Grounds, is to be proceeded with at once.

At yesterday's meeting of the works committee of the City Council, Alderman Evan Jones expressed the hope that, now that the Privy Council appeal was settled, there would be no delay in going on with this improvement.

The chairman of the committee (Alderman A. M'Elhone) stated that the plans were ready, and that the work would be put in hand within a few days. When it was completed Macquarie-street would be one of the most beautiful thoroughfares south of the line.

MOTOR LORRIES.

OVER £8192 COLLECTED.

The hon. treasurers of the Red Cross Society, New South Wales Branch (Mrs. Spencer Brunton and Mr. Wilfrid Docker), Norwich chambers, Hunter-street, Sydney, announce the receipt of a cheque for £725 from the Australian Jockey Club for the purchase of a 2½-ton lorry, which will be shipped to London this week, inscribed with the name of the club.

The subscriptions to the Motor Lorry Fund to date are the following:—Amount previously acknowledged, £7370/3/7; Mrs. Usher Colyer, £1/1/; Mosman Branch, Red Cross Society, £25; A.L.W., 10/; Collection Box at 215 George-street, £1/4/3; M. Rutherford, £2/2/; per Red Cross Society, Moss Vale—Mrs. de Mestre £1/1/, Mrs. Mackay £1/0/6; Nimbin Branch Red Cross Society, account motor lorry, from North Coast, £50; Australian Jockey Club, account motor lorry, £725; Rylstone Branch Red Cross Society, £15; total, £8192/2/4.

MR. W. A. NOTTING.

A meeting, called by the Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club, was held at the club's rooms, Moore-street, last night, to promote a movement to acknowledge the services of Mr. W. A. Notting, hon. secretary of the Harbour Foreshores Vigilance Committee. Mr. C. L. Garland presided.

Letters were received from several municipal councils, the Amateur Fishermen's Association, the N.S.W. Rod Fishermen's Society, and the various sailing clubs, expressing sympathy with the movement.

The chairman said that Mr. Notting was, owing to ill-health, practically unable to attend to his business. But, apart from that fact, the Prince Alfred Yacht Club, in convening that meeting, felt that Mr. Notting's services were worthy of public recognition. Owing entirely to Mr. Notting's untiring efforts, £300,000 had been spent on the foreshores of Port Jackson.

It was decided to convene another meeting, to be held on Thursday, March 4, at 8 o'clock, when it would be proposed to elect a committee of ten to carry out the details of the movement.

MARSINA REFLOATED.

Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., Ltd., received a telegram yesterday to the effect that the steamer Marsina, which went on Dec Reef while bound from Rabaul to Sydney recently, has been floated off the reef.

The Marsina proceeded to Cooktown, with the tug Alert standing by. She went alongside the wharf there, and steps are being taken to ascertain the extent of the damage and to effect temporary repairs.

The passengers for Sydney transhipped from the Marsina to the steamer Montoro are:—Miss Williams, Mrs. Burgess and two children, Messrs. Macalpine, Plackett, Kennedy, Harrison, Meek, Pope, Whitten, Goodwin, M'Dougall, Bridle, Langdon, Flanagan, Strange, Rev. Burgess, 11 Fijians, and two Papuans.

KING'S UNIFORM.

DISGRACED IN ADELAIDE.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

Thomas Clarke, who on Monday appeared at Adelaide Police Court in the King's uniform, was sentenced to two months' imprisonment for being an idle and disorderly person. He was further charged with having as a bailee on February 9 stolen a bicycle, valued at £5.

Mr. Gepp: How is it that they allow the man to parade in uniform?

Prosecuting counsel: I don't know. I should have thought that when men were discharged from the forces their uniforms would be taken away from them.

THE BUILDING ACT.

At a meeting of the Master Builders' Association last evening a letter was read from the Chamber of Commerce, seeking co-operation in a request to the Premier to place the proposed Building Act before Parliament at once, and also that the Minister for Public Works be urged to adopt the bill as revised by the Institute of Architects.

Mr. W. Stuart pointed out that there were several proposed bills dealing with buildings in existence. Before they joined in the deputation, builders should ascertain which measure the Chamber of Commerce proposed the Minister should adopt.

It was decided to communicate with the Chamber of Commerce upon the subject.

The Eastern Suburbs United Band will perform selections in Clovelly Park, Watson's Bay, this evening.

CASUALTIES.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Lewis Charles Fisher, 54, a native of Germany, lately residing in Paraween-street, Neutral Bay, was walking near Parsley Bay, Vaucluse, on Monday. He said to two men in his company: "Boys, don't walk so fast." He then staggered and fell dead.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Frederick Archie Fletcher, 15, lately residing with his parents at Ivanhoe-street, Marrickville, died at the local hospital on Monday. It is stated the deceased and several friends drank some ginger-beer, and shortly afterwards young Fletcher became ill, and died as stated. Three other members of the party also became ill, but they are now recovering.

FELL TWENTY FEET.

Lilian Hart, 19, a domestic, falling from the balcony at 95 Murray-street, Pyrmont, to the footpath, a distance of 20ft, about 6.30 o'clock last evening, fractured her skull. She was conveyed to the Sydney Hospital by the Civil Ambulance, and admitted by Dr. Jeckyll.

PINNED UNDER BUGGY.

Charles Broadbent, 50, residing in Pittwater-road, Manly, was admitted to St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday by Dr. Roberts, suffering from a fractured left thigh. Mr. Broadbent, who is a commercial traveller, was riding in a buggy with Mr. George Brown, of Birrell-street, Waverley, along Darlinghurst-road, about 4 p.m., when the horse bolted, and, breaking a trace, overturned the vehicle. Mr. Broadbent was pinned underneath the vehicle, but his companion escaped with a few abrasions.

SEVERELY BURNED.

WOONONA, Tuesday.

Mrs. Mant, an elderly lady, residing in Thompson-street, Woonona, together with her granddaughter, aged about 6 months, met with a severe burning accident last evening. Mrs. Mant was lighting a Primus stove with methylated spirits, holding the child in her arms, when the spirits became suddenly ignited, and dashed into the faces of both, inflicting painful injuries. Their arms were also severely burned. Both Mrs. Mant and the child are in a critical condition.

DRIVING ACCIDENT.

BERRIGAN, Tuesday.

E. Bott, of Savernake was thrown out of a gig through the horse bolting, and was dragged along for some distance, breaking one of his thighs. He lay on the roadway for two hours until found by a resident.

PUNT ACCIDENT.

GRAFTON, Tuesday.

Thomas Rolls, the seven-year-old son of Mr. H. Rolls, of South Grafton, had his left arm crushed through being drawn between the guide wheels of the steam punt. The little fellow's arm was caught by the wire rope over which the punt traverses. The arm was amputated at the shoulder.

SHOT IN MISTAKE.

FOREST REEFS, Tuesday.

Whilst Thomas Moore, about 60 years of age, was working in his garden he received a charge of shot in the head and face and about the arms and body, accidentally through his head being mistaken for a rabbit. He now lies in a bad way in the Orange Hospital.

RAILWAYMAN KILLED.

BATHURST, Tuesday.

John Dowling, while working on the railway deviation, was terribly injured at Athol by the Sydney passenger train at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and subsequently died.

SUICIDE ON RAILWAY.

ADELAIDE, Tuesday.

A sensational incident occurred at Adelaide Gaol early this morning. An unknown man, who was apparently waiting for several engines to pass, suddenly jumped in front of the first as it drew level. He placed his head on the metals, and it was completely severed.

KILLED BY MAIL TRAIN.

MITTAGONG, Tuesday.

The coroner, Mr. H. W. Taylor, resumed his inquiry this morning concerning the death of Thomas Sturgeon, a workman, on the railway duplication work at Mittagong. It was found that he was accidentally killed by being knocked down by the Cooma mail on Friday.

PALESTINE.

PROPOSED HOME FOR JEWS.

The prominent note struck by the speakers at the annual meeting of the Sydney Zionist Society, held at the Synagogue-chambers on Monday evening, was the necessity for the whole of Jewry throughout the world to combine with the object of securing from the peace congress that will settle the terms after the war, that Palestine shall be secured for Jewish settlement, and thus bring about the main object of the movement, "the securing of a legal assured home for the Jews in Palestine."

The main items of the report dealt with the war and its effects on the different institutions of the movement. It stated that on the outbreak of war an extraordinary conference of American Zionists was held at New York, and it was decided to establish in that city a provisional executive committee for general Zionist affairs. That body had assumed all the work hitherto supported by the action committee, and particularly the maintenance of the Palestine institutions. In other words, this meant the transfer to neutral American soil of the headquarters of the central bureau, which had previously been at Berlin. Similarly, the headquarters of the Jewish National Fund were removed to the Hague, Holland, so that in a neutral country its activities could still be carried on. Both these bodies had written to the society, pointing out the urgent necessity of continuing collections, and sending the money, so that the cause and its institutions might not suffer through the decline in subscriptions that must necessarily occur in those countries that are the seat of war, and which had hitherto been large contributors. The society had not since the outbreak of war remitted any money, and had communicated with the English and South African Zionist federations as to the best course to adopt.

The total sum received from all sources during the year had been £106 0s 8d, and up to the end of last July the sum of £68 had been remitted to the Jewish Colonial Trust, Ltd. (the Zionist Bank at London), for Zionist objects.

The executive officers elected for the next twelve months were as follows:—President, Mr. P. J. Marks; hon. treasurer, Mr. M. B. Michelson; and hon. secretary, Mr. S. Pechter.

NEW PIGEON BREED.

The raising of the squabs (pigeons) for table is quite a big industry in the United States of America, but so far has not been developed in this country. Special attention and unlimited expense have during the last few years been devoted by American breeders to increasing the size of the birds, till to-day they have pigeons nearly as large as small fowls.

The types most utilised in squab breeding are the Giant Runt, the White Maltese, the Hungarian, and the Carnaux. Of these the first are the largest and heaviest by far, but produce one pair less of young during the year than do the others. They are sold for table at four weeks old, at which age they weigh up to 2lb per bird.

The Moana, which arrived last week, brought a consignment of the few types mentioned from one of the leading Californian breeders for Mr. Arthur Griffith's poultry ranch at Medlow. The whole of the birds arrived in good health.

A SLOW VOYAGE.

Any anxiety that might have been felt for the safety of the steamer Lord Cromer was set at rest yesterday afternoon, when the vessel was sighted from the signal station at South Head making for the port under her own steam. She left Melbourne on Friday last, and should have arrived here a couple of days ago.

It was stated that she had had trouble with her machinery.

AFTERNOON SHIFT.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.

Another move is likely to be made by the miners in respect to the afternoon shift strike during the next few days.

At the meeting to-day, Mr. Kearsley, M.L.A., was present, and it was decided to place certain proposals before a conference of representatives to be held in Sydney to-morrow.

THE ER.

HOT AN MUGGY.

During the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday some light rainfall was received on the North Coast. Tweed Heads had 20 points, Woolgoolga 14, Clarence Heads 14, Lismore 10, Byron Bay 9, and Casino 5.

Warm to hot and sultry conditions were again experienced generally, and the large number of temperature readings of 100 degrees and over pointed to heat wave influences not only in New South Wales, but also in South Australia, Queensland, and Victoria.

The highest registrations in this State on Monday were:—110 degrees at Balranald, 109 degrees at White Cliffs, 108 at Tibooburra, Bourke, and Menindie, and 107 at Euston and Coonamble. These high readings were mostly experienced on and westward from the slopes; eastward from there, although a few of the maximums reached were in the nineties (degrees), the majority were no higher than the eighties (degrees).

Yesterday Wilcannia recorded 107 degrees, Bourke, Deniliquin, and Hillston each 106, Hay 105, and Albury 102 degrees.

Due to the prevalence of easterly and north-easterly winds containing a fairly high percentage of moisture, the conditions were very muggy and uncomfortable, more especially during the night (Monday), as the temperature lowered slightly, thereby accentuating the discomfort.

Yesterday was another trying day in the city, heat and a high percentage of humidity combining to make very unpleasant conditions. The close mugginess was of a persistent nature, and was still in evidence last night.

Monsoonal influences were very prominent yesterday morning, but although in parts of tropical Australia, such as the far NW of Queensland, and in the Territory, some scattered rain has resulted, no definite rainstorm is yet in sight.

The cloudiness in the several States is still on the increase, and present indications favour scattered rains and thunderstorms, with further hot, sultry weather at first, but shortly to be relieved by a squally cool southerly change.

At Adelaide on Monday the temperature reached 110 deg., and at Thargomindah (Queensland) 108 deg.

FINANCIAL.

CHARLES ANDERSON AND CO.

The report of Charles Anderson and Co., Ltd., covers the year ended December 31. After providing for depreciation on plant, machinery, etc., and making allowance for bad and doubtful debts, a net profit of £9619 is shown, which, with £1467 brought forward from the previous year, makes a total of £11,087. An interim dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. absorbed £6000, to write off goodwill £2000, leaving an available balance of £3087. The directors decided, owing to the war, to suspend the payment of an interim dividend, but hope to resume them later on. The following comparison may be made:—

	Year ended December 31, 1912.	1913.	1914.

The objects are:—To acquire interests in any patents relating to improvements in heat-radiating and heat-absorbing elements, etc. The first directors are:—Messrs. H. S. Aylwin, T. E. Rofe, J. Shorter, S. S. Dingle, and T. Savage.

The Five Dock, Haberfield, and District Friendly Societies Dispensary, Ltd., has been registered, with a capital of £2000 in 5s shares. The objects are:—To carry on the business of chemists, druggists, importers, and manufacturers of drugs, etc. The registered office is at Five Dock.

O.T., Ltd., has declared a half-yearly dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum.

At the wool sales yesterday 6081 bales were offered, and, including private transactions, 6346 were sold.

The market ruled very firm for all good free wools. Japanese buying was active.

Melbourne S.S. Company, Ltd., for the half-year ended December 31 earned £9087, as against £9674 for the previous period. A dividend on the ordinary shares at the rate of 8 per cent. is declared, and on the preference at the rate of 6 per cent. The sum of £10,214 will be carried forward.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

The grocery market was steady yesterday, with a fair inquiry for most lines. Transactions between houses were small, and prices were near distributing rates. Herrings were dearer, kippered being quoted at 8/ and 5/2, and herrings in tomato sauce at 7/9 and 5/1½. Salmon was quiet. Karluk Horseshoe had a little market business. A parcel of safety matches was offered at 4/4. No relief was experienced in the high rates for rocksalt. The sailing vessel Inveramsay is bringing the next consignment. Jams are going out in fair quantities, but the demand for tinned fruit is extremely limited. Chicory was higher by a halfpenny, selling at /6 to /6½ per lb, according to quality. The crop in Victoria is very poor.

In Eastern produce there is no change in coffee, but some importers are afraid of the market slipping back again. Tapioca yesterday was reported at late high rates from Singapore. Locally the price was without alteration. Singapore also reported peppers higher, and although the local market shows no change the feeling is in favour of higher rates. Seeds were generally unaltered. Peas showed a heavy advance, blue boiling selling at 9/6 per bushel, and split peas at 26/6 per cwt. It is reported that most of the peas have been taken for the English market, but some millers are inclined to believe that the Tasmanian and Victorian farmers are holding on to the peas. Since the last advance in oatmeal the oat market has risen 6d per bushel. The tendency is therefore strong in favour of a further advance in meals. The Necessary Commodities Commission cannot hope to control the price of the manufactured commodity until it controls the raw material. Pearl barley was advanced £2 a ton to 22/3 per cwt. Cinnamon was inactive, and the price was reduced 2d per lb to 1/8.

The extreme cost of teas by Monday's mail drove buyers to take teas by previous mails, and there was yesterday a fair inquiry. Six hundred packages of Ceylon were sold up to 13¾d. Indians had been cleared out of first hands. Advices from Calcutta dated January 12 stated that the quality of the Dooars was disappointing for the time of the year. The Darjeelings were mostly of the mid-season description, and with a few exceptions plain in cup. Only a few little lots showed signs of "cold weather" flavour. A strong Russian demand continued, and buyers for that market secured very large quantities at firm and dearer rates. Common and medium leaf grades received most attention, and registered an advance of 3 pies. All good liquoring teas were keenly competed for, and the improved quality was reflected in the prices realised. In the sale held on January 12 there were fewer stand-out invoices than was the case in the previous sale, but the quality was of a desirable description, though the leaf showed more signs of the close of the season. The sale passed with an even stronger demand, and all leaf grades advanced a further 5 pies. Brokens were firm and dear, and all teas of attractive cup realised high prices. As a result of the shortage in steamers to cope with the demand for space, the British-India Company has increased the rate for tea to £2/10/, as from January 15.

The oil market was extremely active, and some large parcel transactions were recorded. The demand for linseed oil revived, and 500 drums of Blundell, Spence's changed hands at a slight concession on 4/1 and 4/3. Turpentine was cabled from New York at 3/3½ c.i.f. and e., which means a landed cost of 3/6½. Three hundred cases on spot were procured at 3/5. Two hundred cases of fish oil to arrive in April were placed at £20 per ton; zinc white ground in oil had business at £52, and on a good inquiry G. grade rosin sold at £12/15/.

There were no changes in the prices quoted for jute fabrics.

TARIFF DECISIONS.

The following decisions in interpretation of the tariff are announced:—

Chair and ladder combined. Item 305 (D). Electrical appliances: Telephone parts. Protectors or lightning arresters, when not imported with and for telephone switchboards. Item 179 (B).

Machinery.—Wire-tinning machine. Item 174. (By-law No. 365 operating on and from 31/12/'14.)

Oil. Residual oil for the following purposes to be added to the list referred to in circular F'15/2, line 8. For oiling wooden moulds employed for reinforced concrete work. For painting skins as a prevention against weevils. For oiling steel and iron plates as a prevention against rust, and, incidentally, soaking a large wire cable for patent slipway.

Perfumes, synthetic, are to be admitted under Item 299 (D) on security that the perfumes will be used only in the manufacture of scents, soaps and toilet preparations, and that proof of such use is produced to the satisfaction of the Collector within six months after delivery by the Customs.

Watches.—Watch heads, i.e., watches with permanent attachments for applying a bracelet—vide also cir. F'15/5, line 9, and photograph forwarded with cir. F'15/8. Item 318.

AMERICAN FREIGHT.

Freight from the United States is very short, in fact, as far as the East Coast is concerned, it may be said that freight is practically unavailable. Four sailing vessels have been chartered, and these will bring goods which in normal times would come by steamer. All the steamers are engaged in carrying munitions, provisions, and livestock across the Atlantic for the belligerents, mostly, of course, for Great Britain, France, and Russia. They are earning extraordinary freights, and a short voyage with high freight appeals to the shipowner rather than a long voyage with high freight. As an instance of how freights have advanced, it may be mentioned that the usual rate for wheat from the Atlantic ports of the United States to Great Britain is 15/ to 17/6 per ton. To-day it is 60/ per ton. Again, there is a fleet of steamers which Great Britain has taken for transports, running well into four figures. Thus a serious gap is made in the world's transport service. Other factors are the sinking of vessels by belligerents, and the natural wastage of the sea; and this wastage is not being replaced to any great extent by new tonnage. The shipbuilding yards of Great Britain are too busy with Admiralty orders to build any appreciable number of new ships. So we at this end of the world seem to have arrived at a period when we must expect short supplies of the goods we import.

BREADSTUFFS.

There was no change in the price of flour. Bran was quoted at £7/10/, and pollard at £8 a ton.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 425 tons of wheat and 197 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In the live stock market to-day 41,000 fat sheep were yarded. The bulk were of useful to good quality, with a fair proportion of primes. Opening sales were inclined to be easier for all classes; but the demand soon strengthened, and last week's best rates were maintained throughout the day for all good to prime sheep. Secondary and inferior sorts were in slacker request throughout, at lower values. Quotations:—Prime crossbred wethers 18/ to 23/, extra do., do., to 25/, odd pens to 27/4, odd wethers to 28/9, good crossbred wethers 14/9 to 17/, seconds 11/ to 13/6, inferior to 10/; prime crossbred ewes 15/6 to 19/6, extra to 21/9, odd ewes higher, good crossbred ewes 11/6 to 14/, inferior to 10/6, prime merino wethers 14/6 to 18/3, extra to 21/9, odd sheep higher; good merino wethers 12/ to 13/6, inferior to 10/3, merino ewes from 9/6 to 17/6, low-conditioned ewes to 7/. Fat lambs: 20,000 penned, including a good proportion of prime sorts. The demand throughout was fairly brisk for all good to prime sorts. The afternoon sales showed some slight fluctuations; but the bulk of the yarding was quitted at prices quite on a par with the best rates of last week's market. Quotations: Shorn lambs, prime 13/6 to 16/0, extra 18/6, odd lots to 22/9, good 10/6 to 12/6, seconds 8/ to 9/6, others from 3/3; woolly lambs, good to prime 10/ to 16/6, extra to 22/, small and inferior from 1/6.

LONDON MARKET CABLES.

METALS.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

Closing quotations to-day were:

Tin.—Spot, £178 to £178/10/ per ton (£4 up); at three months, £155 to £155/10/ per ton (£2 up).

Lead.—Soft foreign, £18/18/9 to £19 per ton (1/10½ up).

SILVER.

Bar silver was quoted to-day at 22⅝d per ounce standard, an advance of 1-16d.

WHEAT.

The wheat market is steady.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Messrs. John Sanderson and Co. have received the following cablegram from their London house, Messrs. Sanderson, Murray, and Co., dated 15th inst.:—"For the second series of sales, which will commence on the 23rd February, the wool merchants' committee have decided to close the list as upon the 2nd February. The wools to be admitted to these sales are thus limited to arrivals up to that date. The third series of sales will commence on 16th March, the date originally arranged. The list closes on 2nd March at the latest. If, however, fresh arrivals reach 50,000 bales before that date, the list will be closed then, making, with the wool already arrived for these sales, at total limit of 120,000 bales new arrivals."

PRODUCE.

DAIRY.

Yesterday the dairy produce market was featureless. All lines met with a brisk demand, and prices were unchanged.

New-laid eggs were heavily supplied, but agents experienced no difficulty in securing from 1/5 to 1/6 for the best samples. There was a strong inquiry for case eggs, both rivers and railways, and stocks were practically cleared at from 1/3 to 1/4, according to quality. Duck eggs commanded the same money as hen eggs.

The market was over-supplied with greasy and inferior quality cheese, which agents were glad to clear at comparatively cheap prices. Prime quality loaf sizes, however, sold freely at full rates. A few special brands brought to /7½ per lb.

The high price of meat has had the effect of greatly increasing the consumption of bacon, and values of this commodity in Sussex-street are consequently well maintained. Sides are bringing from /10 to /10½, and middles from /11 to 1/ per lb. Flitches are much sought after at from /9½ to /10. Some agents were unable to fill all their orders.

Quotations were:—

DAIRY PRODUCE.

Suburban consignments.—Young roosters 3/ to 3/6, choice to 7/, small from 1/, fat hens 2/6 to 3/6, choice to 5/. Ducks: English 2/3 to 3/, choice to 4/; Muscovy 3/ to 4/, choice to 4/6. Drakes, Muscovy 4/ to 5/6, choice to 7/. Turkeys: Hens, medium to 8/; cock, good to 25/, no choice turkeys to hand; geese, 4/6 to 5/6, pigeons 1/3 to 1/11 per pair.

FORAGE AND GRAIN.

DEARER POTATOES.

There was a strong demand for potatoes, and prices were firmer. Redskins were quoted at £6, Brownells and Bismarcks at £5/5/, and Up-to-dates and Pinkeyes at £5 a ton.

A fresh shipment of 1500 bags of onions was to hand from Victoria. The best samples were unchanged at £9 a ton.

Quotations were:—

VEGETABLES.

Potatoes.—Tasmanian: Redskins, £6; Bismarcks and Brownells, £5/5/; Up-to-Dates, £5 a ton.

Onions.—Victorian: Brown Spanish, £9 a ton.

RAILWAY MARKET.

CHAFF FIRMER.

The firm market for forage lines which characterised the sales at the Sydney goods shed on Monday was again in evidence yesterday, when a maximum yarding of produce was offered at auction. Buyers who were present in large numbers were eager to purchase, and consequently auctioneers had little difficulty in clearing consignments at rates which showed an improvement of 5/ per ton on those of the previous day. The upward tendency was especially noticeable in oaten chaff.

Wheaten chaff had an excellent representation, and sold from 6/6 to 7/8; the latter being obtained for several consignments from Dowling, of Georges Plains; whilst oaten, which was more plentiful than has been the case during the past few weeks, realised from 6/8 to 8/. Lucerne hay was scarce, and was worth 6/ per cwt, ex truck. A parcel of wheaten straw was cleared at 3/10 per cwt. Tumut maize changed hands at 4/7, and oats brought from 4/4 to 4/9 per bushel.

Consignments placed in position for sale:—Hay, straw, chaff, 74; grain, 25; potatoes and onions, 3.

Produce manifested to arrive: Hay, straw, chaff, 245; grain, 52; potatoes and onions, 1.

Wheaten Chaff.—Bullock, Millthorpe (16851), 7/8; Dowling, Georges Plains (11099), 7/8; Dowling, Georges Plains (11284), 7/8; Dowling, Georges Plains (5860), 7/8; ex Spring Hill (10858), 7/4; ex Millthorpe (1799), 7/6; Bullock and Son, Spring Hill (5201), 7/3; Bath (17921), 7/3; Grill, Tumut (9749), 6/6; McDonald, Crookwell (13245), 6/8; ex Wellington (11261), 7/5; Quick, Wellington (17869), 7/6; Stockman and Kleinig, Wongarbon (427), 7/4; Lindon, The Rock (14382), 7/3; Dowling, Georges Plains (18865), 7/8; Richardson, Armatree (16919), 7/4; ex Henty (13929), 7/7; Cameron and Mitchell, Henty (15564), 7/7 per cwt.

Oaten Chaff.—Mills and Rea, Millthorpe (5678), 7/4; ex Newbridge (6800), 6/8; ex Spring Hill (6802), 7/1; Cummins, Orange (6238), part, 6/11; balance, wheaten, 7/1; Bullock, Blayney (2918), 7/9; Bullock, Blayney (11290), 7/9; balance, wheaten, 7/6; Douglas, Crookwell (16587), 7/3; McDonald, Crookwell (15919), 7/3; Cady, Crookwell (434), 7/10; ex Mulgrave (14025), straw chaff, 6/4; Bennett, The Rock (18125), 8/; Cady, Crookwell (6662), 7/2; Cady, Crookwell (6731), 7/4; ex Crookwell (574), 6/10; ex Forest Hill (16982), 7/9; Crook, Manildra (6428), 7/; Quinlan, Orange (19878), 7/3; Crook, Manildra (4578), 7/1 per cwt.

Lucerne Hay.—Rayner, Menna (11525), 6/; ex truck, per cwt.

Wheaten Straw.—Hill, Blayney (18845), 3/10 per cwt.

Maize.—Grill, Tumut (9713), 4/7 per bushel.

Oats.—Bulloch, Blayney (17479), 4/9; Richardson, Armatree (16919), 4/9; ex Narromine (12230), 50 bags 4/4; (4867), 4/7½ per bushel.

FRUIT MARKET.

The Tasmanian shipment met with a good demand at the previous week's levels.

Quotations were:—

Passionfruit.—Local: Choice 4/6, medium 2/6 to 3/, small 1/6 a half-bushel case.

Pineapples.—Queens, 4/6 to 7/; Commons and Ripleys, 3/6 to 6/.

MELBOURNE, Tuesday.

In Queen Victoria Markets to-day apples sold at 2/ to 10/ a case, almonds /8 to /10 lb, figs 5/ to 7/ half-case, grapes 4/ to 9/ case, lemons 8/6 to 14/ do., melons, water 4/ to 7/ dozen, rock 3/ to 6/ do., nectarines 3/ to 4/ half-case, peaches 4/ to 10/ case, pears, culinary 2/6 to 6/ do., plums 6/ to 7/ do., strawberries /4 to /6 box, walnuts /10 to 1/ lb.

VEGETABLE MARKET.

At the Municipal Market yesterday business was fair, a steady demand ruling for most vegetables. Large supplies of Tasmanian peas arrived on Monday in sweaty condition, and consequently were practically unsalable. Water melons were heavily supplied, but values changed very little on the previous day's rates.

Quotations were:—

MINING.

A STAGNANT MARKET.

ALL SECTIONS AFFECTED.

Such was the stagnant state of the Sydney Stock Exchange throughout yesterday that the task of writing interestingly on the subject is about as difficult as the process of making bricks without straw.

The swing back of the pendulum to a state of listlessness is, however, of no significance. It is simply a small local demonstration that speculation had been going too fast in the last preceding few days. It in no way implies that the market is inherently weak. Those who bought on the bull markets of last week will be pleased to learn that their actions are fully justified by the closing rates of the London Metal Market on Monday evening.

Those rates show that the "spot" price of tin made the fine recovery of £4, being quoted at £178/5/, whilst the three months' price hardened £2. The latter recovery will be particularly good news to Australian tin producers, as it will make a marked difference in the selling price of tin oxide. The price of lead is quoted 1/10½ higher at £18/19/4½. It is certainly not much of a change, but it is on the right side. Our London correspondent is silent as to any change in the price of copper or spelter. However, in this particular instance no news is good news, as it means that those metals are maintaining a good range of values.

In the limited business booked in the copper division Hampden-Cloncurry sagged a little, but the weak movement was arrested, and they finished up fairly steady at the close of the day. There were a few inquiries for Corella Copper, whilst Mount Lyells and Mount Morgans were firmly held. Barriers were unusually inactive, with B.H. Norths selling on the easy side, whilst a time transaction in B.H. Proprietary showed a slight sag. B.H. South and B.H. Junction North were firmly held, the same being the case with New Burragorang.

There was a marked falling off in the volume of business done in tin stocks, but the sales booked in Trong and Katoo Deebook were on solid lines, but the Tongkah group, likewise Malaya Tin Corporation and Austral Malay, were not so much in evidence.

MINING NOTES.

During the fortnight ended February 13, the New Burragorang silver mine despatched 30 tons of ore to the Cockle Creek smelters. In development work, Nos. 5 and 6 eastern levels were extended a total of 57 feet, and No. 7 level east 24 feet, the latter making a total of 155 feet.

The manager of the Tyrconnell Gold Mine wires that for the fortnight ended yesterday, 182 tons were crushed for 138 ounces. This result is exclusive of concentrates and tailings.

The manager of the Hawkin's Hill Reward Gold Mine reports having crushed for the fortnight ended 13th February, 130 tons for 105oz gold.

"A shareholder" writes:—"Can you or any of your readers tell me anything of the Iodide Silver or Lead Mining Company? Is it still in existence, and, if so, what is being done with the property? The proposition was floated with a flourish of trumpets, and was going to knock Broken Hill silly. Now we have no news of the mine. What has happened to it? Did it smell so bad that it had to be buried, or has a German submarine hit it in a vital spot, and knocked all the rich and rare ore out of the mine?"

The fact is the prospects of the mine were seriously interfered with by the war, and a suspension of labour conditions was consequently granted by the Warden. The directors state that if personal application is made to the company's secretary, Mr. R. D. Hartwell, by a shareholder, he will receive the fullest information as to the present position and prospects of the mine.

At a recent meeting of the Bangadang Gold Mining Company, it was mentioned that some hitch, which was expected to be overcome, had occurred in connection with the transfer of the South Bangadang gold mines lease.

It is now announced by Mr. A. E. Langford that negotiations in this connection have been completed, and the property will be included in the Bandadang Company's holding. The first £5000 of the working capital is now available. The remaining £15,000 will be raised by calls not to exceed £5 a share, at intervals, when required. Active operations at the mine are now in progress.

WEST AUSTRALIAN MINES.

KALGOORLIE, Tuesday.

The Mararoa battery during January crushed 2700 short tons for bullion, valued £3288/19/6. The cyanide plant treated 1885 short tons for bullion, valued at £970; the slimes plant handled 805 short tons for bullion, valued at £542, and treated 10 short tons of concentrate for bullion, worth £54. The total value of the bullion for the month was £4845/19/3, and the expenditure was £2999.

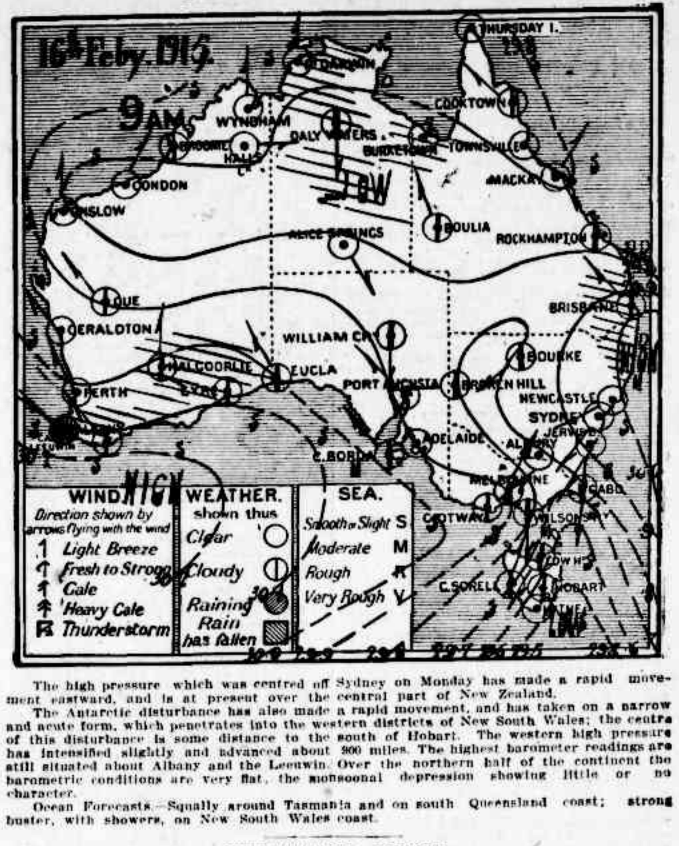
AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



The high pressure which was centred off Sydney on Monday has made a rapid movement eastward, and is at present over the central part of New Zealand.

The Antarctic disturbance has also made a rapid movement, and has taken on a narrow and acute form, which penetrates into the western districts of New South Wales; the centre of this disturbance is some distance to the south of Hobart. The western high pressure has intensified slightly and advanced about 500 miles. The highest barometer readings are still situated about Albany and the Leeuwin. Over the northern half of the continent the barometric conditions are very flat, the monsoonal depression showing little or no character.

Ocean Forecasts.—Squally around Tasmania and on south Queensland coast; strong buster, with showers, on New South Wales coast.

PROUD OF THEIR GOAT-SKIN COATS.

The British troops in France and Belgium were provided with goat-skin coats as a protection against the biting cold of winter. A private, writing to friends in England, says:—"We Tommies have always been proud of our uniforms, but we are all agreed that these goat-skin coats are the finest things that have ever been issued to us for winter wear." The photograph was taken in the north of France.

FATHER CHRISTMAS VISITS THE WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

At the various British hospitals special efforts were made at Christmas to give the sick and wounded soldiers as enjoyable a time as possible under the circumstances. An appeal for Christmas gifts brought a magnificent response from all over Great Britain, as well as from far-distant parts of the Empire; the wards were decorated for the occasion; and in many instances (as in this photograph) Santa Claus himself visited the disabled heroes, and spoke words of appreciation and encouragement, leaving behind him presents which had been contributed by a grateful public. In the picture Father Christmas is seen getting a light from the cigarette of a patient, while the nurse is inspecting a box of bon-bons, and carries under her arm another welcome gift.

RARE OPPORTUNITY FOR POULTRYISTS!

It is rare, because you seldom can secure such first-class Poultry or Fruit and Poultry Farms so centrally situated as this. But that's only by the way when you consider what such blocks of good land will be worth in a few years. Because of the rapidity of growth in population, and as the coming clearing centre when Bankstown (the next station) becomes the great railway headquarters, the present value will be a mere fraction to what it then will be. Meanwhile you can go ahead making big money out of poultry and fruit on the magnificent

MAYVILLE ESTATE, PUNCHBOWL.

The property is but twelve minutes' walk of Punchbowl Station, charmingly situated—the whole comprised of well-grassed, gently sloping land of splendid soil. The surroundings, too, are particularly attractive, with a nice class of neighbourly people around. Punchbowl is only 35 minutes of the city, so that produce can be quickly carried to markets, and prompt returns secured. With these and other immense and foregoing advantages the price asked for these blocks (which range from an acre upwards) is absurdly low—only £70 an acre.

EASY TERMS. TORRENS TITLE.

Only £1 down and 10/ a month (or 2/6 a week), which includes principal and interest at 5 per cent. per annum for each £25 purchased. CALL OR WRITE FOR PLANS.

THE TYRES FOR THE LONG TOUR—
PALMER CORD TYRES.
PALMER CORD TYRES.
When it's a case of "over the hills and far away" you'll be needing Palmer Cord Tyres. If their makers had studied Australian roads especially they could not have made a more suitable tyre. The Palmer is ideal for the rough roads, the stony ridges, the creek crossings, and the loose metal.
There's no canvas used in them—that's the reason.

MACHINERY.

PIONEER LEATHER BELTING
gets more runs from your Pulleys, wastes less time in starting Machines, doesn't throw expensive Machine Tools out of alignment, and, as to length of service—read what one of your fellow Power Plant Owners has proved.

THE NORTHERN ROLLER MILLING CO.,
Auckland, N.Z., Dec. 4, 1914.
Referring to the 120 feet of 30-inch 3-ply "Pioneer" Leather Belting we had from you in August, 1903. We have pleasure in stating that it has been running continuously night and day since (equal to about 32 ordinary working years), and is still doing good work.
(Signed) P. VIRTUE, Manager.

"Pioneer" alone will get all these results for YOU, and it only cost as much as the supposed "just as good." Shall we send a trial length to-day?

J. C. LUDOWICI AND SON, LTD.,
"Pioneer Leather Works,"
117 YORK-STREET, SYDNEY
(Opp. Q. V. Markets).
N.B.—PLEASE NOTE PARTICULARLY OUR ADDRESS.

BELTING USERS will appreciate the economy which such a result as the following proves by using the Genuine Balata, manufactured by Messrs. Dick, of Glasgow. Not only is economy in belting to be considered, but the absence of loss usually occasioned by stoppages to machinery, etc.
"The Dick's Balata Belt I showed your representative when last here has been running in these works as a main driving belt for the last 16 years. During the greater part of that time it has been running night and day on three shifts.
"Originally it was a 7in x 4-ply. I have just taken off one ply and put in driving a box mill. The belt being so well preserved, it was butt joined in the usual way."
Yours Faithfully,
(Signed) E. N. TAYLOR,
Chief Engineer,

TAKINGS guaranteed £85 weekly, practically all bar trade. Net profit proved at £1100 per annum. Little or no opposition. A great class of trade. No worry or trouble to run. Many, many years in same hands. Splendidly furnished and equipped. Situated in very centre of a densely populated farming and dairying community. Strong continuance electorate. Knowing this house, and knowing the vendor, whom we sold it to years ago, we can conscientiously and unhesitatingly recommend it to any buyer. The profits are big, expenses low; and, what is more important, price £2000 cash.

HOTEL, COUNTRY, 10 years' lease of a fine commercial and pastoral house in a wealthy town backed by a wealthy district. Rent £5 weekly. Takings proved at £90 weekly, and all drinks are 6d. VENDOR, who owns freehold of another hotel, the lease of which is just expiring, and he has to take possession in order to rebuild, is very anxious to sell, and will himself finance a good man in with £1500 cash. This is a recommendation in itself, is it not?

HOTEL, COUNTRY, lease 10 years. Rent £3 per week. A neat, compact, brick house, doing an average weekly trade of £50, all in the bar, and all 6d drinks. Total wages £2/10/ per week. Vendor has been in occupation for 6 years, and is now in a position to buy a big house. Call in and get particulars of this bright, genuine little house. It won't remain long. First to inspect will buy at £1000 cash.

HOTEL, COUNTRY, lease 7 years. Rent £2. Takes £25 weekly, all 6d. £750, terms.

PORT KEMBLA.
FIVE ISLANDS ESTATE
(near Wollongong),
into appropriate allotments of suitable frontages and depth. Apart from the delight of residence here, there cannot fail to be a prospective increment in values of land. It is impossible to forecast the development to occur at PORT KEMBLA, now in its infancy only. It may outstrip Wollongong in importance. Now is the time to buy land in the present subdivision, and secure the unearned increment later on. COACHES now run daily; a branch line of Railway is being agitated for, and is not improbable as development takes place.

"HEALTHY HURSTVILLE HOMESITES!"

Hurstville will take a lot of beating for the Home-maker. It is one of the most attractive, clean, bright, fresh-air suburbs of Sydney, and has well earned and maintained its reputation as Healthy Hurstville. The Ideal Suburban Home Location is in such a place, where the refreshing green of the countryside adds so much charm to the exhilarating sea breezes which come from Botany Bay, Como, and George's River, and the magnificent panoramic views which are a feature of this happy combination of landscape and sea. Our Homesite Estates, at Hurstville, 15 miles, and twenty minutes' run from the city, have every advantage desired—views, surroundings, soil especially good for gardens, lawns, vegetables, fruit, and poultry. Below we give you a few particulars of these properties, and as Hurstville is bounding ahead rapidly, the possibilities for profitable investment are quite unique.

EASY TERMS—TORRENS TITLE.

All that is needed is £1 down and 10/ Monthly (or 2/6 a week), which includes principal and interest at 5 per cent. per annum for each £25 purchased, to make you a partner in the future prosperity of Hurstville. Why not get plans right away?

HOUSES AND LAND FOR SALE.

HABERFIELD BUNGALOWS ARE A NEW DEVELOPMENT IN MODERN HOME BUILDING.

The Bungalow idea is now widespread, and in no suburb will you see better examples than in the now famous

PLACE OF BEAUTIFUL HOMES,

HABERFIELD.

The planning of these cottages is carried out with great thought and foresight, and the building construction is of a character seldom attempted in buildings of this class.

HABERFIELD PRICES

range from £890, £910, £950, to £1400, and at these prices you will obtain most perfect cottage property.

The result of 12 years' experience, and the concentration of the best efforts of the whole of our staff in producing a home most substantially built, affor the Homeseeker the variety and advantages so characteristic of Haberfield Homes.

Furthermore, the present prices of land and cottages at Haberfield will unquestionably advance as time goes on. Vast improvements that have taken and are taking place in the Suburb are the surest evidence of the undoubted property of the district; so that if you do not buy now you will have to pay very much more in a little while.

OUR TERMS ARE SO EASY,

FIFTY POUNDS

is all that you require as deposit, and the balance of purchase money is repaid in weekly instalments, say, 27/6 to 30/, including interest, which are really only equivalent to a rental value of the property. The Title is Torrens.

is a select neighbourhood with unique surroundings. It is situated within half an hour of the G.P.O., by excellent tram and train service. Every shopping facility is offered, every up-to-date convenience is installed—gas, water, sewerage, and electric light. Haberfield Office is open all week-days, and our motor is always at the service of those wishing to inspect the variety of homes we have available. Full particulars and illustrated pamphlet from any of our Offices.

MOTOR DRIVING AS A PROFESSION is above many other occupations. Over 100 cars are sold in Sydney weekly. This means Drivers have to come from somewhere. Let us teach you to be a competent and Licensed Driver. We guarantee you the Police Certificate and Proficiency or refund your money if we fail. This Firm has taught 600 Students this last 12 months. Over 40 licenses are granted to our students each month; there are no failures. Police, Firemen, etc., are trained here. We help our students into positions when competent. Hundreds of young men, and old, are to be seen driving the best cars and lorries in Sydney that have been trained by us. There is no time limit in this School. Students may extend their training as long as they wish. Day and Night Classes. Course, £1 10s, for cars and services. THE SURRY MOTOR SCHOOL, 81 Campbell-street, near Elizabeth-street.

MOTOR DRIVING, if taught thoroughly, together with Mechanical Instruction, will fit you for this profession, so that you can obtain work almost anywhere. 3300 Cars have been sold in Sydney in the past ten months. Think of it—drivers have to come from somewhere. We guarantee you the Police Certificate and Proficiency in 10 to 20 days, or refund your money if we fail. 607 Students have been taught by this firm since January of last year. You do not judge people by what they say these days, but by what they do. We get more Licenses for our Students than all similar businesses in Sydney. Over 50 Licenses issued every month. There are no failures; neither is there any time limit. These statements you can verify from the Traffic Office, where Students pass their test, if you doubt the above. Police, Firemen, Military, etc., are trained in this School. Hundreds of our pupils are driving cars and lorries in Sydney. Many have gone to the war as Drivers of the Transport Lorries; many more are wanted. We help our Students into positions. Course, £1/10/; Day and Night Classes.

WHAT FAILURE MEANS.
If I undertake to treat you for the Removal of SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS, and the operation is not successful—which means that hairs removed by me have grown again, or others in their places—I forfeit to you personally the sum of £100 STERLING.
So you take absolutely no risk if you come to me of ever being troubled again with these humiliating disfigurements. To satisfy you further of my method, permit me to give you
A FREE TRIAL TREATMENT.
No charge is made for this, nor will this commit you to subsequently come to me for treatment. I have practised this profession at my present address for 14 years without a single failure or complaint. Absolute privacy is maintained by individual waiting rooms.
Moles and Hairy Moles can be removed in single operation. If unable to call, send for my booklet posted free to any address.
FACE MASSAGE is done so as to restore the healthy and clear complexion. Try one treatment; it will convince.

IN GOES A TIN OF
"REX" HAM PATE.

"Who'll cut the Sandwiches?" asks someone, the morning of the picnic.

"We'll all cut our own," replies one who knows as she holds up the tin of

REX
HAM PATE.

And a good plan, too. "Nature intended that everybody should earn their food before they eat it," and the sandwiches are so much better when spread on the spot.

Certainly no sandwiches will be eaten with such zest as those spread with Rex Ham Pate, unless it be those spread with Rex Luncheon Cheese.

"Rex" Ham Pate is prepared from the best Ham, seasoned in the reliable Rex way. It is practically premasticated and very easy to digest.

Equally good for Afternoon Teas, Suppers, Packed Lunches, etc. So order a tin to-day and get wise to a good sandwich treat. Ask for Rex and take no substitute.

BEAUTIFUL TOILET SETS

REDUCED 10 PER CENT.

AT NOCK AND KIRBY'S.

All the ladies who have seen them have been positively charmed with the beauty and low prices of these TOILET SETS.

And well they might be.
The method of display is a happy inspiration—utilising mechanical ingenuity and scientific treatment of light and shade to enhance the charm of colouring, the scheme of decoration, and the artistic attainment of the modeller.

A show worth seeing, a saving made more memorable to many women because Nock and Kirby had faith enough in OUR NAVY to

SNOW'S STOCKTAKING "THROW OUTS."

Before the days of phosphorus Matches, in order to make a Fire, it was necessary to strike and strike with bits of steel or flint until one made a spark fly into the tinder.

Just now it is very necessary that we should blaze away for the entrance of the New Autumn Goods. Consequently, we have struck off much of the former prices, and have succeeded in kindling the enthusiasm of shoppers in

THE THROW OUTS AT SNOW'S.

BURMESE UMBRELLAS

FORM PICTURESQUE SUNSHADES FOR HARBOUR, BEACH, OR GARDEN.

These Umbrellas are invaluable in place of an ordinary Sunshade. They are light yet very durable, being made in the same style and shape as Japanese Umbrellas, but are much stronger, and rainproof as well as sunproof. Their picturesqueness lends a charm to those who carry them. They have cane handles and split cane ribs, strong oiled canvas covers and fancy wool work decorations in the frame. Colours: Reseda, Green, Dark Green, Lime Green, Tango, Emerald, Red, Heliotrope, and Moss Green.

NOTE THE SPECIAL VALUES.
Diameter (opened), 31 inches. PRICE, 6/11 each.
